New Directions in African Military History Timothy J. Stapleton, 2025-06-02 New Directions in African Military History takes a thematic approach to the history of war and military structures in Africa and highlights the under researched areas African Military History represents a relatively new and fast growing sub field bridging the previously wide gap between the well established genres of African History and Military History Based on a synthesis of existing literature and aimed at a wide readership this book adopts a broad temporal range and uses select examples to highlight a series of points to cover the pre colonial to post colonial eras and offer examples from various parts of the continent This volume evaluates controversial academic debates examining evidence research methods approaches and changing historiographical contexts as well as pointing to potential new areas of research It comprises seven thematic chapters on ways of war weapons technology navies air power battles women combatants and genocide in African history This volume will be of value to students and scholars alike interested in Modern History Military History and African History

African Navies Timothy Stapleton, 2022-11-11 This edited volume focuses on aspects of the understudied theme of African sea power including African navies and the engagement of non African navies with the continent Africa possesses 48 000 kilometers of coastline comprising 38 out of 54 of the continent s states and several strategic choke points for international shipping such as the Suez Canal the Gulf of Aden and the Cape of Good Hope Nevertheless post colonial Africa s small navies and their relations with the navies of external powers have not received much scholarly attention Focusing on Sub Saharan Africa this collection attempts to address this neglect and stimulate further research by offering original chapters related to historical and contemporary themes around Africa s navies The historical chapters cover the origin of the Tanzanian Ethiopian Nigerian and Ghana navies during the era of decolonization and the Cold War the asymmetrical naval campaign fought during the Nigerian Civil War 1967 70 and the activities of the Soviet Navy in supporting African states and movements fighting lingering colonialism and white supremacy during the 1970s and 1980s Focusing on the contemporary situation other chapters discuss the engagement of the Indian Navy with Africa the potential role of the Angolan and Mozambican navies in the Southern African Development Community SADC the transformation and development of the post apartheid South African Navy and the challenges and capabilities of African navies in the early twenty first century The book concludes by discussing the question of whether African coastal countries need navies This book will be of much interest to students of naval power strategic studies African politics and International Relations Chapters 1 2 6 and 8 of this book are available for free in Open Access at www.taylorfrancis.com It has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4 0 license

Geoeconomics and Geosecurities in the Indian Ocean Region Timothy Doyle, 2018-04-19 There are important changes in regional and global demographics ahead of us A profound rise in the number of citizens in the Indian Ocean Region in the next fifty years will have significant impacts on the state on the nature and operation of markets and the neo liberal framework they operate in and raise new challenges for regional security This book considers the insufficient dialogue between ever increasing and closer connections between geo economics and geo securities in the Indian Ocean Region and highlights some of the challenges This book takes a broader understanding of security than what is usually meant in more traditional security frameworks in politics and international relations Economic and politics are integrally and obviously related This book considers regional themes such as discourses around strategic competition models of regional cooperative security Indian Ocean Region domestic economies contexts and the military industrial complex and regional models of identity and cultural belonging Regions and regionalisms are increasingly being used to challenge power and the existence of any uniform model of macro politics and macro economics whether it be neo liberalism or otherwise Most importantly these discussions of region enable us to celebrate the similarities that we share as neighbours in a real geographical sense and to comprehend and respect these differences in these rich regional communities of markets cultures and securities This book was previously published as a special issue of the Journal of the Indian Ocean Region
