Harmes, 2015-06-30 Critics abhorred it audiences loved it and Hammer executives were thrilled with the box office returns The Curse of Frankenstein was big business The 1957 film is the first to bring together in a horror movie the unholy two Christopher Lee and Peter Cushing together with the Hammer company and director Terence Fisher combinations now legendary among horror fans In his Devil's Advocate Marcus Harmes goes back to where the Hammer horror production started looking at the film from a variety of perspectives as a loose literary adaptation of Mary Shelley's novel as a film that had for legal reasons to avoid adapting from James Whale's 1931 film for Universal Pictures and as one which found immediate sources of inspiration in the Gainsborough bodice rippers of the 1940s and the poverty row horrors of the 1950s Later Hammer horrors may have consolidated the reputation of the company and the stars but these works had their starting point in the creative and commercial choices made by the team behind The Curse of Frankenstein In the film sparks fly new life is created and horrors unleashed but the film itself was a jolt to 1950s cinema going that has never been entirely surpassed Andrew Davies Sarah Cardwell, 2005-07-22 Andrew Davies is the creator of the British TV programs Pride and Prejudice Othello and The Way We Live Now Although best known for his adaptations of the work of writers such as Jane Austen and George Eliot he has written numerous original drama series single plays films stage plays and books This volume offers a critical appraisal of Davies's work and assesses his contribution to British television Japanese Horror Cinema and Deleuze Rachel Elizabeth Barraclough, 2022-01-13 Using theories of national transnational and world cinema and genre theories and psychoanalysis as the basis of its argument Japanese Horror Cinema and Deleuze argues that these understandings of Japanese horror films can be extended in new ways through the philosophy of Deleuze In particular the complexities and nuances of how films like Ju On The Grudge 2002 Audition 1999 and Kairo 2001 and beyond form dynamic transformative global networks between industries directors and audiences can be considered Furthermore understandings of how key horror tropes and motifs apply to these films and others more broadly such as the idea of the monstrous feminine can be transformed allowing these models to become more flexible

Classical Vertigo Mark William Padilla, 2024-03-18 Alfred Hitchcock's Vertigo has dazzled and challenged audiences with its unique aesthetic design and startling plot devices since its release in 1958 In Classical Vertigo Mythic Shapes and Contemporary Influences in Hitchcock's Film Mark William Padilla analyzes antecedents including 1 the film's source novel Entre les morts Among the Dead 2 the earlier symbolist novel Rodenbach's Bruges la morte and 3 the first draft screenplay of Maxwell Anderson a prominent Broadway dramatist and Hollywood scenarist from the 1920s to the 1950s The presence of Vertigo amid these texts reveals and clarifies how themes from Greco Roman antiquity emerge in Hitchcock's project Padilla analyzes narrative figures such as Prometheus and Pandora Persephone and Hades and Pygmalion and Galatea as well as themes like the dark plots of Greek tragedy to reveal how Hitchcock used allusive form to construct an emotionally powerful experience with an often minimalist script This analysis demonstrates that Vertigo is a multifaceted work of intertextuality with artistic and cultural roots extending into antiquity itself

Jarraway,2013-05-25 Over the past forty years Canadian literature has found its way to the silver screen with increasing regularity Beginning with the adaptation of Margaret Laurence s A Jest of God to the Hollywood film Rachel Rachel in 1966 Canadian writing would appear to have found a doubly successful life for itself at the movies from the critically acclaimed Kamouraska and The Apprenticeship of Duddy Kravitz in the 1970s through to the award winning Love and Human Remains and The English Patient in the 1990s With the more recent notoriety surrounding the Oscar nominated Away from Her and the screen appearances of The Stone Angel and Fugitive Pieces this seems like an appropriate time for a collection of essays to reflect on the intersection between literary publication in Canada and its various screen transformations This volume discusses and debates several double edged issues the extent to which the literary artefact extends its artfulness to the film artefact the degree to which literary communities stand to gain or lose in contact with film communities and perhaps most of all the measure by which a viable relation between fiction and film can be said to exist in Canada and where that double life precisely manifests itself if at all This book is published in English Screen Adaptations and the Politics of Childhood
