Lessons from Backyard Teachers Thomas D. Logie,2014-03-20 God well knew that for many generations a majority of people would neither read nor write So He used nature to speak to people who were not literate In America we imagine that everyone reads and writes although in truth a shocking number of people are functionally illiterate So Christians must resurrect ancient methods of teaching truth such as the examples of daily life used in the parables of the Lord Jesus and the visual images of Ezekiel and John King David Bach and Handel were geniuses at communicating spiritual truth through music although most modern people are too impatient to listen to a complete work of Bach or Handel in one sitting This work is an effort to put cameras to the service of God in a modern echo of the methods of the Holy Spirit in speaking to ancient people who lacked written language Many people who do read and write also learn from visual presentation of truth We would pray that God and His Son the Lord Jesus would be glorified Infallibility and Interpretation R. J. Rushdoony,P. Andrew Sandlin,2000 The authors argue for infallibility from a distinctly presuppositional perspective That is their arguments are unapologetically circular because they believe all ultimate claims are based on one s beginning assumptions The question of Biblical infallibility rests ultimately in one s belief about the character of God They believe man is a creature of faith not following the enlightenment s humanism of reason They affirm Biblical infallibility because the God Whom the Bible reveals could speak in no other way than infallibly and because the Bible in which God is revealed asserts that God alone speaks infallibly Men deny infallibility to God not for intellectual reasons but for ethical reasons they are sinners in rebellion against God and His authority in favor of their own The authors wrote convinced that only by a recovery of faith in an infallible Bible and obedience to its every command can Christians hope to turn back evil both in today s church and culture Normal Instructor and Teachers World ,1928 Catalog of Copyright Entries Library of Congress.
