South East Asia A Region In Transition:

Southeast Asia (Routledge Revivals) Jonathan Rigg, 2013-09-13 Southeast Asia A Region in Transition first published in 1991 is a contemporary human geography of the market economies of the region usually defined by membership of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations ASEAN. Organized thematically, the chapters deal with the environment and development, plural societies, agrarian change and urbanization. This thematic approach provides a comprehensive picture of the ASEAN countries and gives a depth of coverage often lacking in other regional geographies. With a detailed introduction dealing with the physical environment and history of the region, this work will be of great value to students studying the human geography of Southeast Asia as well as those with a more general interest in the issues and developments affecting the ASEAN region.

Comparative Political Transitions between Southeast Asia and the Middle East and North Africa Teresita Cruz-del Rosario, James M. Dorsey, 2016-07-18 This book investigates the theme of global transitions with a cross regional comparative study of two areas experiencing change over the past three decades: Southeast Asia and the Middle East and North Africa (MENA). Political transitions in Asia have been the subject of interest in academic and policy making communities recently as there are encouraging signs of democratization in countries that exhibit elements of authoritarianism. In those countries with relatively open political systems, transitions to democracy have been complete, albeit messy, flawed and highly contested. In contrast, countries of the MENA region that have been gripped by revolts in recent years find themselves in the midst of chaotic and uncontrollable transitions. Why are there such differences between these regions? What, if anything, can be learned and applied from the transitions in Southeast Asia? These questions are answered here as Asia's experience is contrasted with the Arab revolts and the struggle of the different countries in the MENA region to fashion a new social contract between states and citizens.

Southeast Asian Energy Transitions Mattijs Smits, 2016-03-03 Addressing the apparent tensions between modernity and sustainability in Southeast Asia, this book offers novel insights into the global challenge of moving towards a low carbon energy system. With an original and accessible take on social theory related to energy transitions, modernity and sustainability, Mattijs Smits argues for a reinvigorated geography of energy. He also challenges universalistic and linear assumptions about energy transitions and makes the case for energy trajectories stressing embeddedness, contingency and connections between scales. Contemporary and historical empirical examples from Southeast Asia, primarily Thailand and Laos, are drawn upon to show the importance of scale at regional, national, local and household levels. The transitions in the national power sectors here have been intimately related to discourses of modernity and state formation since the colonial era. More recently, plans for international cooperation and discourses of regional power trade have taken centre stage. Local energy trajectories are understood to be part of these transitions but also as embedded in local social, political and spatial relations. Examining how energy practices go hand in hand with the dissemination of different technologies, this work shows the complexities of achieving sustainability in the context of rapidly changing energy modernities in Southeast Asia Southeast Asian Development Andrew McGregor, 2008-03-03 Southeast Asia has long fascinated development practitioners and researchers for being one of the few regions of the world that has resisted global trends to become a successful developing region Divided into accessible thematic chapters this book adopts a unique perspective of equitable development to outline the strengths and weaknesses of the transformations taking place in the Southeast Asian region Focusing on four key themes equality and inequality political freedom and opportunity empowerment and participation and environmental sustainability these concepts are used to explore Southeast Asian development and trace the impacts that the growing popularity of market led and grassroots approaches are having upon economic political and social processes Whilst the diversity of the region is emphasized so are some of the homogenizing trends such as the concentration of wealth and services in urban areas and the subsequent migration of rural people into urban factories and squatter settlements The ongoing commercialization and industrialization of rural agriculture as well as the expansion of non farm income earning opportunities in rural spaces and the alarming rates of environmental degradation which threaten health and livelihoods are also exposed In highlighting how Southeast Asian development is unevenly distributing wealth opportunities and risks throughout the region this book emphasizes the need for creative new approaches to ensure that benefits of development are equitably enjoyed by all Including illustrations case studies and further reading this book provides an accessible up to date introductory text for students and researchers interested in Southeast Asian development development studies Asian studies and geography Demographic and Family Transition in Southeast Asia Wei-Jun Jean Yeung, 2022-05-05 This open access book presents the trends and patterns of demographic and family changes from all eleven countries in the region for the past 50 years The rich data are coupled with historical cultural and policy background to facilitate an understanding of the changes that families in Southeast Asia have been going through The book is structured into two parts Part A includes three segments preceded by a briefing on Southeast Asia The first segment focuses on marital and partnership status in the region particularly marriage rates age at marriage incidence of singlehood cohabitation and divorce The second segment focuses on fertility indicators such as fertility rates total age specific adolescent age at childbearing and childlessness The third presents information on household structures in the region by examining household sizes and incidence of one person households single parent families as well as extended and composite households Part B presents indicators of children and youth s well being Governance in Transitional Societies in East and Southeast Asia Chi Zhang, Binh Thi An Trinh, 2023-09-30 This book brings together scholars based in or had previously been based in a range of East and Southeast Asian countries building on their respective primary empirical data and first hand experience as academics and think tank researchers in order to pluralise the current debates about governance in transitional societies In an era of global democratic backsliding this edited volume offers less explored local perspectives to balance the Western centrism observed in area studies and the focus on former Soviet countries in

How Power Shapes Energy Transitions in Southeast Asia Jens

Marquardt,2016-12-01 An understanding of the role of energy related governance systems and the conditions required for a shift towards renewables in developing countries is urgently needed in order to tap into the global potential of low carbon development Although renewable energy sources have become technically feasible and economically viable social and political factors continue to persist as the most critical obstacles for their dissemination How Power Shapes Energy Transitions in Southeast Asia conceptualizes power for the field of sustainable energy governance Based on empirical findings from the Philippines and Indonesia the book develops an analytical approach that incorporates power theory into a multi level governance framework The book begins with a profound background on renewable energy development around the world and presents major trends in development cooperation A power based multi level governance approach is introduced that is rooted in development thinking Examining how coordination and power relations shape the development and dissemination of renewable energy technologies the book also shows how decentralization affects low carbon development in emerging economies Sparking debate on the ways in which energy transitions can be triggered and sustained in developing countries this book will be of great interest to students and scholars of renewable energy development and environmental politics and governance as well as practitioners in development cooperation
