Creating Resilient Landscapes in an Era of Climate Change Amin Rastandeh, Meghann Jarchow, 2022-12-30 This book delivers a realistic and feasible framework for creating resilient landscapes in an era of anthropogenic climate change From across six continents this book presents fifteen case studies of differing sociocultural economic and biophysical backgrounds that showcase opportunities and limitations for creating resilient landscapes throughout the world The potential to create socio ecological resilience is examined across a wide range of landscapes including agricultural island forest coastal and urban landscapes across sixteen countries Argentina Australia Brazil Denmark Finland Greece Guatemala Japan Mexico Norway Samoa South Africa the United States Turkey Uruguay and Vanuatu Chapters discuss current and future issues around creating a sustainable food system conserving biodiversity and climate change adaptation and resilience with green infrastructure nature based architecture green tech and ecosystem services as just a few of the approaches discussed. The book emphasizes solution oriented approaches for an ecological hope that can support landscape resiliency in this chaotic era and the chapters consider the importance of envisioning an unpredictable future with numerous uncertainties. In this context the key focus is on how we all can tackle the intertwined impacts of climate change biodiversity loss and large scale land cover conversion in urban and non urban landscapes with particular attention to the concept of landscape resiliency. The volume provides that much needed link between theory and practice to deliver forward thinking practical solutions. This book will be of great interest to students researchers practitioners and policymakers who are interested in the complex relationship between landscapes climate change biodiversity loss and land based conversion at local national and global scales.

African Landscapes Michael Bollig, Olaf Bubenzer, 2009-06-12. Landscape studies provide a crucial perspective into the interaction between humans and their environment shedding insight on social cultural and economic topics. The research explores both the way that natural processes have affected the development of culture and society as well as the ways that natural landscapes themselves are the product of historical and cultural processes. Most previous studies of the landscape selectively focused on either the natural sciences or the social sciences but the research presented in African Landscapes bridges that gap. This work is unique in its interdisciplinary scope. Over the past twelve years the contributors to this volume have participated in the collaborative research center ACACIA Arid Climate Adaptation and Cultural Innovation in Africa which deals with the relationship between cultural processes and ecological dynamics in Africa's arid areas. The case studies presented here come from mainly Sahara Sahel and southwestern Africa and are all linked to broader discussions on the concept of landscape and themes of cultural anthropological geographical botanical sociological and archaeological interest. The contributions in this work are enhanced by full color photographs that put the discussion in context visually.

The Handbook of Linguistic Landscapes and Multilingualism Durk Gorter, Jasone Cenoz, 2025-03-12. The Handbook of Linguistic Landscapes and Multilingualism provides an in depth exploration of linguistic landscapes as a tool to understand multilingualism across diverse global contexts. Edited by leading scholars Durk Gorter and Jasone Cenoz this authoritative volume brings together pioneering research on the evolving interactions between language place space and society. Addressing both theory and practice this handbook serves as a unique lens into how linguistic landscapes reflect broader social political and educational dynamics. In depth chapters address topics ranging from translanguaging and minority language ideologies to the application of linguistic landscapes in multilingual cities and classrooms. Organised into three parts the book first establishes the theoretical and methodological foundations of linguistic landscape studies followed by detailed case studies of the relationship between linguistic landscapes and multilingualism in diverse social and geographic contexts. The concluding section focusses on the educational implications of linguistic landscapes examining how schools and public spaces can be utilised for language learning and teaching. Equipping readers to critically engage with multilingual practices in urban spaces educational settings and beyond The Handbook of Linguistic Landscapes and Multilingualism Introduces cutting edge methodologies socio political contexts and language learning through linguistic landscapes Covers emerging topics such as transgressive practices landscapes of affect and linguistic landscapes of protest and conflict Describes key theoretical concepts and identifies the interdisciplinary connections between ethnography sociolinguistics and discourse studies Explores innovative pedagogical approaches and translanguaging practices with an emphasis on empowering learners in multilingual environments Designed to fit seamlessly into curricula focused on multilingualism and language policy across a range of academic disciplines The Handbook of Linguistic Landscapes and Multilingualism is ideal for graduate students post graduate researchers and scholars in applied linguistics sociolinguistics education sciences language studies and social geography

Olusola, 2023-02-28 The book deals with the most striking landscapes and landforms of Nigeria Attention is paid to the diversity of geomorphic features found in the country from the coast to the extreme north approached geographically at the national regional and local scales with a view to highlight the combined influence of geological climatic biotic and anthropogenic influences as well as geoheritage potentials The topics and sites described range from the mainly depositional coastal lagoons and inlets the most prominent of which is the oil rich Niger Delta characterized by the mangrove and rain forest both of which have been seriously modified by human impact through the coastal lowlands and associated hill country with derived deciduous and dry forest vegetation the very prominent Niger Benue Trough and associated features the savanna semi desert covered high plains of the north and the Chad Basin each of which features spectacular landscapes and landforms including human made forms such as cities and cityscapes The book provides the readers with the opportunity to explore the variety of Nigerian landscapes and landforms through informative texts illustrated with color maps and photos it will be relevant to scientists scholars as well as others interested in the geology physical geography geomorphology landscape tourism and other geoheritage related information about the country

