South Africa's Security Dilemmas Washington Papers Paperback:

South Africa's Security Dilemmas Christopher Coker, 1987-08-10 This book looks at South Africa's military future. It specifically examines the military problems which South Africa will face over the next decade. According to the author, South Africa is a colossus with feet of clay. He points out that South Africa will have problems because of service morale deficiency of equipment and performance of the defense sector. He also discusses how the West has taken for granted South Africa's alignment with the Western World and its ramifications. Finally, Coker shows that South Africa's security dilemmas are largely of its own making. He concludes that choices between roles have been avoided for far too long and some hard decisions will have to be made. This new book looks at South Africa's military future. Shaun Johnson, 1989 This study of contemporary South Africa focuses thematically on the major political contestants, interest groups and power brokers in that country. The book attempts to provide an introduction to aspects of contemporary South African politics and an insight into its many forms of resistance. Limits of Soviet Power Edward A. Kolodziej, Roger E.

Kanet, 2015-12-25 An evaluation of Soviet efforts to penetrate the major regions in the southern hemisphere concluding that success has been modest and continues to be costly. It is suggested that a world society could emerge based on socio-economic and political competition rather than conflict and arms races. CSIS Africa Notes, 1988 Region-Building in Southern Africa Chris Saunders, Gwinyayi Albert Dzinesa, Dawn Nagar, 2013-07-04 How successful have Southern African states been in dealing with the major issues that have faced the region in recent years? What could be done to produce more cohesive and effective region building in Southern Africa? In this original and wide-ranging volume, which draws on an interdisciplinary team of mainly African and African-based specialists, the key political, socio-economic and security challenges facing Southern Africa today are addressed. These include the various issues confronting the Southern African Development Community (SADC) and its institutions, such as HIV/AIDS, migration and xenophobia, land grabbing and climate change, and the role of the main external actors involved with the region, including the United Nations, the European Union, the United States and China. The book also looks at the Southern African Customs Union and Southern African Development Finance Institutions, including the Development Bank of Southern Africa and Industrial Development Corporation, and issues of gender and peacebuilding. In doing so, the book goes to the heart of analyzing the effectiveness of SADC and other regional organisations, suggesting how region building in Southern Africa may be compared with similar attempts elsewhere in Africa.

The book concludes with an assessment of the complexities surrounding responses to security privatization and an exploration of when and whether it should be promoted rather than prevented BOOK JACKET      A Current Bibliography on African Affairs ,1989      Food Security in Africa Alexander Sarris,2010-01-01 As they often do Jamie Morrison and Alexander Sarris have provided researchers policy makers and the interested public with the firm empirical grounding needed for sound agricultural development policies They have synthesized from a rich and varied set of country studies a unique contribution to one of the key challenges of our times increasing the productivity of smallholder food production in the age of globalization Timothy A Wise Tufts University US Food security has been a major concern in Africa for decades and a more pressing problem with recent increases in food prices The editors and contributors to this volume are experts in the field and should be commended for a timely informative and in places challenging analysis of food production and markets in eastern and southern Africa The volume brings a refreshing variety of theoretical analytical and informed case study approaches to bear on the food security problem it should be read by anybody seriously interested in African development Oliver Morrissey University of Nottingham UK Drawing on insights from theoretical applications empirically based approaches and case study experience this book contributes to the improved design and use of trade and related policy interventions in staple food markets Trade policy interventions have a potentially critical role to play in the development of staple food markets in developing countries and as a source of revenue in wider processes of rural development Governments have long defended trade and related policy interventions in staple food markets on the basis of food security concerns However the design and implementation of these policies has often resulted in unintended impacts increasing the risks faced by private sector actors and reducing their incentives for investment in improved market performance In the context of increasingly volatile staple food markets this book commissioned from leading experts in this field seeks to enhance dialogue between stakeholders involved in and affected by the design and use of trade and related policy interventions This significant book will appeal to policy analysts and decision makers influential in the design and implementation of trade and related market interventions as well as students of development economics Researchers contributing to debates on the use and impacts of trade and related market interventions in staple food markets in poor countries will also find this volume of great benefit      Revisiting Targeting in Social Assistance Margaret Grosh,Phillippe Leite,Matthew Wai-Poi,Emil Tesliuc,2022-06-02 Targeting is a commonly used but much debated policy tool within global social assistance practice Revisiting Targeting in Social Assistance A New Look at Old Dilemmas examines the well known dilemmas in light of the growing body of experience new implementation capacities and the potential to bring new data and data science to bear The book begins by considering why or whether or how narrowly or broadly to target different parts of social assistance and updates the global empirics around the outcomes and costs of targeting It illustrates the choices that must be made in moving from an abstract vision to implementable definitions and procedures and in deciding how the choices should be informed by values empirics and context The importance of delivery systems and processes to distributional outcomes are emphasized and many facets with room for improvement are discussed The book also explores the choices between targeting methods and how differences in purposes and contexts shape those The know how with respect to the data and inference used by the different household specific targeting methods is summarized and comprehensively updated including a focus on big data and machine learning A primer on measurement issues is included Key findings include the following Targeting selected categories families or individuals plays a valuable role within the framework of universal social protection Measuring the accuracy and cost of targeting can be done in many ways and judicious choices require a range of metrics Weighing the relatively low costs of targeting against the potential gains is important Implementing inclusive delivery systems is critical for reducing errors of exclusion and inclusion Selecting and customizing the appropriate targeting method depends on purpose and context there is no method preferred in all circumstances Leveraging advances in technology ICT big data artificial intelligence machine learning can improve targeting accuracy but they are not a panacea better data matters more than sophistication in inference Targeting social protection should be a dynamic process Human

