Terror On The 40th Floor:

Television Fright Films of the 1970s David Deal, 2015-01-27 If the made for television movie has long been regarded as a poor stepchild of the film industry then telefilm horror has been the most uncelebrated offspring of all. Considered unworthy of critical attention, scary movies made for television have received little notice over the years. Yet millions of fans grew up watching them, especially during the 1970s, and remember them fondly. This exhaustive survey addresses the lack of critical attention by evaluating such films on their own merits. Covering nearly 150 made for TV fright movies from the 1970s, the book includes credits, a plot synopsis, and critical commentary for each. From the well remembered Don't Be Afraid of the Dark to the better forgotten Look What's Happened to Rosemary's Baby, it's a trustworthy and entertaining guide to the golden age of the televised horror movie. Kim Newman's Video Dungeon Kim Newman, 2018-05-01 Ripped from the pages of Empire magazine, the first collection of film critic, film historian, and novelist Kim Newman's reviews of the best and worst B movies. Some of the cheapest, trashiest, goriest, and occasionally unexpectedly good films from the past 25 years are here, torn apart and stitched back together again in Kim's unique style. Everything you want to know about DTV hell is here. Enter if you dare. Are You In The House Alone? Amanda Reyes, 2017-04-05 Beginning in the 1960s through its heyday in the 1970s and beyond, the telefilm remains an important cultural artefact masquerading as disposable entertainment. Made specifically for the small screen within the tight constraints of broadcasting standards, what these humble movies lacked in budget and star appeal they made up for in other ways. Often they served as an introduction to genre films, particularly horror, mirroring their theatrical counterparts with a focus on sinister cults, women in prison, haunted houses, and even animals in revolt. They were also a place to address serious contemporary issues: drugs, prostitution, sexual violence, and justice, albeit in a cosy domestic environment. Production of telefilms continues to this day, but their significance within the history of mass media remains under-discussed. Are You in the House Alone seeks to address this imbalance in a series of reviews and essays by fans and critics alike. It looks at many of the films, the networks, and the names behind them, and also specific genres, everything from Stephen King adaptations to superheroes to true life dramas. So kick back and crack open the TV guide once more for the event that is the Movie of the Week. Encyclopedia of Television Film Directors Jerry Roberts, 2009-06-05 From live productions of the 1950s like Requiem for a Heavyweight to big budget mini-series like Band of Brothers, long form television programs have been helmed by some of the most creative and accomplished names in directing. Encyclopedia of Television Film Directors brings attention to the directors of these productions, citing every director of stand-alone long form television programs, made for TV movies, movie-length pilots, mini-series, and feature-length anthology programs, as well as drama, comedy, and musical specials of more than 60 minutes. Each of the nearly 2,000 entries provides a brief career sketch of the director, his or her notable works, awards, and a filmography. Many entries also provide brief discussions of key shows, movies, and other productions. Appendixes include Emmy Awards, DGA Awards, and other accolades, as well as a list of anthology programs A much needed reference that celebrates these often neglected artists Encyclopedia of Television Film Directors is an indispensable resource for anyone interested in the history of the medium The Golden Age of Disaster Cinema Nik Havert,2019-05-10 From the 1950s through the 1970s disaster movies were a wildly popular genre Audiences thrilled at the spectacle of these films many of which were considered glamorous for their time Derided by critics they became box office hits and cult classics inspiring filmmakers around the globe Some of them launched the careers of producers directors and actors who would go on to create some of Hollywood s biggest blockbusters With more than 40 interviews with actors actresses producers stuntmen special effects artists and others this book covers the Golden Age of sinking ships burning buildings massive earthquakes viral pandemics and outbreaks of animal madness Not So Good a Gay Man Frank M.
