Tetlock, 2017-08-29 Since its original publication Expert Political Judgment by New York Times bestselling author Philip Tetlock has established itself as a contemporary classic in the literature on evaluating expert opinion Tetlock first discusses arguments about whether the world is too complex for people to find the tools to understand political phenomena let alone predict the future He evaluates predictions from experts in different fields comparing them to predictions by well informed laity or those based on simple extrapolation from current trends He goes on to analyze which styles of thinking are more successful in forecasting Classifying thinking styles using Isaiah Berlin s prototypes of the fox and the hedgehog Tetlock contends that the fox the thinker who knows many little things draws from an eclectic array of traditions and is better able to improvise in response to changing events is more successful in predicting the future than the hedgehog who knows one big thing toils devotedly within one tradition and imposes formulaic solutions on ill defined problems He notes a perversely inverse relationship between the best scientific indicators of good judgement and the qualities that the media most prizes in pundits the single minded determination required to prevail in ideological combat Clearly written and impeccably researched the book fills a huge void in the literature on evaluating expert opinion It will appeal across many academic disciplines as well as to corporations seeking to develop standards for judging expert decision making Now with a new preface in which Tetlock discusses the latest research in the field the book explores what constitutes good judgment in predicting future events and looks at why experts are often wrong in their forecasts      The Scientific Method J.
