Research on Emotion and Learning: Contributions from Latin America Camilo Hurtado-Parrado,Carlos Gantiva,Leonardo A. Ortega,Alexander Gómez-A,Lucas Cuenya,Javier Leonardo Rico,2020-05-11 Latin America has increased its share of world scientific publications by nearly twofold during the last two decades approximately from 2 to 4% Despite this positive trend the scholarly impact of scientific research produced in the region measured in terms of citation rate remains low Two interrelated factors that contribute to this situation is that most research groups tend to work in isolation or in local sporadic collaboration and results are often published in journals that are not indexed in major citation databases e g SCOPUS or Web of Science Ultimately part of Latin American high quality research seems to remain hidden from the rest of the world Over the last decades an important number of Latin American scientists have developed fruitful research agendas on questions on learning and emotion focusing on basic and or translational research with humans and other animal models and implementing diverse methodologies Notwithstanding the important contributions of these research programs Latin American research on emotion and learning has followed the overall trend of other research fields throughout the region namely remaining partially hidden from the large scientific community of the world This Research Topic aimed to engage researchers from Latin America to share their empirical and conceptual work on learning and emotion Ultimately this effort was expected to strengthen and integrate our regional community of experts enhance global networking and establish new challenges and developments for future investigation      Computer-Based Education in the Social Studies Lee Ehman,Allen D. Glenn,1987 Computers have not revolutionized social studies curricula because so few teachers use them But research does indicate that computers are flexible instructional tools that can assist in the development of attitudes intellectual motivation and inquiry skills Social studies educators need to consider expanded computer use in their classrooms because computers assist in the preparation of students for effective participation in society Teachers must understand how technology affects instruction learning and classroom environments along with the types of effective instructional strategies that can be used to achieve specific goals Educators should acquire the knowledge and experience needed to use computers by reviewing research relating to computer use in teaching and to instructional strategies Information on research concerning the impact of computers on students how computers change the way teachers work computers effect on the training process and computers influence on the social studies curriculum is included Necessary teacher competencies and appropriate instructional uses are explored through an analysis of teacher utility programs databases data analysis programs and simulations A 76 item bibliography concludes the document JHP      The Software Encyclopedia 2000 Bowker Editorial Staff,2000-05      The ETS Test Collection Catalog Educational Testing Service.