Development Report 2005 United Nations Development Programme,2005 The Human Development Report 2005 examines the scale of the challenge facing the world at the start of the ten year countdown to the 2015 Millennium Development Goals mark The Report focuses on three pillars of cooperation each of which is in urgent need of renovation The first pillar is international aid the Millennium Development Goals MDGs project has been compromised by chronic and sustained under financing allied to problems in aid quality The second pillar is international trade Under the right conditions trade can act as a powerful catalyst for human development The development round of World Trade Organization talks launched in 2001 provided northern governments with an opportunity to create those conditions The third pillar is that of security violent conflict is a source of systematic human rights violation and a barrier to progress towards the MDGs that must be overcome

Governing Land for Women and Men Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,2018-10-04 Gender equality is one of the ten core principles of the Voluntary Guidelines on the Responsible Governance of Tenure of Land Fisheries and Forests in the Context of National Food Security This guide aims to assist in its implementation through the achievement of responsible gender equitable governance of land tenure The guide focuses on equity and on how land tenure can be governed in ways that address the different needs and priorities of women and men Gender equitable governance of land tenure ensures that women and men can participate equally in their relationships to land through both formal institutions and informal arrangements for land administration and management The guide provides advice on mechanisms strategies and actions that can be adopted to improve gender equity in the processes institutions and activities of land tenure governance Corporate Warriors P. W. Singer,2011-06-16 Some have claimed that War is too important to be left to the generals but P W Singer asks What about the business executives Breaking out of the guns for hire mold of traditional mercenaries corporations now sell skills and services that until recently only state militaries possessed Their products range from trained commando teams to strategic advice from generals This new Privatized Military Industry encompasses hundreds of companies thousands of employees and billions of dollars in revenue Whether as proxies or suppliers such firms have participated in wars in Africa Asia the Balkans and Latin America More recently they have become a key element in U S military operations Private corporations working for profit now sway the course of national and international conflict but the consequences have been little explored In this book Singer provides the first account of the military services industry and its broader implications Corporate Warriors includes a description of how the business works as well as portraits of each of the basic types of companies military providers that offer troops for tactical operations military consultants that supply expert advice and training and military support companies that sell logistics intelligence and engineering In an updated edition of P W Singer s classic account of the military services industry and its broader implications the author describes the continuing importance of that industry in the Iraq War This conflict has amply borne out Singer s argument that the privatization of warfare allows startling new capabilities and efficiencies in the ways that war is carried out At the same time however Singer finds that the introduction of the profit motive onto the battlefield raises troubling questions for democracy for ethics for management for human rights and for national security     Routledge Handbook of African Security James J.

Hentz,2013-08-22 This new Handbook examines the issues challenges and debates surrounding the problem of security in Africa Africa is home to most of the world s current conflicts and security is a key issue However African security can only be understood by employing different levels of analysis the individual human security the state national state security and the region regional international security Each of these levels provides analytical tools for understanding what could be called the African security predicament and these debates are animated by the new security issues immigration small arms transfers gangs and domestic crime HIV AIDS transnational crime poverty and environmental degradation African security therefore not only presents concrete challenges for international security but provides a real world context for challenging conventional conceptions of security Drawing together contributions from a wide range of key thinkers in the field the Routledge Handbook of African Security engages with these debates and is organized into four parts Part I The African security predicament in the twenty first century Part II Understanding conflict in Africa Part III Regionalism and Africa Part IV External influences This Handbook will be of great interest to students of African politics human security global security war and conflict studies peacebuilding and IR in general     Africa: Still Rising? Giovanni Carbone,2015-10-30 After decades of unsatisfying performances economic growth took off in many sub Saharan states at the beginning of the 21st century More recently however the end of the commodity cycle particularly with the oil price drop and the rise of jihadist violence rocked the Emerging Africa boat Is this the beginning of the end for sustained growth in the region This Report investigates the economic impact of these new challenges upon Africa's frontier markets. It shows that the positive economic trajectory of recent years is being negatively affected particularly for oil exporting countries. However, while more caution is needed, Africa's growth prospects on the whole remain fairly good at least for now. But there is an increasing need to understand the specific risks that individual countries face and the opportunities that they offer as well as to reassess the potential of each specific sector of economic activity. The three largest economies in the region, Nigeria, South Africa and Angola, are all under pressure. Others including Ethiopia, Mozambique and Kenya are still projected to achieve remarkable growth rates.

