Washington and Baltimore Art Deco Richard Striner, Melissa Blair, 2014-04-30 Art Deco buildings still lift their modernist principles and streamlined chrome into the skies of Baltimore and Washington D C Second Place Winner of the Design and Effectiveness Award of the Washington Publishers The bold lines and decorative details of Art Deco have stood the test of time since one of its first appearances in the International Exhibition of Modern Decorative and Industrial Arts in Paris in 1925 Reflecting the confidence of modern mentality streamlined chrome and glossy black along with simple elegance sharp lines and cosmopolitan aspirations Art Deco carried surprises juxtaposing designs growing out of speed racecars and airplanes with ancient Egyptian and Mexican details visual references to Russian ballet and allusions to Asian art While most often associated with such masterworks as New York's Chrysler Building Art Deco is evident in the architecture of many U S cities including Washington and Baltimore By updating the findings of two regional studies from the 1980s with new research Richard Striner and Melissa Blair explore the most significant Art Deco buildings still standing and mourn those that have been lost This comparative study illuminates contrasts between the white collar New Deal capital and the blue collar industrial port city while noting such striking commonalities as the regional patterns of Baltimore's John Jacob Zinc who designed Art Deco cinemas in both cities Uneven preservation efforts have allowed significant losses but surviving examples of Art Deco architecture include the Bank of America building in Baltimore now better known as 10 Light Street and the Uptown Theater on Connecticut Avenue NW in Washington Although possibly less glamorous or flamboyant than exemplars in New York or Miami the authors find these structures along with apartment houses and government buildings typical of the Deco architecture found throughout the United States and well worth preserving Demonstrating how an international design movement found its way into ordinary places this study will appeal to architectural historians as well as regional residents

Beyond the Architect's Eye Mary N. Woods, 2013-12-11 Typical architectural photography freezes buildings in an ideal moment and rarely captures what photographer Berenice Abbott called the medium's power to depict how the past jostled the present In Beyond the Architect's Eye Mary N Woods expands on this range of images through a rich analysis that commingles art amateur and documentary photography genres usually not considered architectural but that often take the built environment as their subject Woods explores how photographers used their built environment to capture the disparate American landscapes prior to World War II when urban and rural areas grew further apart in the face of skyscrapers massive industrialization and profound cultural shifts Central to this study is the work of Alfred Stieglitz Frances Benjamin Johnston and Marion Post Wolcott but Woods weaves a wider narrative that also includes Alice Austen Gertrude Kasebier Berenice Abbott Margaret Bourke White Helen Levitt Lisette Model Louise Dahl Wolfe Morgan and Marvin Smith Eudora Welty Samuel Gottscho Walker Evans Max Waldman and others In such disparate places as New York City the rural South and the burgeoning metropolis of Miami these unconventional architectural photographers observed buildings as deeply connected to their context Whereas Stieglitz captured New York as the quintessential modern urban landscape in the period the South was its opposite a land supposedly frozen in the past Yet just as this myth of the Old South crystallized in photographs like Johnston's a New South shaped by popular culture and modern industry arose Miami embodied both of these visions In Wolcott's work agricultural fields where stoop labor persisted were juxtaposed with Art Deco hotels a popular modernism of the machine age that remade Miami Beach into a miniaturized Manhattan on the beach Beyond the Architect's Eye is a groundbreaking study that melds histories of American art cities and architecture with visual studies of landscape photography and cultural geography
