The Critical Theory of Axel Honneth Danielle Petherbridge,2013-09-05 The Critical Theory of Axel Honneth provides a comprehensive study of the work of Axel Honneth tracing the theoretical trajectory from his earliest writings on philosophical anthropology to the development of a theory of recognition The book argues that Honneth s early work provides important insights for the reconstruction of the normative project of critical theory and the articulation of a conceptual framework for analyzing social relations of power and domination Danielle Petherbridge contends however that these aims are not fully realized in Honneth s more mature project and that central insights recede as his project develops Petherbridge seeks to demonstrate that the basis for an alternative theory of intersubjectivity that can account for both an adequate theory of power and normative forms of subject formation can be immanently reconstructed from within Honneth s own work By contextualizing Honneth s project in relation to its theoretical influences The Critical Theory of Axel Honneth provides a critical study and excellent entry point that will be essential reading for both students and scholars who work in the areas of European philosophy critical theory social and political philosophy or social and political theory

The Real Mound Builders of North America A. Martin Byers, 2018-02-02 The Real Mound Builders of North America takes the standard position that the cultural communities of the Late Woodland period hiatus when little or no transregional monumental mound building and ceremonialism existed were the linear cultural and social ancestors of the communities responsible for the monumental earthworks of the unique Mississippian ceremonial assemblage and further these Late Woodland communities were the direct linear cultural and social descendants of those communities responsible for the great Hopewellian earthwork mounds and embankments and its associated unique ceremonial assemblage Byers argues that these communities persisted largely unchanged in terms of their essential social structures and cultural traditions while varying only in terms of their ceremonial practices and their associated sodality organizations that manifested these deep structures This continuist historical trajectory view stands in contrast to the current dominant evolutionary view that emphasizes abrupt social and cultural discontinuities with the Hopewellian ceremonial assemblage and earthworks mounds and embankments
