The Failures Of Criticism:

The Failures of Criticism Henri Peyre, 1967 The Failures of Criticism Henri Peyre, 1967 The Failure of the "higher Criticism" of the Bible Emil Reich, 1905 The Failure of Criticism Eugene Goodheart, 1978 Eugene Goodheart argues here with vigor and style that contemporary criticism has lost its moral authority and he blames modernism for that loss The Concepts of Criticism L. Aschenbrenner, 2012-12-06 This inquiry may be thought of as a sequel to The Concepts of Value and as an extension of the brief core vocabulary of aesthetic concepts found in one of the appendices to it In terms of sheer numbers most of the value concepts of our language are to be found in the area of human relations and of the aesthetic There are also other value vocabularies shorter but equally important for example the cognitive and logical These and other objects of philosophical study for example the question of other minds deserve the kind of empirical survey that has been made of moral and aesthetic notions if only to test a priori approaches to them In the present study an even more determined empirical approach than that adopted for the first has been found necessary Once the moral or human value vocabulary has been identified sentential contexts for the use of the terms readily come to mind In a study of the language of criticism however the vocabulary has first to be sought in the utterances of critics themselves and quoted in sufficient context to make their critical intentions clear The outcome is that the present study is of great length about half of it being quotations from critics The rule adopted for arriving at this length go on collecting quotations as long as new types of appraisal came was to to light The Failure of Poetry, the Promise of Language Laura (Riding) Jackson, 2007 Brings together four decades of largely unpublished work by Jackson exploring the rationale for her renunciation of poetry in 1941 after two decades as a poet Cold War Criticism and the Politics of Skepticism Tobin Siebers, 1993 Claiming that a Cold War mentality has impaired the ability of literary theorists to talk about the politics of criticism effectively the author of this treatise argues that modern criticism is a child of the Cold War The Literary Criticism of Frank Norris Donald Pizer, 2014-11-06 All of American author Frank Norris's significant critical writings have been compiled in this book including his articles for the San Francisco Wave during 1896-1897 and selections from his Weekly Letter column for the Chicago American in 1901 Essays from these two previously unexploited sources comprising almost half the book reveal certain areas of Norris's thought which heretofore had been overlooked by scholars This book was compiled in order to clarify Frank Norris's literary creed When Donald Pizer began to read Norris's uncollected critical articles he observed concepts which had been unnoted or misunderstood by his critics Crediting this to the inadequate representation of Norris's ideas in the posthumous The Responsibilities of the Novelist 1903 Pizer recognized the need for an interpretive and complete edition of Norris's critical writings This volume thus fills a noticeable gap in the field of American literary criticism By the time of his death in 1902 Norris had a closed system of critical ideas This core of ideas however is only peripherally related to the conventional concept of literary naturalism which perhaps explains why critics have gone astray trying to find Zolaesque ideas in Norris's criticism Norris's central idea around which he built an aesthetic of the novel was that the best novel combines an intensely primitivistic subject matter and theme with a highly sophisticated form His paradox of sophisticated primitivism clarifies the vital link between the fiction produced in the 1890s and that written by Hemingway Faulkner and Steinbeck Norris's essays deal with many of the literary themes which preoccupy modern critical theorists His range of subjects includes the form and function of the novel definitions of naturalism realism and romanticism and the problem of what constitutes an American novel His interpretation of commonplace events his comments on prominent figures of his day and his parodies of writers such as Bret Harte Stephen Crane and Rudyard Kipling are characterized by ingenuity and perception Through these writings the personality of a man with well defined convictions and the ability to expound them provocatively comes into sharp focus In a general introduction Pizer summarizes Norris's critical position and surveys his career as literary critic This introduction and the interpretative introductions preceding each section constitute an illuminating essay on the literary temper of the period and provide a new insight into Norris's craft and his literary philosophy
