South Africa Nation In Transition:

South Africa's Energy Transition Andrew Lawrence, 2019-08-30 This book provides a succinct overview of the evolution of policies addressing energy and climate justice in South Africa Drawing on a range of analytical perspectives including socio technical studies just transitions and critical political economy it explains why South Africa's energy transition from a coal dependent centralised power generation and distribution system has been so slow and reveals the types of socio political inequalities that persist across regimes and energy sources Topics explored include critical approaches to the South African state and its state owned energy provider Eskom the political ecologies of coal and water the politics of non renewable energy alternatives as well as the trajectory and fate of the Renewable Energy Independent Power Producers Procurement Programme REIPPPP the country's major renewable energy policy The book concludes with reflections on alternative neglected energy and development paths suggesting how the political economy of South Africa's energy system could be further transformed for the better

Local Government Reforms in Countries in Transition

Frederick A. Lazin, Matt Evans, Vincent Hoffmann-Martinot, 2008-05-01 Local Government Reforms in Countries in Transition explores the impacts that the end of the Cold War and increased globalization have had on government around the world The decentralization of national governments has led to a greater role for local governments public administration and democratic representation are the new arena of local governments the world over Focusing not only on countries from the former Soviet Union but also on Israel China South Africa and Egypt the contributors to this volume present a truly global investigation of countries experiencing governmental transformation

Violence, Inequality and Transformation: Apartheid Survivors on South Africa's Ongoing Transition Jasmina Brankovic, Brian Mphahlele, Sindiswa Nunu, Agnes

Ngxukuma, Nompumelelo Njana, Yanelisa Sishuba, 2020-01-29 Despite its lauded political transition in 1994 South Africa continues to have among the highest levels of violence and inequality in the world Organised survivors of apartheid violations have long maintained that we cannot adequately address violence in the country let alone achieve full democracy without addressing inequality This book is built around extensive quotes from members of Khulumani Support Group the apartheid survivors social movement and young people growing up in Khulumani families It shows how these survivors who bridge the past and the present through their activism understand and respond to socioeconomic drivers of violence Pointing to the continuities between apartheid oppression and post apartheid marginalisation in everyday life the narratives detail ways in which the democratic dispensation has strengthened barriers to social transformation and helped enable violence They also present strategies for effecting change through collaboration dialogue and mutual training and through partnerships with diverse stakeholders that build on local level knowledge and community based initiatives The lens of violence offers new and manageable ways to think about reducing inequality while the lens of inequality shows that violence is a complex web of causes pathways and effects that requires a big picture approach to unravel The survivors narratives suggest innovative strategies for promoting a just transition through people driven transformation that go well beyond the constraints of South Africa's transitional justice practice to date. A result of participatory research conducted in collaboration with and by Khulumani members, this book will be of interest to activists, students, researchers, and policy makers working on issues of transitional justice, inequality, and violence.

An Ordinary Country Neville Alexander, 2002. An Ordinary Country Issues in the Transition from Apartheid to Democracy in South Africa disputes the notion of a miracle transition in this country. It argues that the new South Africa had to happen in the way it did because of the specific history of the country and the players involved. While it identifies some of the turning points at which critical choices were made by local and international forces, it shows why, in retrospect, the known decisions were made rather than other possible ones. Alexander explores a range of issues in post-apartheid South Africa, including national identity and the rainbow nation, the Truth and Reconciliation Commission, and the role and status of language, showing the volatility, the tentativeness, and the fluidity of the situation that is evolving. In looking ahead at probable developments, An Ordinary Country predicts that South Africa will develop or stagnate as a normal bourgeois democratic social formation for the next generation, at least until the inevitable alternatives to the prevailing system of political economy regain their credibility.

Black Consciousness and South Africa's National Literature Tom Penfold, 2017-10-14. This book analyses Black Consciousness poetry and theatre from the 1970s through to the present. South Africa's literature, like its history, has been beset by disagreement and contradiction and has been consistently difficult to pin down as one united entity. Much existing criticism on South Africa's national literature has attempted to overcome these divisions by discussing material written from a variety of different subject positions together. This book argues that Black Consciousness desired a new South Africa where African and European cultures were valued equally, and writers could represent both as they wished. Thus, a body of literature was created that addressed a range of audiences and imagined the South African nation in different ways. This book explores Black Consciousness in order to demonstrate how South African writers have responded in various ways to the changing history and politics of their country.

