September 11 and Radical Islamic Terrorism Paul Brewer, 2005-12-15 Describes the events that occurred during the terrorist attacks on September 11 2001 the reasons behind the attacks the history of Islamic terrorism and the efforts taken to reduce and stop terrorism

Terrorism and Counter-Terrorism in Africa H. Solomon, 2015-05-12 Traditional counter terrorism approaches with their emphasis on the military are failing This is seen in the fact that there is an average of three terrorist attacks per day in Africa This study calls for more holistic solutions with an emphasis on development and better governance to curb the scourge of terrorism

J. Hillis Miller and the Play of Literature Jonathan Locke Hart, 2023-12-27 This is the first book to discuss the full sweep of the work of J Hillis Miller from his earliest writing in the 1950s to those near the time of his death in February 2021 across the genres of his criticism and theory poetry fiction drama fiction non fiction The book examines Miller s preference for close and careful reading of individual literary and critical works over abstract theory The study will discuss the last member of the so called Yale School of deconstruction to die but will see him as a reader and lover of literature someone interested in Georges Poulet and phenomenology and in Jacques Derrida and deconstruction Miller was concerned about many aspects of literature and life including the pleasure of reading and writing and in climate change which he saw as the crisis of our time Miller was well known in humanities and literature worldwide as one of the greatest of modern critics and theorists Reading the 21st Century Stan Persky, 2012 The state of the world books and reading Reading Donald Trump Jeremy Kowalski, 2018-08-29 This book provides a scholarly assessment and analysis of the Trump campaign and early presidency This assessment and analysis is important not only to help provide some coherence to the turbulent and unpredictable character of Trumpism but to contribute to establishing a scholarly foundation for future works that will provide assessments of the Trump presidency in its mid and later stages Given the divisive and destructive capacity of Trumpism and its political and social implications both domestically and internationally understanding the distinctive political phenomenon of Trumpism is necessary if resistance to this transformative moment in American political history is to be successful This book collects a series of short scholarly contributions on various themes related to Trumpism by scholars from disciplines in both the Humanities and Social Sciences The Democracy Reader Sondra Myers, 2002 This book is an all in one introduction to both the theory and practice of democracy aimed at upper level high school and university students as well as civic minded adults in both old and new democracies Portions of the book are extracted from the Democracy is a Discussion handbooks

Terrorism, Media, and the Ethics of Fiction Peter Schneck, Philipp Schweighauser, 2010-08-19 In his novel Mao II Don DeLillo lets his protagonist say Years ago I used to think it was possible for a novelist to alter the inner life of the culture Now bomb makers and gunmen have taken that territory They make raids on human consciousness DeLillo suggests that while the collective imagination of the past was guided by the creative order of narrative fictions our contemporary fantasies and anxieties are directed by the endless narratives of war and terror relayed by the mass media To take DeLillo's literary reflections on media terrorism and literature seriously means to engage with the ethical implications of his media critique This book departs from existing works on DeLillo not only through its focus on the function of literature as public discourse in culture but also in its decidedly transatlantic perspective Bringing together prominent DeLillo scholars in Europe and in the US it is the first critical book on DeLillo to position his work in a transatlantic context Rhetorics of Religion in American Fiction Liliana M. Naydan, 2016-05-23 Rhetorics of Religion in American Fiction considers the way in which contemporary American authors address the subject of belief in the post 9 11 Age of Terror Naydan suggests that after 9 11 fiction by Mohsin Hamid Laila Halaby Philip Roth Don DeLillo John Updike and Barbara Kingsolver dramatizes and works to resolve impasses that exist between believers of different kinds at the extremes These impasses emerge out of the religious paradox that shapes America as simultaneously theocratic and secular and they exist for instance between liberals and fundamentalists between liberals and certain evangelicals between fundamentalists and artists and between fundamentalists of different varieties Ultimately Naydan argues that these authors function as literary theologians of sorts and forge a relevant space beyond or between extremes They fashion faith or lack thereof as hybridized and hence as a negotiation among secularism atheism faith fundamentalism and fanaticism In so doing they invite their readers into contemplations of religious difference and new ways of memorializing 9 11

Reading Junot Diaz Christopher González, 2015-12-19 Dominican American author and Pulitzer Prize winner Junot Diaz has gained international fame for his blended cross cultural fiction. Reading Junot Diaz is the first study to focus on his complete body of published works. It explores the totality of his work and provides a concise view of the interconnected and multilayered narrative that weaves throughout Diaz's writings. Christopher Gonzalez analyzes both the formal and thematic features and discusses the work in the context of speculative and global fiction as well as Caribbean and Latino a culture and language. Topics such as race, masculinity, migration and Afro Latinidad are examined in depth. Gonzalez provides a synthesis of the prevailing critical studies of Diaz and offers many new insights into his work.

Counter-Terrorism Technologies Peter Lehr, 2018-07-10 This book critically discusses the role of technology for counter terrorism in general and for securing our vulnerable open societies in particular. It is set against the backdrop of the terrorist threat posed by the combined forces of Al Qaeda and ISIS Daesh in the foreseeable future. The book commences by illuminating current and foreseeable tactics and weapons used by these implacable enemies, weapons that may well include chemical, biological, radiological and potentially even nuclear CBRN devices. In a second part, it introduces technologies already available or in development that promise an increase in safety and security when it comes to the dangers posed by these terrorists. This part also includes a critical discussion of advantages and disadvantages of such technologies that are quite often sold as a silver bullet approach in the fight against terrorism. Controversies such as those triggered by the abuse of millimeter wave scanners deployed at several Western European airports will demonstrate that there are costs involved with regard to human rights. The third analytical part takes the critical discussion further by arguing that the uncritical fielding of new surveillance and control technologies in parallel with the on going outsourcing and privatization of key services of the state could well lead to dystopias as envisaged in a rather prescient way by the so called cyperpunk novels of the 1980s. The book concludes with the question that any liberal democracy should ask itself: how far can we go with regard to hardening our societies against terrorist threats.

9/11 and Collective Memory in US Classrooms Cheryl Lynn Duckworth, 2014-10-17 While current literature stresses the importance of teaching about the 9 11 attacks on the US, many questions remain as to what teachers are actually teaching in their own classrooms. Few studies address how teachers are using all of this advice and curriculum, what sorts of activities they are undertaking and how they go about deciding what they will do. Arguing that the events of 9 11 have become a chosen trauma for the US, author Cheryl Duckworth investigates how 9 11 is being taught in classrooms, if at all, and what narrative is being passed on to today's students about that day. Using quantitative and qualitative data gathered from US middle and high school teachers, this volume reflects on foreign policy developments and trends since September 11th 2001 and analyzes what this might suggest for future trends in US foreign policy. The understanding that the post 9 11 generation has of what happened and what it means is significant to how Americans will view foreign policy in the coming decades, especially in the Islamic World, and whether it is likely to
