Southern African Literature:

Southern African Literatures Michael J. F. Chapman, 2003 Southern African Literatures is a major study of the work of writers from South Africa Zimbabwe Zambia Malawi Angola Mozambique and Namibia written at a time of crucial change in the subcontinent It covers a wide range of work from the storytelling of stone age Bushmen to modern writing by renowned figures such as Es kia Mphahlele Nadine Gordimer and Andr c Brink encompassing traditional popular and elite writing literature in translation and case studies based on topical issues Michael Chapman argues that literary history in the southern African region is best based on a comparative method which while respecting differences of language race and social circumstance seeks cultural interchange including translations of experience across linguistic and ethnic borders Instead of perpetuating division the study examines points of common reference as it asks what makes a literary culture Who are to be regarded as major and minor authors What are the strengths and limitations of local and international perspectives Should literature in today s southern Africa be confined to the art forms of poems plays and fiction The author seeks to answer these questions vital to all literary discussion in the volatile context of recent southern African history in a style accessible to the general reader The study is republished with a revised Preface in which the author considers the sometimes heated debates that accompanied the book s initial appearance Southern African Literatures in 2000 was awarded the premier Bill Venter Prize for academic literature in South Africa

such as J M Coetzee Nadine Gordimer and Ivan Vladislavic as well as contemporary crime fiction South African Writing in Transition explores how concerns about time and temporality have shaped literary form across the country's literary culture Establishing new connections between leading literary voices and lesser known works the book explores themes of truth and reconciliation disappointment and betrayal The Columbia Guide to South African Literature in English Since 1945 Gareth Cornwell, Dirk Klopper, Craig MacKenzie, 2010 From the outset South Africa's history has been marked by division and conflict along racial and ethnic lines From 1948 until 1994 this division was formalized in the National Party s policy of apartheid Because apartheid intruded on every aspect of private and public life South African literature was preoccupied with the politics of race and social engineering Since the release from prison of Nelson Mandela in 1990 South Africa has been a new nation in the making inspired by a nonracial idealism yet beset by poverty and violence South African writers have responded in various ways to Njabulo Ndebele's call to rediscover the ordinary. The result has been a kaleidoscope of texts in which evolving cultural forms and modes of identity are rearticulated and explored An invaluable guide for general readers as well as scholars of African literary history this comprehensive text celebrates the multiple traditions and exciting future of the South African voice Although the South African Constitution of 1994 recognizes no fewer than eleven official languages English has remained the country's literary lingua franca This book offers a narrative overview of South African literary production in English from 1945 to the postapartheid present An introduction identifies the most interesting and noteworthy writing from the period Alphabetical entries provide accurate and objective information on genres and writers An appendix lists essential authors published before 1945 Death and Compassion Dan Wylie, 2018-10-01 Traces the literary history of the elephant and its role in South Africa's cultural imaginary Elephants are in dire straits again They were virtually extirpated from much of Africa by European hunters in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries but their numbers resurged for a while in the heyday of late colonial conservation efforts in the twentieth Now according to one estimate an elephant is being killed every 15 minutes This is at the same time that the reasons for being especially compassionate and protective towards elephants are now so well known that they have become almost a clich their high intelligence rich emotional lives including a capacity for mourning caring matriarchal societal structures that strangely charismatic grace Saving elephants is one of the iconic conservation struggles of our time As a society we must aspire to understand how and why people develop compassion or fail to do so and what stories we tell ourselves about animals that reveal the relationship between ourselves and animals This book is the first study to probe the primary features and possible effects of some major literary genres as they pertain to elephants south of the Zambezi over three centuries indigenous forms early European travelogues hunting accounts novels game ranger memoirs scientists accounts and poems It examines what these literatures imply about the various and diverse attitudes towards elephants about who shows compassion towards them in what ways and why It is the story of a developing contestation between death and compassion between those who kill and those who love and protect
