Crime, Violence and the Irish in the Nineteenth Century Kyle Hughes, Donald MacRaild, 2017-10-31 The study of crime and violence in all its multifarious forms remains one of the most productive areas of enquiry for Irish historians Considered an inordinately violent and unruly society by many contemporaries nineteenth century Ireland was notorious for sectarian unrest agrarian disorder alcohol fuelled casual fighting the seditious activities of various illegal underground organisations as well as a host of other outrages The image of an Ireland in an almost perpetual state of tumult during the nineteenth century however is a false one invariably pedalled by partisan observers with a particular political or religious agenda to satisfy Modern historical scholarship has corrected many lingering assumptions about the extent and character of Irish violence but much work remains to be done This important collection of essays based on original research delivered at one of the Society for the Study of Nineteenth Century Ireland's most successful annual conferences draws together some of Ireland's leading historians as well emerging talents to examine a broad range of topics under the banner of crime and violence Irish secret societies agrarian disorder security and the law sectarian violence and a host of similar topics benefit from innovative methodological perspectives and advanced historical scholarship List of contributors Kyle Hughes Donald M MacRaild Michael Huggins Terence M Dunne Jess Lumsden Fisher John McGrath Richard J Butler Colin W Reid Richard A Keogh Ciara Breathnach Laurence M Geary Ian d Alton Daragh Curran Gemma Clark Patrick Maume Teresa O'Donnell and Virginia Crossman

Crime, Law and Popular Culture in Europe, 1500-1900 Richard McMahon, 2013-06-17 This book explores the relationship between crime law and popular culture in Europe from the sixteenth century onwards How was crime understood and dealt with by ordinary people and to what degree did they resort to or reject the official law and criminal justice system as a means of dealing with different forms of criminal activity Overall the volume will serve to illuminate how experiences of and attitudes to crime and the law may have corresponded or differed in different locations and contexts as well as contributing to a wider understanding of popular culture and consciousness in early modern and modern Europe

A History of the Dublin Metropolitan Police and its Colonial Legacy Anastasia Dukova, 2016-10-10 This book illuminates the neglected history of the Dublin Metropolitan Police a history that has been long overshadowed by existing historiography which has traditionally been preoccupied with the more radical aspects of Irish history It explores the origins of the institution and highlights the Dublin Metropolitan Police's profound influence on the colonial forces as its legacy reached some of the furthest outposts of the British Empire In doing so Anastasia Dukova provides much needed nuance and complexity to our understanding of Ireland as a whole and Dublin in particular demonstrating that it was far more than a lawless place ravaged by political and sectarian violence Simultaneously the book tells the story of the bobby on the beat the policeman who made the organisation his work and day the conditions of service and how they affected or bettered his lot at home and abroad Homicide in Pre-famine and Famine Ireland Richard McMahon (Research fellow),2013 The book provides a quantitative and contextual analysis of homicide in pre Famine and Famine Ireland placing the Irish experience within a comparative framework and drawing wider inferences about the history of interpersonal violence in Europe and beyond Women, Crime and Punishment in Ireland Elaine Farrell,2020-10 Focusing on women s relationships life circumstances and agency Elaine Farrell reveals the voices emotions and decisions of incarcerated women and those affected by their imprisonment offering an intimate insight into their experiences of the criminal justice system across urban and rural post Famine Ireland

