The Laser Disc Newsletter ,1997 Movie Roadshows Kim R. Holston,2013-01-01 This work examines a film distribution system paralleling the rise of early features and persisting until 1972 when Man of La Mancha was the final roadshow to require reserved seating. Synonymous with Hollywood's star-studded premieres, roadshows were longer and cost more than regular features, making the experience similar to attending the legitimate theater. Roadshows often epic in subject matter, played selected usually only one theaters in major urban centers until demand decreased. De rigueur by the 1960s were musical overtures, intermissions, entre acte and exit music and souvenir programs for sale in the lobby. Throughout the text are recollections by people who attended roadshows including actor John Kerr and actresses Barbara Eden and Ingrid Pitt. The focus is on roadshows released in the United States but an appendix identifies international roadshows and films forecast but not released as roadshows. Included are plots, contemporary critical reaction, premiere dates, production background and methods of promotion i.e. the ballyhoo.

The Encyclopedia of Epic Films Constantine Santas, James M. Wilson, Maria Colavito, Djoymi Baker, 2014-03-21 Soon after film came into existence the term epic was used to describe productions that were lengthy, spectacular, live with action and often filmed in exotic locales with large casts and staggering budgets. The effort and extravagance needed to mount an epic film paid off handsomely at the box office for the genre became an immediate favorite with audiences. Epic films survived the tribulations of two world wars and the Depression and have retained the basic characteristics of size and glamour for more than a hundred years. Length was and still is one of the traits of the epic though monolithic three to four hour spectacles like Gone with the Wind 1939 and Lawrence of Arabia 1962 have been replaced today by such franchises as the Harry Potter films and the Lord of the Rings trilogy. Although the form has evolved during many decades of existence its central elements have been retained, refined and modernized to suit the tastes of every new generation. The Encyclopedia of Epic Films identifies, describes and analyzes those films that meet the criteria of the epic: sweeping drama, panoramic landscapes, lengthy adventure sequences and in many cases casts of thousands. This volume looks at the wide variety of epics produced over the last century from the silent spectacles of D.W. Griffith and biblical melodramas of Cecil B. DeMille to the historical dramas of David Lean and rollercoaster thrillers of Steven Spielberg. Each entry contains: Major personnel behind the camera including directors and screenwriters; Cast and character listings; Plot summary; Analysis; Academy Award wins and nominations; DVD and Blu-ray availability; Resources for further study. This volume also includes appendixes of foreign epics, superhero spectaculars and epics produced for television along with a list of all the directors in the book. Despite a lack of overall critical recognition and respect as a genre, the epic remains a favorite of audiences and this book pays homage to a form of mass entertainment that continues to fill movie theaters. The Encyclopedia of Epic Films will be of interest to academics and scholars as well as any fan of films made on a grand scale.

between rival studios every Mary Pickford new release in 1914 was met with a Pickford re release For 50 years after the Silent Era reissues were a battle between the studios who considered old movies found money and cinema owners who often saw audiences reject former box office hits In the mid 1960s the return of The Bridge on the River Kwai 1957 the second biggest reissue of all time altered industry perceptions and James Bond double features pushed the revival market to new heights In the digital age reissues have continued to confound the critics This is the untold hundred year story of how old movies saved new Hollywood Covering the booms and busts of a recycling business that became its own industry the author describes how the likes of Charlie Chaplin Humphrey Bogart and Alfred Hitchcock won over new generations of audiences and explores the lasting appeal of films like Napoleon 1927 Gone with the Wind 1939 The Rocky Horror Show 1975 and Blade Runner 1982
