Language, Nation and Development in Southeast Asia Lee Hock Guan,Leo Suryadinata,2007 Papers from a workshop on Language Nation and Development in Southeast Asia held in Singapore 2003 Insular Southeast Asia: a Bibliographic Survey United States. Department of the Army,1971 Vietnam, an Annotated Bibliography ,1968 Cultures at War Tony Day,Maya H. T. Liem,2018-08-06 The Cold War in Southeast Asia was a many faceted conflict driven by regional historical imperatives as much as by the contest between global superpowers The essays in this book offer the most detailed and probing examination to date of the cultural dimension of the Cold War in Southeast Asia Southeast Asian culture from the late 1940s to the late 1970s was primarily shaped by a long standing search for national identity and independence which took place in the context of intense rivalry between the United States and the Soviet Union with the Peoples Republic of China emerging in 1949 as another major international competitor for influence in Southeast Asia Based on fieldwork in Burma Indonesia Laos Malaysia the Philippines Singapore Thailand and Vietnam the essays in this collection analyze the ways in which art literature film theater spectacle physical culture and the popular press represented Southeast Asian responses to the Cold War and commemorated that era s violent conflicts long after tensions had subsided Southeast Asian cultural reactions to the Cold War involved various solutions to the dilemmas of the newly independent nation states of the region. What is common to all of the perspectives and works examined in this book is that they expressed social and aesthetic concerns that both antedated and outlasted the Cold War ones that never became simply aligned with the ideologies of either bloc.

Race and British Colonialism in Southeast Asia, 1770-1870
 Gareth Knapman, 2016-10-14. The idea of race played an increasing role in nineteenth century British colonial thought. For most of the nineteenth century, John Crawfurd towered over British colonial policy in South East Asia, being not only a colonial administrator, journalist, and professional lobbyist, but also one of the key racial theorists in the British Empire. He approached colonialism as a radical liberal, proposing universal voting for all races in British colonies and believing all races should have equal legal rights. Yet at the same time, he also believed that races represented distinct species of people who were unrelated. This book charts the development of Crawfurd's ideas from the brief but dramatic period of British rule in Java to his political campaigns against James Brooke and British rule in Borneo. Central to Crawfurd's political battles were the debates he had with his contemporaries, such as Stamford Raffles and William Marsden, over the importance of race and his broader challenge to universal ideas of history, which questioned the racial unity of humanity. The book taps into little explored manuscripts, newspapers, and writings to uncover the complexity of a leading nineteenth century political and racial thinker whose actions and ideas provide a new view of British liberal colonial and racial thought. Southeast Asia

Christoph Antweiler, 2004. The Politics of Religion in South and Southeast Asia
 Ishtiaq Ahmed, 2011-05-04. The notion of a politics of religion refers to the increasing role that religion plays in the politics of the contemporary world. This book presents comparative country case studies on the politics of religion in South and South Asia, including India, Pakistan, and Indonesia. The politics of religion calls into question the relevance of modernist notions of secularism and democracy, with the emphasis instead on going back to indigenous roots in search of authentic ideologies and models of state and nation building. Within the context of the individual countries, chapters focus on the consequences that politics of religion has on inclusive nation building, democracy, and the rights of individuals, minorities, and women. The book makes a contribution to both the theoretical and conceptual literature on the politics of religion, as well as shed light on the implications and ramifications of the politics of religion on contemporary South Asian and South East Asian countries. It is of interest to students and scholars of South and South East Asian Studies, as well as Comparative Politics. Asian Migration and New Racism

Sylvia Ang, Elaine Lynn-Ee Ho, Brenda S.A. Yeoh, 2022-10-20. Studies of racism against migrants have recently attempted to move away from the presumed dichotomy between white and Others, yet the focus of much research remains predominantly trained on white people racializing Others whether Black Asian or Muslim Attending only to this white Other binary homogenises select groups of non white including Asians This approach also ignores racialisation and racism by Asians and among Asians Consequently there is a dearth of studies on issues of race in non white settings Through engaging the themes of co ethnicity intersectionality and postcoloniality this book contributes to extant studies of migration in three ways through 1 examining new geographical sites of racialisation and racism 2 illuminating racialisation and racism beyond the white Others binary and 3 introducing new dynamics in racialisation and racist discourses including intersectional factors such as nationality class gender language religion temporal framings and postcoloniality Asian Migration and New Racism will be of interest to scholars and advanced students of Sociology Social and Political Geography Social Anthropology History and Politics The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Ethnic and Racial Studies Southeast Asia David G. Hunt, 1972