Southern African Development Community Land Issues Ben Chigara, 2013-03-01. This book constitutes volume one of a two-volume examination of development community land issues in Southern Africa. In this volume, Ben Chigara undertakes a holistic interdisciplinary evaluation of the legitimacy of colonial and emergent post-colonial rule, property rights in affected States of the Southern African Development Community (SADC). It particularly focuses on intensifying litigation in national courts, the SADC Tribunal and more recently the Washington-based International Centre for the Settlement of Investment Disputes (ICSID) regarding counter-claims to title to property. The book examines cultural, economic and political drivers at the core of SADC land issues, focusing on their significance and potential to contribute to the discovery of a new sustainable land relations policy that guarantees social justice in the distribution of all the advantages and disadvantages relating to the allocation and use of land. Chigara shows that persistent systematic administrative failures by pre-colonial, colonial and post-colonial authorities have made for a very complex challenge that requires Solomonic tools that neither the Courts alone nor human rights-centric morality alone could resolutely attend. The book recommends a sophisticated systematic new approach to SADC land issues which is developed in volume two, Re-conceiving Property Rights in the New Millennium. This book will be of great interest to students and researchers of Property and Conveyancing Law, Human Rights Law and Land Law.

Securing Development Bernard Harborne, William Dorotinsky, Paul M. Bisca, 2017-03-01. Securing Development: Public Finance and the Security Sector highlights the role of public finance in the delivery of security and criminal justice services. This book offers a framework for analyzing public financial management, financial transparency and oversight as well as expenditure policy issues that determine how to most appropriately manage security and justice services. The interplay among security, justice and public finance is still a relatively unexplored area of development. Such a perspective can help security actors provide more professional, effective and efficient security and justice services for citizens while also strengthening systems for accountability. The book is the result of a project undertaken jointly by staff from the World Bank and the United Nations, integrating the disciplines where each institution holds a comparative advantage and a core mandate. The primary audience includes government officials bearing both security and financial responsibilities, staff of international organizations working on public expenditure management and security sector issues, academics and development practitioners working in an advisory capacity.

Regional Security in the Asia Pacific

Marika Vicziany, David P. Wright-Neville, Peter Lentini, 2004-03-25 The September 2001 terrorist attacks shocked the world. But what did they change? In this book Asia specialists from academe and policy think tanks assess the impact of 9/11 on the Asia Pacific. Drawing on unique fieldwork, access to a wide range of documents and inside expertise, the authors consider how old geo-strategic and cultural fault lines have been overlaid with new security threats from state and non-state actors. With chapters on specific countries and regions, defense policies, terrorism and current and potential conflict zones, this collection critically examines the Asia Pacific region's post-9/11 as well as post-Iraq war security architecture. The Samaritan's Dilemma Clark C. Gibson, Krister Andersson, The late Elinor Ostrom, Sujai Shivakumar, 2005-09-08 What's wrong with foreign aid? Many policymakers, aid practitioners and scholars have called into question its ability to increase economic growth, alleviate poverty or promote social development. At the macro level, only tenuous links between development aid and improved living conditions have been found. At the micro level, only a few programs outlast donor support and even fewer appear to achieve lasting improvements. The authors of this book argue that much of aid's failure is related to the institutions that structure its delivery. These institutions govern the complex relationships between the main actors in the aid delivery system and often generate a series of perverse incentives that promote inefficient and unsustainable outcomes. In their analysis, the authors apply the theoretical insights of the new institutional economics to several settings. First, they investigate the institutions of Sida, the Swedish aid agency, to analyze how that aid agency's institutions can produce incentives inimical to desired outcomes, contrary to the desires of its own staff. Second, the authors use cases from India, a country with low aid dependence, and Zambia, a country with high aid dependence, to explore how institutions on the ground in recipient countries also mediate the effectiveness of aid. Throughout the book, the authors offer suggestions about how to improve aid's effectiveness. These suggestions include how to structure evaluations in order to improve outcomes, how to employ agency staff to gain from their on-the-ground experience, and how to engage stakeholders as owners in the design, resource mobilization, learning and evaluation processes of development assistance programs. Handbook of African Development Tony Binns, Kenneth Lynch, Etienne Nel, 2018-04-27 This handbook presents an extensive new overview of African development, past, present and future. It addresses key core themes and topics that are pertinent to the continent's development, including sections on history, health and food, politics, economics, rural and urban development and development policy and practice. The volume draws on the expertise of over 60 of the world's leading scholars to provide a detailed and up-to-date analysis of the key opportunities and challenges that confront Africa and how such issues are being addressed. Arranged by key themes, the handbook provides not only a historical understanding of the past but also political perspectives on the future. The chapters provide critically informed analyses of their topics by drawing upon the latest conceptual viewpoints and applied experiences in Africa in the form of case studies to offer a comprehensive examination of the opportunities, challenges, key debates and future prospects. This handbook is an invaluable state-of-the-art overview and reference concerning many different aspects of Africa's development which will be of interest to academics in all fields of African studies and also academics and students working in cognate disciplines such as development studies geography history politics and economics