Violence in Europe Sophie Body-Gendrot,Pieter Spierenburg,2008-01-08 Sophie Body Gendrot How much related are present and past violence The answers are complex due to the limited knowledge scientists have gathered even after spending a life time studying this very enigmatic and most serious social phenomenon called violence All authors agree that the present level of interpersonal violence cannot be sufficiently understood without taking the earlier long term decrease into account Ted Robert Gurr 1981 1989 was one of these pioneers who und took a statistical overview of the development of homicides from the Middle Ages to the present looking at England in particular On his curve 20 ho cides per 100 000 inhabitants were recorded in the High and Late Middle Ages and one case in the twentieth century put an end to the curb Gurr interpreted this long term decrease in interpersonal violence as a manifestation of cultural change in Western society especially the growing sensitization to violence and the development of an increased internal and external control on aggressive behavior Gurr 1981 258 Currently both the present and the past have to be considered in any attempt to answer the following questions is the higher incidence of violence which still prevails a temporary exception or a new trend related to structural dynamics of modern societies In which regions of Europe is it more specifically pronounced More generally this volume claims that historical knowledge of changes in violent behavior and of violence forms an indispensable contribution to an understanding of the manifestations of violence in contemporary societies Irish Studies Marti D. Lee,Ed Madden,2009-10-02 Highlighting the work of both established and emerging scholars in Irish studies this collection brings together fifteen essays working at the intersection of two important and developing fields of Irish studies gender studies and cultural geography Developed from papers first presented at a regional meeting of the American Conference for Irish Studies in South Carolina in 2006 not only does this work suggest the importance of linking gender and geography but it also suggests in the range of literary and historical topics the rich interdisciplinary nature of Irish studies at present Central to all of the essays is an attention to intersections of gender and sexual identity formation with the politics of place and space Although considerations of geographic space have long been staples of Irish cultural studies especially in relation to political identities these pieces suggest the critical importance of linking spatial and geographic analysis more clearly to ongoing examinations of gender and sexuality From institutions such as the Magdalen laundries and the prison to the domestic garden and home across urban and rural landscapes from the Dublin GPO to a St Patty s festival in the southern United States this book examines the local and human contexts of identity formation and performance The 1865 Rathcore evictions CE. Rayfus,2014-06-08 The book centres on a mass family clearance of thirteen families from their homesteads in Rathcore a small rural village situated in south county Meath The circumstances surrounding those evictions bore all the hallmarks of extremely poor landlord tenant relations Central to an understanding of the period was a drastic fall in tillage farming practices throughout Ireland and the corresponding expansion of livestock grassland farming particularly so in the provinces of Munster and Leinster This shift in agricultural land use had serious implications for social structure all across post famine Ireland The 1865 Rathcore evictions aims to provide an insight into the whole complex nature of the landlord tenant relationship in Rathcore set to a backdrop and a period in time in which a trend facilitated by an expansion of land under grass was well under way in County Meath from the mid nineteenth century Van Diemen's Women Joan Kavanagh,Dianne Snowden,2015-10-05 On 2 September 1845 the convict ship Tasmania left Kingstown Harbour for Van Diemen s Land with 138 female convicts and their 35 children On 3 December the ship arrived into Hobart Town While this book looks at the lives of all the women aboard it focuses on two women in particular Eliza Davis who was transported from Wicklow Gaol for life for infanticide having had her sentence commuted from death and Margaret Butler sentenced to seven years transportation for stealing potatoes in Carlow Using original records this study reveals the reality of transportation together with the legacy left by these women in Tasmania and beyond and shows that perhaps for some this Draconian punishment was in fact a life saving measure Foul Deeds & Suspicious Deaths In Dublin Stephen Wade,2008-04-22 Tory gangs madmen war criminals frauds anarchists duelists kidnappers and more scandal makers throughout four centuries of

Irish history Dublin is a wonderful energetic cultural center the pride of Irish achievements in architecture arts and literature But it is also a city of paradoxes and conflicts and a long fascinating history of crime Stephen Wade now reveals Dublin s strange eventful history in this thrilling collection of murderers thieves daredevil highwaymen libelers seducers and bloody avengers from eighteenth century turncoats to Victorian era rogues to a twentieth century parliamentary candidate with a killer past Amid tales of sensational investigations and infamous courtroom trials readers will discover the truth behind the disappearance of the Crown Jewels in 1907 the bizarre motives of nineteenth century serial killer John Delahunt and the startling charges leveled against Oscar Wilde s father a revolutionary doctor embroiled in a felonious and sexual cause c l bre of his own

