David Van Bush

Soup In Love:

Soup in Love Robert Newton Peck, 1992 This novel of a doctor's life shows Robertson Davies at his elegant and entertaining best. Never neglect the charms of narrative for the human heart, said Mr Ramsay. And we are back at Colborne College listening to the history teacher Dunstan Ramsay, the narrator of Fifth Business. In his audience are three close friends: boys whose lives will closely intertwine: Brocky Gilmartin, who will become a distinguished Professor of English at Waverly University; Charlie Iredale, destined to become an Anglican priest; and our narrator, Jonathon Hullah, soon to be a medical man. I am an observer, says Dr Hullah, like his predecessor in Fifth Business: she has gone through a rich life, always slightly on the outside, watching, noticing. His power of observation is the quality that makes him an extraordinary doctor. Known as The Cunning Man, he enjoys fame as a diagnostician that attracts even the Governor General, who comes to him with a very personal problem. His skill also makes him a perceptive storyteller and a shrewd chronicler of what he calls flat-footed, hard-breathing, high-aspiring Toronto. Jonathon Hullah has watched the growth of the city over a lifetime: first as a boy from Northern Ontario at Colborne College, then as an undergraduate, then as a medical student at the University, who falls in love both with the stage and with the lovely Nuala. Conor, away on war service in Europe, loses Nuala to his best friend but returns to the city with a greater desire to settle down and become a doctor with a practice rooted in somewhat unconventional medical beliefs. When he does, he finds himself thrown into contact with the Ladies, the two English artists who establish an artistic salon which everyone attends. He also finds himself thrown into the high drama of the feuds at St Aidan's Anglican Church, which involve his school friend Charlie Iredale and which culminate in a very suspicious death at the altar. In the course of Dr Hullah's extended memoir, we encounter at least one miraculous cure and one well-publicised miracle: a Bad Breath Contest of Olympian standards; tales of cannibals and of Tsarist bordellos; an extended visit to Salterton; life in the Canadian army in the Second World War; horror in the London Blitz; a row in the dining room of the York Club; the murder of Dr Hullah's godson, Conor Gilmartin; medical solutions to several literary mysteries; and much insight into theatre, art, and music, including Miss Annie McGruder's very own composition, Let me call you Jesus, not to mention the secrets of a doctor's consulting room. This novel allows Robertson Davies to display his wit: school, he tells us, is a form of jail with educational opportunities and his wisdom. In a novel which of course never neglects the charm of narrative for the human heart.

Parkin, 2011-06-03 Modern advertising has changed dramatically since the early twentieth century but when it comes to food Katherine Parkin writes the message has remained consistent Advertisers have historically promoted food in distinctly gendered terms returning repeatedly to themes that associated shopping and cooking with women Foremost among them was that regardless of the actual work involved women should serve food to demonstrate love for their families In identifying shopping and cooking as an expression of love ads helped to both establish and reinforce the belief that kitchen work was women's work even as women's participation in the labor force dramatically increased Alternately flattering her skills as a homemaker and preying on her insecurities advertisers suggested that using their products would give a woman irresistible sexual allure a happy marriage and healthy children Ads also promised that by buying and making the right foods a woman could help her family achieve social status maintain its racial or ethnic identity and assimilate into the American mainstream Advertisers clung tenaciously to this paradigm throughout great upheavals in the patterns of American work diet and gender roles To discover why Food Is Love draws on thousands of ads that appeared in the most popular magazines of the twentieth and early twenty first centuries including the Ladies Home Journal Good Housekeeping Ebony and the Saturday Evening Post The
