Bafoil,2015-12-24 This book examines the emergence of different forms of capitalism in Central Eastern states in Europe and Mekong states within the Association of Southeast Asian Nations ASEAN All of them but Thailand have historically disappeared from the regional maps for long periods of time due to colonial or imperial rule Most of them were previously members of a soviet type economy and they all joined ASEAN or the European Union in the 1990s or in the 2000s These states are characterized by a strong urge toward feelings of national sovereignty due to their experiences with colonialism and imperialism But due to the regional economic pressures and the globalization dynamic these states cannot articulate protectionist policies They are forced to open their economies in order to attract Foreign Direct Investments This results in less regulated and more political forms of capitalism than in some more developed capitalist countries This book analyzes forms of capitalism as the arising from a combination of three conditions the legacy of the foreign occupations the national construction process of the sovereign state and lastly the dynamics of regional integration These states claims to national sovereignty and the manner in which they developed suggests a causative link between the forms of political domination that have presided over these transformations and the forms of capitalism that have resulted      Southeast Asian Affairs 2022 Daljit Singh,Hoang Thi Ha,2022-04-14 Southeast Asian Affairs first published in 1974 continues today to be required reading for not only scholars but the general public interested in in depth analysis of critical cultural economic and political issues in Southeast Asia In this annual review of the region renowned academics provide comprehensive and stimulating commentary that furthers understanding of not

Revolution, Reform and Regionalism in Southeast Asia Ronald Bruce St John, 2006-01-16. Based on research carried out over the three decades, this book compares the post war political economies of Cambodia, Laos and Vietnam in the context of their individual and collective impact on contemporary efforts at regional integration. The author highlights the different paths to reform taken by the three neighbours and the effect this has had on regional plans for economic development through the ASEAN and the Greater Mekong Subregion. Through its comparative analysis of the reforms implemented by Cambodia, Laos and Vietnam over the last thirty years, the book draws attention to parallel themes of continuity and change. The author discusses how the three states have demonstrated related characteristics whilst at the same time making different modifications in order to exploit the unique strengths of their individual cultures. Contributing to the contemporary debate over the role of democratic reform in promoting economic development, the book provides a detailed account of the political economies of three states at the heart of Southeast Asia.

The United States and Asia Robert G. Sutter, 2019-10-17. Now in a fully revised and updated edition, this cogent book provides an overview of the historical context and enduring patterns of U S relations with Asia. Noted scholar Robert G Sutter offers a balanced analysis of post Cold War dynamics in Asia which involve interrelated questions of security, economics, national identity and regional institution building. He demonstrates how these critical concerns manifest a complex mix of realist, liberal and constructivist tendencies that define the regional order. He describes how the United States has responded to Asia's growing strength and importance while at the same time trying to maintain its leading position as an Asian power despite China's rising influence. Considering the most important transition in American policy toward Asia since the end of the Cold War, Sutter assesses the growing U S China rivalry that now dominates both regional dynamics in the Asia Pacific and U S policy in the region.

The Geopolitics of Spectacle Natalie Koch, 2018-06-15 Why do autocrats build spectacular new capital cities In The Geopolitics of Spectacle Natalie Koch considers how autocratic rulers use spectacular projects to shape state society relations but rather than focus on the standard approach on the project itself she considers the unspectacular others The contrasting views of those from the poorest regions toward these new national capitals help her develop a geographic approach to spectacle Koch uses Astana in Kazakhstan to exemplify her argument comparing that spectacular city with others from resource rich nondemocratic nations in central Asia the Arabian Peninsula and Southeast Asia The Geopolitics of Spectacle draws new political geographic lessons and shows that these spectacles can be understood only from multiple viewpoints sites and temporalities Koch explicitly theorizes spectacle geographically and in so doing extends the analysis of governmentality into new empirical and theoretical terrain With cases ranging from Azerbaijan to Qatar and Myanmar and an intriguing account of reactions to the new capital of Astana from the poverty stricken Aral Sea region of Kazakhstan Koch's book provides food for thought for readers in human geography anthropology sociology urban studies political science international affairs and post Soviet and central Asian studies Southeast Asian Affairs 2013 Daljit Singh, 2013 Southeast Asian Affairs is the only one of its kind a comprehensive annual review devoted to the international relations politics and economies of the region and its nation states The collected volumes of Southeast Asian Affairs have become a