A Guide to Sources for the History of Material Culture in Ireland, 1500-2000 Toby Christopher Barnard,2005 Changes in housing furnishings clothing and even cooking utensils can all reveal much about the economy and societies of Ireland Between 1500 and 2000 markets fairs shops and exhibitions increased the availability and range of goods This guide surveys some of the work being done on the subject It also offers help in how to approach the topic in identifying the types of sources likely to be most useful wills inventories advertisements surviving artifacts and in locating them From publisher s description

Ireland Paul Bew,2007-08-16 The modern Irish question is defined by many as a case of a great and supposedly liberal nation supposedly mistreating a smaller one This text embodies a new approach to this issue analysing key issues from religious discrimination and famine to the passions of both nationalism and unionism

Policing Women Jo Turner,Helen Johnston,Marion Pluskota,2023-11-27 Policing Women examines for the first time the changing historical landscape of women s experiences of their contact with the official state police between 1800 and 1950 in the Western world Drawing on and going beyond existing knowledge about policing practices the volume discusses how women encountered the official police how they experienced that contact and the outcomes of that contact in the modern Western world In so doing it is an original and much needed addition to the literature around changes in policing women s experiences of the criminal justice system and women s experiences of control and regulation The chapters uncover such experiences in a range of countries across Europe the USA Canada and Australia Importantly the collection focuses upon a crucial epoch in the history of policing a 150 year period when policing was rapidly changing and being increasingly placed on a formal level Bringing together scholarly work from expert contributors this unique volume draws to the fore women s experiences of policing It will be of great use to both scholars and students on undergraduate and postgraduate criminology and history courses working on the history of crime historical criminology the history of criminal justice and women s history

The World of Constable John Hennigan, Royal Irish Constabulary 1912 - 1922 Hal Hennigan,2018-11-16 In 1912 the average Irish Constable was a generally useful member of society filling in numerous forms in the role of minor bureaucrat and pursuing petty criminals He had little to do with firearms By 1922 he had become an outcast to many and a friend to few Those who thought his treatment unjust were generally unwilling to take the risk of saying so This is the story of how an average country policeman was caught up in the swirl of political movements which led to murderous violence I look at the social and political contexts of historical events Caught between the hammer of IRA violence and the anvil of government obduracy the regular constables became sacrifices to political expediency Using the police career of John Hennigan as a framework this book follows public events in chronological order while bringing to mind the little details of everyday life

Tracing Your Legal Ancestors Stephen Wade, 2011-02-23 The law had as much influence on our ancestors as it does on us today and it occupies an extraordinary range of individuals from eminent judges and barristers to clerks and minor officials Yet despite burgeoning interest in all aspects of history and ancestry lawyers and legal history have rarely been looked at from the point of view of a family historian And this is main purpose of Stephen Wades accessible and authoritative introduction to the subject Assuming that the reader has little prior knowledge of how or where to look for such information he traces the evolution of the law and the legal professions He describes the parts played in the system by solicitors officers of the High Court registrars recorders town clerks clerks of the peace proctors coroners notaries parliamentary agents judges barristers and magistrates Also he identifies the various archives records and books that the family researcher can turn to and discusses other sources including the internet Stephen Wades concise account of legal history and research resources will be an invaluable guide for anyone who is studying the subject or seeking an ancestor who was associated with it

Business Archival Sources for the Local Historian Ciarán Ó hOgartaigh, Margaret Ó hÓgartaigh, 2010 This book provides a practical guide to the major collections of business archives for the whole of Ireland and to their appropriate use in historical research Irish historians engagement with the accounting and business fields is discussed and the work to date in business history in Ireland is surveyed The guide also features an introduction to the authors electronic database of select accounting and corporate governance archives held in the National Archives of Ireland and the Public Record Office Northern Ireland listed in an appendix
