Mapping International Student Mobility Between Africa and China Benjamin Mulvey, 2023-12-27 This book examines an emergent pattern of international student mobility that of international students from across the African continent who are enrolled on degree programmes at Chinese universities China is among the most popular destination countries for African students yet there has been little research to date into this emergent mobility pattern Drawing on data from a series of interviews the book focuses on the specific modalities of integration into the global economy of both the sending region and the host country and examines how these shape the decision making experiences and future aspirations of mobile students It also highlights how incipient flows of international student migrants such as those between various African countries and China are calling into question a number of the axioms around the study of international study mobility that were developed with reference to more established migration patterns which tend to flow from other regions to the West These include for example the idea that international students are generally privileged members of the global middle class who seek an education abroad as part of a strategy to accumulate cultural capital and reproduce social privilege This novel work is of interest to researchers in human geography sociology development studies migration studies and particularly those studying China Africa relations

Carl Saxer, 2013-08-21 In 1987 South Korea began a democratic transition after almost three decades of significant economic development under authoritarian rule Increased civil unrest caused by dissatisfaction resulted in the regime agreeing to constitutional changes in the summer of 1987 By 1992 the first president without a military background was elected and during his tenure a further deepening of democracy took place These reforms were instrumental in making it possible that in 1997 for the first time in South Korean history an opposition candidate was elected president This book examines the initial transition and later attempts at consolidating democracy in South Korea and argues that although significant progress had been made and a power alternation achieved by late 1997 South Korea could not by the end of that decade 1987-97 be considered a consolidated democracy Crossing Borders in East Asian Higher Education David W. Chapman, William K. Cummings, Gerard A. Postiglione, 2010-11-18 This book examines issues that have emerged as higher education systems and individual institutions across East Asia confront and adapt to the changing economic social and educational environments in which they now operate The book s focus is on how higher education systems learn from each other and on the ways in which they collaborate to address new challenges The sub theme that runs through this volume concerns the changing nature of cross border sharing In particular the provision of technical assistance by more industrialized countries to lower and middle income countries has given way to collaborations that place the latter s participating institutions on a more equal footing precincts of Daitoku ji monastery in Kyoto the Shoko ken is a late medieval daime sukiya Japanese tea house It is attributed to Hosokawa Tadaoki also known as Hosokawa Sansai an aristocrat and daimyo military leader and a disciple and friend of Sen no Riky This work is an extremely thorough look at one of the few remaining tea houses of the Momoyama era tea masters who studied with Sen no Rikyu The English language sources on Hosokawa Sansai and his tea houses have been exhaustively researched Many facts and minute observations have been brought together to give even the reader unfamiliar with Tea a sense of the presence which the tea house still manifests Changing Educational Contexts, Issues and Identities Michael Crossley, Patricia Broadfoot, Michele Schweisfurth, 2007-01-24 Documenting major intellectual and paradigmatic changes in the field of comparative education in the light of the history and development of the journal Comparative Education this book compiles a selection of articles from forty years of the journal s distinguished history It illustrates how changing times have been reflected in the nature and quality of published comparative research Contributors explore the impact of key issues such as marketisation accountability and globalisation upon policy and practice world wide They explore how new challenges faced by the social sciences have seen shifts in the contexts issues and priorities attended to by comparatives and how different approaches to comparative education have influenced the intellectual and professional identities and positioning of those involved Bridging theoretically oriented scholarship with empirically grounded research relating to issues of policy and practice and with chapters addressing questions of relevance throughout the world this book is an invaluable resource of ideas and stimuli for further thinking and research ANALYSIS OF INTERNATIONAL SOCIAL POLICIES JULIEN BOKILO, 2021-12-13 Main idea Contribution of transnational transfers in the construction of national social policies Through the main idea of the book we begin by defining the notion of decline to identify consequences of the decline of political authority with regard to social problems to better analyze the importance of the address of countries in development path towards international donors In addition we used Policy Transfer Studies PTS to show how the contributions of transnational transfers on the development of national social policies are considered as the lever for the integration of developing countries But in other words these countries are considered as the places of fixation where interdependencies between public and private actors are consolidated where rules of action are negotiated thanks to the agreements conventions which we have analyzed throughout through two types of partnership namely bilateral and multilateral through public public public private private private INGO International Institution partnerships Finally we carried out an evaluation in order to subsequently identify some perspectives encouraged by transnational contributions on the social policies of developing countries How China Sees the World John M. Friend, Bradley A. Thayer, 2018 Han centrism a virulent form of Chinese nationalism asserts that the Han Chinese are superior to other peoples and have a legitimate right to advance Chinese interests at the expense of other countries Han nationalists have called for policies that will allow China to reclaim the prosperity stolen by foreign powers during the Century of Humiliation The growth of Chinese capabilities and Han centrism suggests that the United States its allies and other countries in Asia will face an increasingly assertive China and also one that thinks it possesses a right to dominate international politics John M Friend and Bradley A Thayer explore the roots of the growing Han nationalist group and the implications of Chinese hypernationalism for minorities within China and for international relations The deeply rooted chauvinism and social Darwinism underlying Han centrism along with China s rapid growth threaten the current stability of international politics making national and international competition and conflict over security more likely Western thinkers have yet to consider the adverse implications of a hypernationalistic China as opposed to the policies of a pragmatic China were it to become the world s dominant state
