South West Wearing A Continuum:

Archaeozoology of Southwest Asia and Adjacent Areas XIII Remi Berthon, Julie Daujat, Angelos

Hadjikoumis, 2021-11-01 Southwest Asia is at the epicenter of zooarchaeological research on pivotal changes in human history such as animal domestication and the emergence of social complexity. This volume continues the long tradition of the ASWA conference series in publishing new research results in the zooarchaeology of southwest Asia and adjacent areas. The book is organized in three thematic areas. The first presents new methodological tools and approaches in the study of animal remains exemplified through studies on domestication, butchery practices, microdebris, intrasite contextual comparisons, and age at death recording. Besides offering interesting insights into our past, these methodological developments enable higher resolution for future research. The second section focuses on the subsistence economies of prehistoric and early complex societies and provides new insights into how animal management developed in southwest Asia. The third section includes intriguing new research results on the roles of animals in the symbolic world of ancient societies such as the meaning of insect figures at Gobekli Tepe, animal cults in Egypt, feasting in Iron Age Oman, and the ornithological interpretation of Byzantine mosaics.

Bioarchaeology of the Southwest Ann L. W. Stodder, Dawn M. Mulhern, 2025-07-01 A wide-ranging synthesis of research illuminating the lives of ancient people who lived in the deserts, mountains, and river valleys of the North American Southwest. The two volumes of Bioarchaeology of the Southwest bring together more than 100 years of research into the lives of the ancient people of the Southwest United States and Northwest Mexico. Featuring contributions from specialists working in academic, museum, and cultural resource management settings, these books make available knowledge from a variety of unpublished sources that have been difficult to access until now. The volume 1 chapters range from Colorado to central New Mexico and the Lower Pecos region of Texas, addressing the bioarchaeology of the Archaic hunters and foragers, the Basketmaker II people, and communities of the Mesa Verde region, Chaco Canyon, the Middle San Juan or Totah region, the Northern Rio Grande, and the Middle Rio Grande. Chapters discuss topics such as morphology and stature, biodistance, paleopathology, dental health, evidence of injuries and violence, and mortuary practice. With chapters representing hundreds of ancient communities dating from the Archaic to the early Historic period, Bioarchaeology of the Southwest demonstrates the range of topics that can be addressed through the contextualized study of human remains, the insights this field offers into the everyday experiences of people in the past, and the challenges and promise of collaborative approaches to this research. Together, these volumes constitute an unparalleled resource for understanding the history of bioarchaeology and critical issues impacting the future of the discipline in the region.

Ethnicity and Religion in Southwest China He Ming,David Lewis,2020-12-22 As China strengthens its links with its neighbours through its Belt and Road initiative there is growing interest in the indigenous peoples of China s western and southwestern borderlands This book based on extensive original research considers the indigenous peoples of Yunnan province which is a major gateway between China and the countries of south and south east Asia Unlike many books on China s indigenous peoples which are written by foreigners who have lived for a while in China this book is comprised of the work of Chinese scholars many of them members of ethnic minorities themselves and considers the issues from a Chinese perspective

Hinterlands and Regional Dynamics in the Ancient Southwest Alan P. Sullivan,James Bayman,2007-01-01 Hinterlands and Regional Dynamics in the Ancient Southwest is the first volume dedicated to understanding the nature of and changes in regional social autonomy political hegemony and organizational complexity across the entire prehistoric American Southwest With geographic coverage extending from the Great Plains to the Colorado River and from Mesa Verde to the international border the volume s ten case studies synthesize research that enhances our understanding of the ancient

Southwest's highly variable demographic land use and economic histories For this volume hinterlands are those areas whose archaeological records do not disclose the ceramic architectural and network evidence that initially led to the establishment of the Hohokam Chaco and Casas Grandes regional systems Employing a variety of perspectives such as the cultural landscapes approach heterarchy and the common pool resource model as well as technical methods such as petrographic and stylistic attribute analyses the volume's contributors explore variation in hinterland identities subsistence ecology and sociopolitical organization as regional systems expanded and contracted between the 9th and 14th centuries AD The hinterlands of the prehistoric Southwest were home to a substantial number of people and were often used as resource catchments by the inhabitants of regional systems Importantly hinterlands also influenced developments of nearby regional systems under whose footprint they managed to retain considerable autonomy By considering the dynamics between hinterlands and regional systems the volume reveals unappreciated aspects of the ancient Southwest's peoples and their lives thereby deepening our awareness of the region's rich and complicated cultural past