Insight Turkey / Winter 2024 - Asia Anew Revisited Alaeddin Tekin, Ali Can Yenice, Arshad Islam, Blerim Sallahu, Burhanettin Duran, Ensar Kıvrak, Ferhat Çağrı Aras, Firdan Fadlan Sidik, Gökhan Kavak, Gürol Baba, H. Sönmez Ateşoğlu, Hasan İlkbahar, İshak Turan, K. Ali Akkemik, Kemal İnat, Kohei Imai, Mehmet Ali Şengil, Mujib Alam, Nancy Snow, Neslihan Tezcan, Nkosi Zwelivelile Mandlesizwe Dalibhunga Mandela, Norma Hashim, Nuh Yılmaz, Reena Marwah, Soner Doğan, Swaran Singh, Yunhee Kim, Since the early 2000s almost every great middle and even small power has developed a tendency to deepen their relations in the Asia Pacific region This tendency is also valid regarding international and regional organizations In addition to state actors non state and even sub state actors have assigned a certain value to this region in their strategic calculations With such a tilt Asia Pacific actors have become a focal point of global politics The increasing significance of the region has been boosted by the rising Asian powers such as China India Japan Australia South Korea and Indonesia With all this dynamism extra regional actors have increased their economic political strategic and cultural investments in Asia Pacific This rise in the region's multileveled value has led regionalism oriented IR researchers to develop the concept of the Asian Century T rkiye has a peculiar position and significance in this regard combining the West and the non West in many respects Unlike the Cold War and early post Cold War times the world especially the Asia Pacific world is not composed of only two vectors the West and the non West but several spanning into a variety of directions This multi vectorial reality of inter non state affairs fits into T rkiye's ambitions in its foreign policy The Cold War label of T rkiye i.e the staunch ally of the West is no longer completely valid T rkiye of today is much more than that The Western alliance is only an aspect of T rkiye whose substance has been amalgamated by Ankara's developing relations with other regions and sub regions of the globe including Asia Pacific T rkiye's search for political strategic clout in other regions has led Ankara to conceptualize and announce the most comprehensive and official foreign policy approach towards the Asia Pacific region yet known as the Asia Anew Initiative This shows that T rkiye is not an exception to the above stated powers that gave this region a central place in their strategic calculations The initiative is predominantly multifaceted at its core which aims to eliminate the asymmetries between T rkiye and Asian actors in both