Governing through Crime in South Africa Gail Super, 2016-04-22. This book deals with the historic transition to democracy in South Africa and its impact upon crime and punishment. It examines how the problem of crime has emerged as a major issue to be governed in post-apartheid South Africa. Having undergone a dramatic transition from authoritarianism to democracy, from a white minority to black majority government, South Africa provides rich material on the role that political authority and challenges to it play in the construction of crime and criminality. As such, the study is about the socio-cultural and political significance of crime and punishment in the context of a change of regime. The work uses the South African case study to examine a question of wider interest, namely the politics of punishment and race in neoliberalizing regimes. It provides interesting and illuminating empirical material to the broader debate on crime control in post-welfare neoliberalizing post-transition polities.

The United Nations Transitional Administration in East Timor (UNTAET) Chang Li Lin,Nassrine Azimi,2021-10-25 The United Nations Transitional Administration in East Timor UNTAET which had effectively ruled that territory for two and a half years handed over the country s administration to the government of the newly independent Democratic Republic of East Timor on May 20 2002 Praised as one of the most comprehensive and successful nation building operations of the United Nations UNTAET had the challenging task of facilitating the creation of a new country from virtually non existent institutional foundations following a traumatic period of violence and civil war A group of eminent scholars and practitioners many deeply and personally involved with UNTAET came together in a closed door gathering in Tokyo in September 2002 to review the achievements and shortcomings of UNTAET and to understand the lessons of hope that it may carry for other nations emerging from war and destruction The conference reflected on the intense debates held at the United Nations Security Council in New York and at key capitals around the world leading to the creation of UNTAET It also dealt with the manner in which the mission unfolded operated and the level of reconstruction achieved when East Timor was handed over to its people This volume forms a lively and indispensable reading to experts or laypersons interested in current affairs in general and in post war nation building in particular

Reality Check The World Bank,2023-10-24 To address the myriad challenges posed by global climate change countries at all income levels have put in place a diverse set of policies over the past three decades Many governments have already made significant progress in their efforts to decarbonize creating a rich history of implementation experiences that provides important lessons for how to successfully advance climate policy goals in a variety of different economic cultural and political contexts Despite this progress the transition to a net zero future continues to face significant barriers including the need for large investment a lack of institutional capacity and challenging political economy issues Reality Check Lessons from 25 Policies Advancing a Low Carbon Future identifies key policy approaches that countries are taking to decarbonize their economies The report classifies policies into five categories Planning for a future with zero net emissions Getting the pricing and taxes right Facilitating and triggering transitions in key systems such as energy and food Getting the finance flowing particularly by incentivizing private sector investment Ensuring a just transition that protects the poor Reality Check Lessons from 25 Policies Advancing a Low Carbon Future fills a critical research gap by documenting low carbon policy trends and providing a series of case studies across sectors and geographies The 25 case studies furnish country contexts and policy details examine results and impacts and outline key takeaways and lessons learned for enabling further ambition in achieving emissions reductions The report contributes to an evolving analytical agenda on how to reduce carbon emissions while achieving economic development and the strategic transition to a greener more resilient and more inclusive future

AF Press Clips United States Department of State. Bureau of African Affairs,1978 AF Press Clips ,1989-07 Framing the State in Times of Transition Laurel E. Miller,Louis Aucoin,2010 Analyzing nineteen cases this title offers practical perspective on the implications of constitution making procedure and explores emerging international legal norms You, The People: The United Nations, Transitional Administration, and State-Building Simon Chesterman,2005-07-07 The governance of post conflict territories embodies a central contradiction how does one help a population prepare for democratic governance and the rule of law by imposing a form of benevolent autocracy Transitional administrations represent the most complex operations attempted by the United Nations The operations in East Timor and Kosovo are commonly seen as unique in the history of the UN perhaps never to be repeated But they may also be seen as the latest in a series of operations that have involved the United Nations in state building activities where it has attempted to develop the institutions of government by assuming some or all of those sovereign powers on a temporary basis The circumstances that have demanded such interventions certainly will be repeated Seen in the context of earlier UN operations such as those in Namibia Cambodia and Eastern Slavonia the view that these exceptional circumstances may not recur is somewhat disingenuous Moreover the need for such policy research has been brought into sharp focus by the weighty but ambiguous role assigned to the UN in Afghanistan and the possibility of a comparable role in Iraq This book fills that gap Aimed at policy makers diplomats and a wide academic audience including international relations political science international law and war studies the book provides a concise history of UN state building operations and a treatment of the five key issues confronting such an operation on the ground peace and security the role of the UN as government judicial reconstruction economic reconstruction and exit strategies

