The English Language In Ireland:

The English Language in Ireland Jeremiah Joseph Hogan, 1927 The English language in the south of Ireland Sarah Prigge, 2004-11-18 Seminar paper from the year 2004 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Linguistics grade 1.0 A University of Flensburg language English abstract English is the language which is spoken all across Ireland in the Republic as well as in Northern Ireland. Different varieties of the language can be found. In the far north of the island the English which is commonly used is Ulster Scots, a variety which is heavily influenced by Scots. Mid Ulster English is also spoken in the north and is less Scots-influenced. Together Ulster Scots and Mid Ulster English constitute what is known as Northern Irish English. See Trudgill Hannah 1994 p102. The variety spoken in the South of Ireland which is sometimes called Hiberno English. See Harris 1984 p115. Will in the following be referred to as Southern Irish English. It is important to point out that the linguistic division between the north and the south of Ireland is not the same as the political borders. Northern Irish English is not only spoken in Northern Ireland but also in some areas of the Republic of Ireland, for example in Donegal. The use of Southern Irish English on the other hand is quite common in some of the southern parts of Northern Ireland. See Trudgill Hannah 1994 p102. In the following the historical development of the Southern Irish English variety will briefly be looked at before its main features in terms of pronunciation, grammatical structures and lexis will be explored. There is only little regional variation within Southern Irish English. See Barnickel 1982 p117 and the few differences will here not be taken into consideration.

The English Language in Ireland Jeremiah J. Hogan, 1970 The English Language in Ireland Jeremiah Joseph Hogan, 1978 The English Language in Ireland Diarmaid Ó Muirthe, 1985 The English Language in Ireland Jeremiah Hogan, 1972-01-01 Irish English: The Influence of Irish on the English Spoken in Ireland Ilona Sontag, 2013-03-04 Seminar paper from the year 2010 in the subject Didactics for the subject English Pedagogy Literature Studies grade 2.3 RWTH Aachen University Institut für Anglistik Angewandte Sprachwissenschaft course Variety in English language English abstract Loreto Todd states in his book Green English one very important sentence concerning English in Ireland that depicts the basis on which this term paper is built upon. The language spoken in Ireland is similar to the language spoken in England, similar but by no means identical. This term paper will deal with the kind of English spoken in Ireland today¹ and how it differs from English spoken in England or America², especially taking the influence of the native language of Ireland into account. Because of the space limitations it will only serve as an overview covering the most important grammatical features in which Irish English (IrE) differs from Standard English (StE). For instance phenomena concerning phonetics, word stress, rhythmic retentions, syntax and semantics. Concerning each field of study some striking features of IrE will be described and explained by the use of examples. It will be of special interest to what extent the differences date back to the influence of the Irish mother tongue Gaelic³. Since English is a relatively new language in Ireland it will be the aim of this paper to find out if today's linguistic phenomena of IrE can be traced back to the period of the language shift from Irish to English While by now most of the Irish people s mother tongue is English it is still probable that the people are still influenced by their past at least by means of language Because of this certain approach towards IrE all the analysed features in this term paper will be a selection of features that somehow have to do with the native language of Ireland Before the analysis of grammatical features a brief overlook over the terminology concerning the term Irish English as well as an outline of the history of the English language in Ireland will be given After the analysis a last part will be stated in which it will be of interest to how far the Irish accent can be seen as part of the national identity of the Irish people In the end a final conclusion will be stated It is important to mention that although the term IrE is used for a general variety of English in Ireland a lot of internal distinctions could be made These accents are linked to different regions and sometimes even differ from city to city Because of this complexity of the topic this term paper will not go into detail concerning the different accents