strategic and commercial terms By increasing the engagement and cooperation with these actors T rkiye aims to utilize its advantage in the sectors that it has considerable advantages in such as tourism conventional defense technology and construction together with the ones in which it has emerging improvement such as high tech finance infrastructure and energy transport T rkiye s additional connotation regarding Asia Pacific is in geocultural terms Due to its historical and religious background T rkiye has many ties with Pakistan Bangladesh South Korea Muslim communities of India and to an extent Afghanistan This has been an important channel that Turkish state and non state actors have experienced in deepening their relations in the region T rkiye s soft power and diplomacy have also utilized such cultural affinity Links tracing back to the 15th century of the Ottoman era has aided T rkiye s influence in South and Southeast Asia A clear empirical indication of such influence is the popularity of Turkish culture history oriented television serials within these communities Thus geocultural impact not only boosts T rkiye s visibility and weight in the region but also helps it to be relevant in the non Western and multiple directional vectors of the Asia Pacific politico economic fabric An additional element of T rkiye s engagement in the region is that it tries to utilize almost any type of lateralism i e multilateralism minilateralism and bilateralism Ankara is trying to be a member of the Shanghai Cooperation Organization and has put forward its intention to join the Association of Southeast Asian Nations It has also created MIKTA a transregional partnership grouping with its like minded partners from the region More importantly it has been developing a whole range of bilateralisms with Asia Pacific countries regardless of their power statuses Another very significant element of T rkiye s engagement with the region is its focus on Asia Pacific communities Various Turkish state institutions the Turkish Cooperation and Coordination Agency T KA the Presidency of Religious Affairs Diyanet and the T rkiye scholarships program of the Presidency for Turks Abroad and Related Communities YTB have been developing T rkiye s people to people links through strategic and sustainable communication and promoting the country s national brand Although there is an obvious increase in T rkiye s engagement with Asia Pacific it is still early to assert its prominence in the region However this is not only a result of T rkiye s current capabilities but the parameters of competition that must be navigated with the global powers competing and cooperating in the region T rkiye in this sense would require more cooperative patterns with like minded powers to increase its influence and boost its partners strength Asia Pacific is not a hassle free region and currently T rkiye has a limited impact in this challenging ecosystem On the other hand developing multifaceted relations especially with culturally and historically proximate sub regions will increase T rkiye s visibility and impact With the above stated awareness and engagements T rkiye s visibility and economic significance in the Asia Pacific will significantly increase over time One very formidable catalyst for this would be its cultural and historical ties with Central Asia South Asia and Southeast Asia which have already been transforming into commercial and political strategic outcomes The current edition of Insight Turkey is dedicated to the exploration of bilateral relations between T rkiye and Far Eastern countries within the context of the Asia Anew Initiative The winter issue features a commentary and six research articles on this subject providing a comprehensive analysis of the topic. Moreover, the issue includes four off-topic comments and two research articles that lie outside the main theme. Among these two articles, shed light on the current Gaza genocide ongoing since October 7. The commentary section opens with a perceptive analysis by Nuh Yılmaz on Türkiye's foreign policy toward Asia. In his commentary, Yılmaz examines Türkiye's general perspective on the Asian continent and discusses the basic dynamics of the initiative. According to his analysis, there has been a significant shift in the global balance of power with Atlantic Asia emerging as a rising force in politics, military, culture, and especially in economy. This transformation of the Asian continent prompted Türkiye to launch the Asia Anew Initiative in 2019, which presents a comprehensive and systematic vision for Asia. Yılmaz delves into Türkiye's general perspective on the Asian continent and the key dynamics of this initiative. Furthermore, the initial research article authored by Grol Baba, as the guest editor, centers on Türkiye's strategies and its Asia Anew Initiative. Through his work, Baba endeavors to illustrate that within the Asian framework, Türkiye has the capability to not only be pragmatic but also achieve efficiency by implementing a diverse foreign policy approach. He argues that Türkiye's application of multi-vectorism to its foreign policy in Asia is more successful than multilateralism or minilateralism policies. This is because there is much more than the two traditional vectors, West and non-West, due to the current intra-regional fragmentations and deviations in Asia. Baba embodied the success of bilateral relations in Asia by giving examples from some countries. Following Baba's outline of Türkiye's approach to its Asian policy, the second research article, penned by Mujib Alam, delves into the complex nature of Türkiye-India relations between 2000 and 2023. Alam's analysis spans diplomatic, economic, scientific, and cultural exchanges, offering a comprehensive view of their bilateral engagements. Despite different stances on issues such as Kashmir and Cyprus, Alam points out a trend towards improvement in relations, especially economic relations and cultural exchanges, driven by the foreign policy trends of the ruling parties of the two countries. The third research article, by Kohei Imai, examines the bilateral relations between Türkiye and Japan, which will soon celebrate their 100th anniversary in 2024. Imai delves into the historical relationship between the two nations, which while positive, lacked a tangible cooperative partnership. He carefully considers the diplomatic challenges and public perspectives that Japan encounters and identifies opportunities for both countries to pursue more practical collaborations moving forward. In the next research article, Alaeddin Tekin and Arshad Islam focus on Malaysia, shedding light on Türkiye's relationship with another Southeast Asian country. In research articles based on primary sources, including Ottoman and Turkish archives, as well as Bahasa Melayu and English materials, Tekin and Islam aim to investigate historical and current relations between Turks and Malays. Another research article on the subject, written by Yunhee Kim, tries to examine veteran diplomacy through the example of Türkiye and draws from the different historical examples of the Korean War. Claiming that veteran diplomacy can be used as an opportunity to expand South Korea's soft power in the new public diplomacy era of the 21st century, Kim also argues that this diplomacy paves the way for security.

