Akerman,2017-06-16 Almost universally newly independent states seek to affirm their independence and identity by making the production of new maps and atlases a top priority For formerly colonized peoples however this process neither begins nor ends with independence and it is rarely straightforward Mapping their own land is fraught with a fresh set of issues how to define and administer their territories develop their national identity establish their role in the community of nations and more The contributors to Decolonizing the Map explore this complicated relationship between mapping and decolonization while engaging with recent theoretical debates about the nature of decolonization itself These essays originally delivered as the 2010 Kenneth Nebenzahl Jr Lectures in the History of Cartography at the Newberry Library encompass more than two centuries and three continents Latin America Africa and Asia Ranging from the late eighteenth century through the mid twentieth contributors study topics from mapping and national identity in late colonial Mexico to the enduring complications created by the partition of British India and the racialized organization of space in apartheid and post apartheid South Africa A vital contribution to studies of both colonization and cartography Decolonizing the Map is the first book to systematically and comprehensively examine the engagement of mapping in the long and clearly unfinished parallel processes of decolonization and nation building in the modern world Access to trade Zhe Guo,Cindy Cox,2014-06-30 The Atlas of African Agriculture Research the many factors shaping the location nature and performance of agricultural enterprises and the strong interdependencies among farming natural resource stocks and flows rural infrastructure and the well being of the poor The Publishers Weekly ,1899

Rural Road Investment Efficiency Gael Raballand,Patricia Macchi,Carly Petracco,2010-03-23 The development aid community has placed a great deal of emphasis on the need for rural mobility in Sub Saharan Africa SSA Thus far most development partners and governments in SSA have relied on two overarching assumptions when dispensing transport aid that most households in rural areas in Africa are not connected to markets and therefore need a road passable for a truck and that roads with high levels of service are crucial in order to achieve high economic impact Based on data collection from various sources in three SSA countries Rural Road Investment Efficiency demonstrates that from a cost benefit perspective the additional cost of extending an all weather road two more kilometers to the farmer s door outweigh the benefits in most cases Rural Road Investment Efficiency seeks to enhance the effectiveness of aid allocated for rural transport in SSA and calls into question the need for full implementation of all benchmarks set forth in the Rural Access Index RAI in SSA This book will be an essential reference for government
