Southern Illinois Coal A Portfolio:

Southern Illinois Coal Herbert K. Russell, 2017-06-19 The coal mining photographs of C William Horrell taken across the southern Illinois Coal Belt over a twenty year period from 1966 to 1986 are extraordinary examples of documentary photography so stark and striking that captions often seem superfluous Horrell's photographs capture the varied phenomena of twentieth century coal mining technology the awesome scale of surface mining machines and their impact on the land massive machines forced into narrow passageways with inches to spare as they carry coal from the face to conveyor belts and more significant the advent of continuous miners machines that can handle four previously separate processes and which have been a fixture in underground or deep mines since the mid 1960s Horrell was also intrigued by the related activities of mining including coal's processing cleaning and transportation as well as the daily behind the scenes operations that keep mines and miners working His photographs reflect the beauty of the commonplace the clothes of the miners their dinner pails and their tools and reveal the picturesque remnants of closed mines the weathered boards of company houses the imposing iron beauty of an ancient tippie and an abandoned building against the lowering sky of an approaching storm Finally his portraits of coal miners show the strength dignity and enduring spirit of the men and women who work the southern Illinois coal mines

Foothold on a Hillside Charless Caraway,1986 In a style reminiscent of the master storytellers of yore Charless Caraway recounts the story of his life as a man and a boy on small farms in Saline and Jackson counties particularly around Eldorado Makanda and Etherton Switch He makes no bones about the hardships of those old days first helping his father eke out a living from the land then scrambling for a living as a sharecropper and fruit picker as he scrimped and saved for the day when he and his young wife Bessie Mae Rowan Caraway could buy a piece of land of their own The one room school the general store the trips by wagon over roads that choked you in summer and swallowed you in winter the home that burned all are described in a matter of fact yet moving way Many of the locations buildings and people are represented in equally unromanticized photographs from the family s collection Some of the stories and photos recall the common disasters of the frontier drought flood and the tornado of 1925 It is clear from these stories that each aspect of life exacted a price but the Caraways paid that price without regret and rallied to go on their way Charless and his family and friends fill this book with courage strength and an unshakable faith in the value of human endeavor national experience fades into the past Escape Betwixt Two Suns Carol Pirtle,2000 Although the northern Illinois chapters of the story of Susan Sukey Richardson s escape from slavery on the Underground Railroad are documented the part played by southern Illinois in that historic episode has remained obscure This book changes that by investigating the 1843 suit Andrew Borders lodged against William Hayes charging his neighbor with helping slaves from the Borders estate escape to Galesburg The author documents Hayes s involvement in the Illinois Underground Railroad through approximately two hundred letters received by Hayes from the early 1820s until his death in 1849 Many of these letters specifically corroborate his participation in the escape of slaves from the Borders estate Letters written by Galesburg residents show that several prominent citizens of that community also assisted in the affair proving that Knox College administrators and trustees were active in the Underground Railroad The author also includes excerpts from the trial transcript from the 1844 civil case against Hayes which was tried in Pinckneyville Illinois She researched newspaper accounts of the event most notably those in the Western Citizen and the Sparta Herald Records of the Covenanter Presbyterian church of which Hayes was a member provide partial explanations of Hayes s motives 20 Day Trips in and around the Shawnee National Forest Larry P.