Landscapes between Then and Now Nicola Brandt, 2020-09-08 In Landscapes Between Then and Now Nicola Brandt examines the increasingly compelling and diverse cross disciplinary work of photographers and artists made during the transition from apartheid to post apartheid and into the contemporary era By examining specific artworks made in South Africa Namibia and Angola Brandt sheds light on established and emerging themes related to aftermath landscapes embodied histories un belonging spirituality and memorialization She shows how landscape and identity are mutually constituted and profiles this process against the background of the legacy of the acutely racially divisive policies of the apartheid regime that are still reflected on the land As a signpost throughout the book Brandt draws on the work of the renowned South African photographer Santu Mofokeng and his critical thinking about landscape

Landscapes Between Then and Now explores how practitioners who engage with identity and their physical environment as a social product might reveal something about the complex and fractured nature of postcolonial and contemporary societies Through diverse strategies and aesthetics they comment on inherent structures and epistemologies of power whilst also expressing new and radical forms of self determinism Brandt asks why these cross disciplinary works ranging from social documentary to experimental performance and embodied practices are critical now and what important possibilities for social and political reflection and engagement they suggest

Landscapes of Human Evolution James Cole, John McNabb, Matt Grove, Rob Hosfield, 2020-02-13 Fourteen papers are presented here in honour of John Gowlett John has a wide range of research interests primarily focused on the human genus Homo and is a world leader in understanding the cognitive and behavioural preconditions necessary for the emergence of complex behaviours such as language and art

Dwelling in Political Landscapes Anu Lounela, Eeva Berglund, Timo Kallinen, 2019-05-22 People all over the globe are experiencing unprecedented and often hazardous situations as environments change at speeds never before experienced This edited collection proposes that anthropological perspectives on landscape have great potential to address the resulting conundrums The contributions build on broadly phenomenological structuralist and multi species approaches to environmental perception and experience but they also argue for incorporating political power into analysis alongside dwelling cosmology and everyday practice The book s 13 ethnographically rich chapters explore how the material and the conceptual are entangled in and as landscapes but it also looks at how these processes unfold at many scales in time and space involving different actors with different powers Thus it reaches towards new methodologies and new ways of using anthropology to engage with the sense of crisis concerning environment movements of people climate change and other planetary transformations Dwelling in political landscapes contemporary anthropological perspectives builds substantially upon anthropological work by Tim Ingold Anna Tsing and Philippe Descola and on related work beyond which emphasises the ongoing and open ended yet historically conditioned ways in which humans and nonhumans produce the environments they inhabit In such work landscapes are understood as the medium and outcome of meaningful life activities where humans like other animals dwell This means that landscapes are neither social cultural nor natural but socio natural

Protesting against and moving on from the proverbial dualisms of modern Western and maybe capitalist thought is only the first step in renewing anthropology s methodology for the current epoch however The contributions ask how seemingly disconnected temporal representational economic and other systemic dynamics fold back on lived experience that are materialised in landscapes Foremost through studying how socially valued landscapes become irreversibly disturbed commodified or subjected to wilful markings or erasures the book explores a number of approaches to how landscapes are entangled in the ways people gather and organise themselves Mindful of troubling changes in Earth Systems all the authors argue from empirics They show that processes of landscape change are always both habitual and laden with choices That is landscape change is political Undoubtedly landscape politics is bound up not just in how nature has been imagined but in long histories of consumption Today an alarming quest for raw materials and energy continues to change both political and geological formations Meanwhile dominant socio political aspirations mean the exploitation of staggering volumes of cheap resources like fossil fuels in order to sustain economic processes that are as taken for granted as they are unsustainable Like anthropology generally this book attends to the contextual details buried in such planet scale pictures Building on traditional anthropological strengths many authors consider the details of how the past is brought into the present or erased from it in material flows and sensory awareness as well as in narratives that are explicitly linked to particular landscapes Colonial identity formation and the different ways that it links with how landscape is viewed and managed for instance for resource development for a global market whether in Southern Africa Israel Palestine the Canadian arctic or Indonesia is a particularly striking example of how to talk about landscape is also to talk about past present and future And as the idea that we inhabit the Anthropocene becomes commonplace the discipline can meaningfully discuss the current era as one of disavowed ruins as well as of poorly understood multispecies relations To think of landscape as historically produced across multiple scales does not mean ignoring its sensuous qualities let alone its role in cosmological systems On the contrary the analyses in the collection attend to the ways people s movements through the landscape produce it as a material and conceptual resource Taken together the book s ethnographic analyses take on board the unprecedented conditions under which people everywhere are having to make sense and forge relationships to the worlds they inhabit Since landscapes are not what they used to be neither can anthropology be

