South East Asia Economist Guide:

Routledge Handbook of Southeast Asian Economics Ian Coxhead, 2014-12-17 The Routledge Handbook of Southeast Asian Economics offers new insights into the rapidly developing economies of Southeast Asia. Despite widespread initial deprivation, Southeast Asia has achieved and sustained a remarkable rate of growth in the course of which tens of millions have successfully escaped severe poverty. Though the economies of the region vary in many dimensions, integration into the wider East Asian network of production and trade is a notable common feature, one that continues a centuries-long history of engagement with global trade. A second striking feature is the pace and extent of transformation in the structure of production and in sources of household income in the region, which has undergone remarkably rapid industrialization and urban growth. However, the search for sustained and sustainable growth through and beyond middle income continues to confront pressing economic and policy challenges. This Handbook offers a timely and comprehensive overview of Southeast Asian economic development. Organized according to the logic of chronological and thematic unity, it is structured in these sections: Growth and development over the long term; Food, agriculture and natural resources; Trade, investment and industrialization; Population, labor and human capital; Poverty and political economy; Twenty-first century challenges. This original Handbook, written by experts in their fields, is unique in the breadth and depth of its coverage. Its forward-looking perspective renders it relevant both now and in the future. This advanced-level reference work will be essential reading for students, researchers and scholars of Asian Studies, Economics and Southeast Asian studies. Handbook of Markets and Economies: East Asia, Southeast Asia, Australia, New Zealand Anthony Pecotich, Clifford J Shultz, 2016-07-22 East and Southeast Asia is a vast and complex region. Its countries have a bewildering array of histories, demographics, economic structures, cultural backgrounds and global marketing potential. This Handbook unravels the mystery. Each chapter is written by a country specialist and provides a thorough and up-to-date analysis of one of the ESEA countries. Each author follows a consistent model and covers geography and natural resources, the political system, the economic system, the social system and the marketing environment. Complete chapters are devoted to Australia, Brunei, Cambodia, China and Hong Kong, East Timor, Indonesia, Japan, Korea, North and South, Laos, Malaysia, Myanmar, New Zealand, Papua New Guinea, the Philippines, Singapore, Taiwan, Thailand and Vietnam. Not just a review of current conditions, the Handbook offers prognoses for future marketing and commercial activity in each country. This definitive resource is generously illustrated with maps, figures and tables and includes comprehensive references and source materials for each country. It is an essential reference for students, researchers and practitioners in the global economy. Socio-economics of trawl fisheries in Southeast Asia and Papua New Guinea Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2018-06-06 These studies on the role of trawl fisheries for food security and the potential impacts of management measures reveal major differences across countries in fishing practices, including crew demographics and income sharing arrangements. Southeast Asia and the Economics of Global Climate Stabilization David A.

Raitzer, Francesco Bosello, Massimo Tavoni, Carlo Orecchia, Giacomo Marangoni, Jindra Nuella G. Samson, 2015-12-01 Climate change is a global concern of special relevance to Southeast Asia, a region that is both vulnerable to the effects of climate change and a rapidly increasing emitter of greenhouse gases (GHGs). This study focuses on five countries of Southeast Asia that collectively account for 90% of regional GHG emissions in recent years: Indonesia, Malaysia, the Philippines, Thailand, and Viet Nam. It applies two global dynamic economy-energy-environment models under an array of scenarios that reflect potential regimes for regulating global GHG emissions through 2050. The modeling identifies the potential economic costs of climate inaction for the region, how the countries can most efficiently achieve GHG emission mitigation, and the consequences of mitigation both in terms of benefits and costs. Drawing on the modeling results, the study analyzes climate-related policies and identifies how further action can be taken to ensure low-carbon growth.

Women and men in small-scale fisheries and aquaculture in Asia Kusakabe, K., Thongprasert, S.,2022-04-27 Fisheries and aquaculture contribute to food security and livelihoods of millions of people in Asia Both women and men are engaged in fisheries and aquaculture

In the past ten years many actors have worked on raising awareness on women's contribution as well as promoting gender equality in fisheries and aquaculture. This study aims to consolidate the efforts to date to provide recommendations for action and future studies. Its objective is to answer the following questions for small scale fisheries and aquaculture in Asia: i) What is the division of labour between women and men in specific fisheries and aquaculture practices and what are the differences with respect to their access to assets, resources and entitlements? ii) What are the drivers of such differences? iii) What could be critical entry points and opportunities for addressing inequalities and discriminatory practices? To answer these questions, the study conducted an online literature search on gender and fisheries and aquaculture in Asia, selecting articles published between 2011 and 2021. This period was selected to understand the contemporary condition and state of knowledge and since we aimed for an exhaustive list of literature, some limits in the time period were necessary. The review included both published peer-reviewed papers in journals as well as other research and project reports that are available online. In total, it reviewed 253 publications on fisheries and 210 publications on aquaculture. The top four countries where studies were conducted are India (44.3 percent of fisheries and 24.3 percent of aquaculture articles), the Philippines (35.6 percent of fisheries and 17.6 percent of aquaculture articles), Bangladesh (27.7 percent of fisheries and 32.9 percent of aquaculture articles), and Indonesia (30.8 percent of fisheries and 20.5 percent of aquaculture articles). The findings based on each research question are presented in this publication.
