Graduate Student Enrollment and Support in American Universities and Colleges, 1954 National Science Foundation (U.S.),1957 Resources in Education ,1998-05 Beyond the Boundaries Georgia A. Persons,2017-09-29 In the past African American aspirations for political office were assumed to be limited to areas with sizeable black population bases By and large black candidates have rarely been successful in statewide or national elections This has been attributed to several factors limited resources available to African American candidates or identification with a black liberationist ideological thrust Other factors have been a relatively small and spatially concentrated primary support base of black voters and the persistent resistance of many white voters to support black candidates For these reasons the possibility of black candidates winning elections to national office was presumably just a dream Conventional wisdom conceded a virtual cap on both the possible number of black elected officials and the level of elective office to which they could ascend But objective political analysis has not always made sufficient allowances for the more universal phenomenon of individual political ambitions The contributors to this volume explore the ways ambitious individuals identified and seized upon strategies that are expanding the boundaries of African American electoral politics This volume is anchored by a symposium that focuses on new possibilities in African American politics Both the electoral contests of 2006 and the Barack Obama presidential campaign represent an emergent dynamic in American electoral politics Analysts are beginning to agree that the contours of social change now make the electoral successes of black candidates who are perceived as ideologically and culturally mainstream increasingly likely The debate captured in this volume will likely inspire further scholarly inquiry into the changing nature and dimensions of the larger dynamic of race in American politics and the subsequent changing political fortunes of African American candidates Bibliographical Synopsis Ernest Cushing Richardson,1887 Building America's Health: America's health status, needs and resources; a statistical index United States. Feldman, Theodore M. Newcomb, 2020-02-18 In this landmark work Kenneth Feldman and Theodore Newcomb review and synthesize the findings of more than 1 500 studies conducted over four decades on the subject Writing in 1991 Ernest Pascarella and Patrick Terenzini maintained that The Impact of College on Students not only provided the first comprehensive conceptual map of generally uncharted terrain but also generated a number of major hypotheses about how college influences students They also noted that Feldman and Newcombe helped to stimulate a torrent of studies on the characteristics of collegiate institutions and how students change and benefit during and after their college years from college attendance The Impact of College on Students is now a standard text in graduate courses as well as a standard and frequently cited reference for scholars students and administrators of higher education Much of what we understand about the developmental influence of college is based on this work The Ante-Nicene Fathers Coxe, 1887 Source-book of English History Elizabeth Kimball Kendall, 1908 The Literature of American History Josephus Nelson Larned, 1902 Source-book of English History Guy Carleton Lee, 1900 Records of Civilization, Sources and Studies ,1923