Ideology and Landscape in Historical

Perspective Alan R. H. Baker, Gideon Biger, 2006-03-16 Landscapes of material are also landscapes of meaning In this book fifteen historical geographers examine landscapes as messages to be decoded as signs to be deciphered The essays are principally concerned with the ideologies of religion and of politics of Church and of state and their historical impress upon the landscape

Geography and Imperialism, 1820-1940 Morag Bell, 1995 An examination of how European imperialism was facilitated and challenged from 1820 to 1920 With reference to geographical science the authors add to multi disciplinary debates on the complex cultural ideological and intellectual bases of European imper

Integrated Landscape Approaches for Africa's Drylands Erin Gray, Norbert Henninger, Chris Reij, Robert Winterbottom, Paola Agostini, 2016-08-23

Integrated Landscape Approaches for Africa s Drylands presents emerging findings on the importance of moving beyond single sector interventions to embrace integrated landscape management that takes into account the health of the ecosystems that support human livelihoods and contribute to the resilience of rural communities in Sub Saharan African drylands Integrated landscape management is particularly important for these drylands because people depend on production systems that are frequently disrupted by exogenous shocks such as drought The ecological and economic evidence presented in this book shows that integrated landscape management can enhance efforts to invest in tree based systems and improved livestock management and support productivity increases for rain fed cropping Integrated landscape management efforts have helped to coordinate the actions of multiple land users and other stakeholders reduced conflicts and improved overall governance of water land and other resources Integrated landscape management is thus a useful approach to enhance the intensification of dryland cropping systems and will in many locations but not always result in multiple wins including improved farm productivity water benefits at the farm and landscape levels carbon sequestration biodiversity and other ecosystem services benefits and higher climate resilience Various policies and related interventions can be used to trigger and accelerate the scaling up of these benefits through integrated landscape management across Sub Saharan African drylands to restore and increase household and ecological resilience Policies are needed to develop the framework conditions necessary to both initiate new programs and modify and scale up existing restoration and resilience efforts The book highlights policy options covering six broad intervention areas 1 Clarify land rights and responsibilities 2 Encourage multistakeholder involvement and collective action 3 Overcome institutional barriers to integrated landscape management 4 Create conditions for adaptive planning and management 5 Create mechanisms and supporting policies for sustainable and long term financing of integrated landscape management and 6 Invest in a solid evidence base and knowledge sharing platforms for integrated landscape management

Peter A. Minang, Meine van Noordwijk, Olivia E. Freeman, Cheikh Mbow, Jan de Leeuw, Delia

Catacutan, 2014-11-30 Climate Smart Landscapes Multifunctionality in Practice is about a landscape approach to achieving multiple climate social development and environmental objectives It builds on climate smart landscapes as a growing platform and pathway towards achieving multifunctionality This book in 27 chapters draws strongly from practices methods examples and considerations for applying landscape approaches to achieve multifunctional outcomes and in particular address the complex challenge of climate change http://asb.cgiar.org/sites/default/files/count\_click.php?id=2

Memory and Cultural Landscape at the Khami World Heritage Site, Zimbabwe

Ashton Sinamai, 2018-10-10 This book focuses on a forgotten place the Khami World Heritage site in Zimbabwe It examines how professionally ascribed values and conservation priorities affect the cultural landscape when there is a disjuncture between local community and national interests and explores the epistemic violence that often accompanied colonial heritage management and archaeology in southern Africa The central premise is that the history of the modern Zimbabwe nation in terms of what is officially remembered and celebrated inevitably determines how that past is managed It is about how places are experienced and remembered through narratives and how the loss of this heritage memory may mark the uninheriting of place Memory and Cultural Landscape at the Khami World Heritage Site Zimbabwe is informed by the author's experience of living near and working at Great Zimbabwe and Khami as an archaeologist and uses archives and traditional narratives to build a biography for this lost cultural landscape Whereas Great Zimbabwe is a resource for the state's contentious narrative of unity and a tool for cultural activism among communities whose cultural rights are denied through the nationalisation and globalisation heritage at

Khami which has lost its historical gravity there is only silence Researchers and students of cultural heritage will find this book a much needed case study on heritage identity community and landscape from an African perspective     Planetary Hinterlands Pamila Gupta,Sarah Nuttall,Esther Peeren,Hanneke Stuit,2023-11-09 This open access book considers the concept of the hinterland as a crucial tool for understanding the global and planetary present as a time defined by the lasting legacies of colonialism increasing labor precarity under late capitalist regimes and looming climate disasters Traditionally seen to serve a colonial port or market town the hinterland here becomes a lens to attend to the times and spaces shaped and experienced across the received categories of the urban rural wilderness or nature In straddling these categories the concept of the hinterland foregrounds the human and more than human lively processes and forms of care that go on even in sites defined by capitalist extraction and political abandonment Bringing together scholars from the humanities and social sciences the book rethinks hinterland materialities affectivities and ecologies across places and cultural imaginations Global North and South urban and rural and land and water