cooperation in the context of Türkiye South Korea relations Ali Akkemik who deals with Türkiye's relations with East Asia from the economic dimension in the next research article states that their economic relations have undergone a significant structural change in the last twenty years According to Akkemik while Japan previously dominated Türkiye's trade with East Asia and the flow of direct foreign investment from East Asia to Türkiye recently both South Korea and China have surpassed Japan as Türkiye's main trading partners in East Asia and have caught up with Japan in terms of foreign investments in Türkiye Moreover in this issue we address the grave humanitarian crisis stemming from the conflict in Gaza Specifically two commentaries focus on the tragic events unfolding since October 7 Nkosi Zwelivelile Mandelsizwe Dalibhunga Mandela offers an analysis of South Africa's response to Israel's actions against the Palestinian people focusing on their legal recourse at the International Court of Justice He draws comparisons between Israel's treatment of Palestinians and South Africa's apartheid era underscoring the deep ties of solidarity between these communities and the essential role of global unity accountability and concerted efforts in promoting justice and equality Additionally Norma Hashim provides a unique perspective by focusing on the plight of prisoners and hostages in Gaza arguing that Palestinian prisoners are central to the narrative of the genocide initiated on October 7 She delves into their importance within the Palestinian national movement and shares the personal stories of some of these prisoners highlighting their significance in the context of the ongoing crisis in Gaza In other off topic commentary S nmez Ate o lu has written a commentary as a continuation of the research article Economic Power and International Security he previously published in Insight Turkey While Nancy Snow has provided a commentary in which she discusses the national brand of Japan where she lived for many years In his previously published research article Ate o lu explains in detail the impact of economic power on international security and the connection between economic and military power but claims that the security dimension is not sufficiently addressed Therefore in this commentary the author aims to explain the impact of military power on international security especially in the context of Türkiye and how a state can achieve its security goals by using military force On the other hand Nancy Snow explores the evolution of Japan's national brand analyzing the transition from historical isolation to its current global recognition especially under the influence of Shinzo Abe's policies The winter issue broadens its scope with two research articles that venture beyond the main theme Blerim Sallahu's contribution opens this segment with an in depth exploration of the modalities for acquiring citizenship in Kosovo Following this Kemal nat and Burhanettin Duran assess the Ukrainian war's profound repercussions on the global order scrutinizing the intricate position and consequential influence of Türkiye situated uniquely as both a neighbor to Russia and an ally of the U S within this complex geopolitical landscape This latest special edition of Insight Turkey meticulously explores the evolving dynamics of Türkiye's engagement with East Asia under the ambit of the Asia Anew Initiative This edition is distinguished by a series of foundational articles that provide a thorough overview of the initiative alongside in depth analyses of Türkiye's bilateral relationships with key Asian nations We trust that the comprehensive discussions and diverse perspectives presented in this issue will offer our readers valuable insights and deepen their understanding of the intricate geopolitical landscape World Food Grain Situation, Hearing Before the Subcommittee on South Asian Affairs and the Subcommittee on African Affairs Of..., 93-1, October 5, 1973 United States. Congress. Senate. Foreign Relations, 1968 US Department of State Dispatch, 1995 Hedging Strategies in Southeast Asia Alfred Gerstl, 2022-07-08

Introducing a re conceptualized comprehensive hedging framework this book analyses the relations of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations ASEAN Malaysia the Philippines and Vietnam with China in the context of the Belt and Road Initiative BRI and the South China Sea dispute The author argues that ASEAN and the three Southeast Asian governments pursue a hedging strategy towards the rising China Hedging expands the strategic options of smaller powers which are in Neorealism often restricted to bandwagoning and balancing A hedging strategy however can simultaneously contain both elements of bandwagoning e g in economics and balancing e g in security affairs Even though the four hedging strategies and their implementation vary in principle they all seek closer economic relations with Beijing while maintaining strong security relations with Washington A major innovation of the new hedging concept is the inclusion of the perceptions of the hedger on the risks and opportunities stemming from the relations with the hedging target and of the strategic value of potential hedging partners The comprehensive hedging concept and the important empirical findings will be of interest to researchers in the fields of International Relations Security Political Geography Economics History and Asian Studies
