The Evolving Pacific Power Structure:

The Evolving Pacific Power Structure Derek Da Cunha, 1996 There has been too complacent a view that contends that the next century the so called Pacific Century will see power essentially defined in an economic sense This book questions that notion by examining the evolving structure of power in the Pacific It takes the view that while economics will have an increased weight in the power equation military strength will still be a defining feature The essays in this volume provide crisp analyses of a balance of power the notion of a security architecture and regional defence dilemmas They then examine the shifting roles of the four major Pacific powers China Japan Russia and the United States all of which will essentially shape the future of the Pacific in the next century The Changing Structure of the Electric Power Industry 2000: An Update ,

The Many Faces of Asian Security Sheldon W. Simon, 2001-08-21 Political developments in the post Cold War era the intensification of globalization and the rapid spread of technology are forcing a reevaluation of the meaning of security Traditional security is no longer the singular concern of the world powers and new forms of security have become relevant to a growing number of countries The Many Faces of Asian Security provides a comprehensive assessment of these developments in the Asia Pacific region The book begins with an examination of traditional security concerns military capabilities balance of power territorial and resource disputes the effects of new technologies on military strategy and the problems involved in maintaining sovereignty in the face of globalization It then introduces the new security issues that have become important in Asia since the end of the Cold War economic and financial stability in the wake of the financial crisis the spillover effects of environmental degradation human rights and political stability and the impact of transnational crime Eleven leading specialists on Asia evaluate the types of and approaches to Asian security that have been emerging over the past decade Their wide ranging and incisive discussions will be of interest to policymakers scholars and students alike

The Evolving Maritime Balance of Power in the Asia-Pacific Lawrence W. Prabhakar, Joshua Ho, Walter Samuel Grono Bateman, 2006 The Asia Pacific region has emerged as the hub of global geo political geo economic and geo strategic significance in the post Cold War period The rise of China and the resurgence of India will be the hallmark for the next 50 years How this surge in power is accommodated by the incumbent powers like the United States and Japan and how the new regional powers like China and India manage the power politics that emerge will be the key determinants of regional stability This volume examines the national maritime doctrines as well as the nuclear weapons developments at sea of the four major powers in the Asia Pacific namely China India Japan and the United States to see if the evolving dynamic is a cooperative or a competitive one In particular the volume looks at the evolving paradigms of maritime transformation in strategy and technology the emergent new maritime doctrines and evolving force postures in the naval orders of battle the role and operations of nuclear navies in the Asia Pacific and the implications and impact of nuclear weapons ballistic missiles and sea based missile defence responses in the region Emerging Developments in the Power and Energy Industry Rodolfo
