Lending Division, 1984 Non-Governmental Organisations - Performance and Accountability Michael Edwards, David Hulme, 2014-03-18 The last decade has seen some significant changes in international development and in the status of non governmental organisations operating in the field Not only has the number of NGOs virtually doubled many of them have seen a considerable growth in their budgets and have grown closer to governments and official aid agencies NGOs are acknowledged by many to be more effective agents of development than governments or commercial interests even as a magic bullet for development problems Despite these positive trends the real impact of the NGO sector is not well documented This is partly because NGO performance assessment and accountability methods are weak and partly because NGOs are caught up increasingly in the world of official aid which pushes them towards certain forms of evaluation at the expense of others This unique book takes a hard and critical look at these issues and describes how NGOs can and must improve the way they measure and account for their performance if they are to be truly effective The Comparative Effectiveness and Evaluation Efforts of EU Donors Paul Hoebink, 1995 Investigating Local Knowledge Paul Sillitoe, 2019-05-23 Originally published in 2004 Local knowledge reflects many generations of experience and problem solving by people around the world increasingly affected by globalizing forces Such knowledge is far more sophisticated than development professionals previously assumed and as such represents an immensely valuable resource A growing number of governments and international development agencies are recognizing that local level knowledge and organizations offer the foundation for new participatory models of development that are both cost effective and sustainable and ecologically and socially sound This book provides a timely overview of new directions and new approaches to investigating the role of rural communities in generating knowledge founded on their sophisticated understandings of their environments devising mechanisms to conserve and sustain their natural resources and establishing community based organizations that serve as forums for identifying problems and dealing with them through local level experimentation innovation and exchange of information with other societies These studies show that development activities that work with and through local knowledge and organizations have several important advantages over projects that operate outside them Local knowledge informs grassroots decision making much of which takes place through indigenous organizations and associations at the community level as people seek to identify and determine solutions to their problems
