for Policy Analysis, 1989 Working Fluid Selection for Organic Rankine Cycle and Other Related Cycles Attila R.

Imre, 2020-06-16 The world's energy demand is still growing partly due to the rising population partly to increasing personal needs This growing demand has to be met without increasing or preferably by decreasing the environmental impact One of the ways to do so is the use of existing low temperature heat sources for producing electricity such as using power plants based on the organic Rankine cycle ORC In ORC power plants instead of the traditional steam the vapor of organic materials with low boiling points is used to turn heat to work and subsequently to electricity These units are usually less efficient than steam based plants therefore they should be optimized to be technically and economically feasible The selection of working fluid for a given heat source is crucial a particular working fluid might be suitable to harvest energy from a 90 geothermal well but would show disappointing performance for well with a 80 head temperature The ORC working fluid for a given heat source is usually selected from a handful of existing fluids by trial and error methods in this collection we demonstrate a more systematic method based on physical and chemical criteria Multiple Choice Questions on Renewable Energy, Second Edition Arun K Tripathi, 2017-04-21

Sustainable Development and Innovation in the Energy Sector Ulrich Steger, 2005 Explores how these conflicting scenarios could be reconciled how can we shape a more sustainable energy system from the existing one and possible technological progress and innovations to enable a brighter future Addresses the reality that there exists no consensus on the extent to which innovations can really contribute to reconciling ever growing energy consumption availability of resources and the environment and the structural demands on any energy system Offers and explains a four point strategy Energy should according to its importance regain a top priority in the political arena highly targeted subsidies should be given for a limited amount of time to speed up the market introduction of energy efficient and regenerative techniques in analogy to the Dutch model Negotiated agreements and unilateral self commitments can subsequently ensure further market diffusion of sustainable energy innovations the basic research in energy should not be diminished but intensified instead Competition and Consumer Choice in the MVPD Marketplace, Including an Examination of Proposals to Expand Consumer Choice, Such as a la Carte and Theme-tiered Offerings United States.
