Hany Babu, 2007-05-16 The South Asian languages mainly Indo Aryan and Dravidian have become a focus of interest in the formal study of language as a natural consequence of the research program of the Principle and Parameters approach and an enforced interest in exploring the parametrical space of human language. The contributions to the present volume combine theoretical reasoning in syntax and phonology with a comparative research agenda in which South Asian languages figure prominently. The topics range from issues of clause structure, serial verb constructions, cleft and question formation to the question of what the proper syntactic format of modification should be, issues of binding theory and raising and issues of complementation, the clausal periphery and clausal typing. The collection of articles concludes with two chapters on Dravidian and comparative phonology and a chapter on the shaping of phonological awareness by different writing systems. The authors and the editors devote this piece of work to Professor K. A. Jayaseelan, one of present day India's most influential linguists.

Language and Society in South Asia Michael C. Shapiro, Harold F. Schiffman, 2008-09-30 During the past two decades there has been a significant amount of research and publication concerning the sociolinguistics of South Asian languages. Language and Society in South Asia is the first major attempt to assess the impact of this new literature. It expounds the methodological and theoretical assumptions of sociolinguistic descriptions of South Asian languages and contrasts them with the assumptions of earlier characterizations of these languages. An important feature of this book is its detailed examination of numerous schools of linguistic analysis within which most past descriptive work on South Asian languages has been carried out. This is done in a language accessible both to the professional linguist and to non-linguists interested in social aspects of language use in South Asia. Among the topics treated in this book are traditional taxonomies of South Asian languages, South Asia as a linguistic area, social dialectology, bi- and multilingualism in South Asia, pidginization, creolization and South Asian English, ethnographic semantics and the ethnography of speaking. The work also contains an extensive bibliography of the scholarly literature pertinent to the study of South Asian languages in their social contexts.

The

book brings into focus a variety of issues related to linguistic theory second language acquisition research non verbal communication discourse appropriateness learner variation and strategies for developing speaking listening and reading skills It is also a valuable addition to the general body of knowledge in the field of adult language acquisition A carefully prepared index and an extensive bibliography covering both the South Asian field and general literature enhance the book's usefulness as a reference guide
