The Politics of Destination in the 2030 Sustainable Development Goals Clive Gabay, Suzan Ilcan, 2018-08-13 This book represents an unusual intervention in debates about the nature of contemporary international development where the majority of scholarship tends to concern itself with measuring or collating goal performance Through a series of analyses of the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals this book explores development as a political construct and is concerned with the kinds of epistemological hegemonic or politico economic assumptions built into contemporary development policy and the ensuing effectiveness the SDGs will have in terms of addressing or perpetuating the historical impoverishment of large groups of people living in poverty The contributors to the book take issue with many of the assumptions upon which SDGs rest while also broadening the conversation to pay attention to knowledge production modernity colonialism exclusion citizenship and other conceptual insights In this context the book raises questions about the discourses and practices of the SDGs especially in relation to how they can define the limits of what can be said and what can be done shape development logics through notions of division and forms of exclusion construct political problems as technical problems create certain spaces of imagination as a field of activity and endorse particular ideas and forms of knowledge in models for sustainable development This book was originally published as a special issue of Globalizations

The Global Development Crisis Benjamin Selwyn, 2014-02-07 The central paradox of the contemporary world is the simultaneous presence of wealth on an unprecedented scale and mass poverty Liberal theory explains the relationship between capitalism and poverty as one based around the dichotomy of inclusion into capitalism vs exclusion from capitalism Within this discourse the global capitalist system is portrayed as a sphere of economic dynamism and as a source of developmental opportunities for less developed countries and their populations Development policy should therefore seek to integrate the poor into the global capitalist system The Global Development Crisis challenges this way of thinking Through an interrogation of some of the most important political economists of the last two centuries Friedrich List Karl Marx Leon Trotsky Joseph Schumpeter Alexander Gershenkron Karl Polanyi and Amarta Sen Selwyn argues that class relations are the central cause of poverty and inequality within and between countries In contrast to much development thinking which portrays the poor as reliant upon benign assistance this book advocates the concept of labour centred development Here the poor are the global labouring classes and their own collective actions and struggles constitute the basis of an alternative