Advocating Transitional Justice in Africa Jasmina Brankovic,Hugo van der Merwe,2018-01-30 This edited volume examines the role of local civil society in shaping understandings and processes of transitional justice in Africa a nursery of transitional justice ideas for well over two decades It brings together practitioners and scholars with intimate knowledge of these processes to evaluate the agendas and strategies of local civil society and offers an opportunity to reflect on lessons learnt along the way The contributors focus on the evolution and effectiveness of transitional justice interventions providing a glimpse into the motivations and inner workings of major civil society actors The book presents an African perspective on transitional justice through a compilation of country specific and thematic analyses of agenda setting and lobbying efforts It offers insights into state civil society relations on the continent which shape these agendas The chapters present case studies from Southern Central East West and North Africa and a range of moments and types of transition In addition to historical perspective the chapters provide fresh and up to date analyses of ongoing transitional justice efforts that are key to defining the future of how the field is understood globally in theory and in practice Endorsements This great volume of written work Advocating Transitional Justice in Africa The Role of Civil Society does what virtually no other labor of the intellect has done heretofore Authored by movement activists and thinkers in the fields of human rights and transitional justice the volume wrestles with the complex place and roles of transitional justice in the project of societal reconstruction in Africa This volume will serve as a timely and thought provoking guide for activists thinkers and policy makers as well as students of transitional justice interested in the tension between the universal and the particular in the arduous struggle for liberation Often civil society actors in Africa have been accused of consuming the ideas of others but not producing enough if any of their own This volume makes clear the spuriousness of this claim and firmly plants an African flag in the field of ideas Makau Mutua

The United Nations Transitional Administration in East Timor (Untaet) Nassrine De Rham-Azimi, Li Lin Chang, Institute of Policy Studies (Singapore), 2003-01-01 The United Nations Transitional Administration in East Timor UNTAET which had effectively ruled that territory for two and a half years handed over the country's administration to the government of the newly independent Democratic Republic of East Timor on May 20 2002 Praised as one of the most comprehensive and successful nation building operations of the United Nations UNTAET had the challenging task of facilitating the creation of a new country from virtually non-existent institutional foundations following a traumatic period of violence and civil war A group of eminent scholars and practitioners many deeply and personally involved with UNTAET came together in a closed door gathering in Tokyo in September 2002 to review the achievements and shortcomings of UNTAET and to understand the lessons of hope that it may carry for other nations emerging from war and destruction The conference reflected on the intense debates held at the United Nations Security Council in New York and at key capitals around the world leading to the creation of UNTAET It also dealt with the manner in which the mission unfolded operated and the level of reconstruction achieved when East Timor was handed over to its people This volume forms a lively and indispensable reading to experts or laypersons interested in current affairs in general and in post war nation building in particular Security Sector Reform in Constitutional Transitions Zoltan Barany, Sumit Bisarya, Sujit

Choudhry, Richard Stacey, 2019 The proposed collection will examine the central role of security sector reform in constitutional transitions focusing on emerging democracies Neglected as a topic in the constitutional law literature the volume will be the first to offer a sustained analysis of the legal aspects of security reform Transition Towards Gender Equality Sonja Gierse-Arsten, 2024-01-10 Worldwide Namibia ranks high regarding gender equality However many women are intimidated by violence perpetrated by men This book is based on a social anthropological field research in the small town of Outjo situated in Northern Central Namibia over a period of 14 months Gender is learnt lived and reproduced in a societal frame Violence against women too is perpetrated by men in a societal context By using mainly qualitative research methods Sonja Gierse Arsten looks at male and female perspectives to reach a holistic understanding and to provide a basis for sustainable changes towards equal gender relations She traces the transition from a hierarchical gender system during colonial times to the aspired equal gender relations in present Namibia Current challenges characterised by poverty and great economic inequalities form the framework in which gender is performed and violence perpetrated This study offers inspirations to re think gender to reach substantive gender equality and to overcome the normalisation of violence

Corporate Governance in Namibia Miriam Dikuua,Janey Wyk,Tia Chata,Warren Maroun,Asheer Jaywant Ram,2024-07-01 This book will include a review of the research dealing with the drivers and consequences of Namibia s corporate governance The focus will be on Namibian specific research but this will probably be complemented with international references

The Child in World Cinema Debbie Olson,2018-02-19 This collection seeks to broaden the discussion of the child image by close analysis of the child and childhood as depicted in non Western cinemas Each essay offers a counter narrative to Western notions of childhood by looking critically at alternative visions of childhood that does not privilege a Western ideal Rather this collection seeks to broaden our ideas about children childhood and the child s place in the global community This collection features a wide variety of contributors from around the world who offer compelling analyses of non Western non Hollywood films starring children

Environmental Protection and Transitions from Conflict to Peace Carsten Stahn,Jennifer S. Easterday,Jens Iverson,2017 This book examines the protection of the environment in post conflict societies with regard both to the maintenance of natural ecosystems and to the function of environmental protection in the peace building process addressing the strengths and weaknesses of different bodies of law
