Telecom Mosaic Assembling The New International Structure:

Leapfrogging Development? J. P. Singh, 1999-07-27 Examines how developing countries have restructured their telecommunications in order to leapfrog or accelerate development

Implementing Reforms in the Telecommunications Sector Bjorn Wellenius, Peter A. Stern, 1994-01-01 Presents a compilation of information from a worldwide pool of experts on their practical experiences in telecommunications sector reform This study compiles a wealth of information from a worldwide pool of experts on their practical experiences in telecommunications sector reform It provides an up to date account of approaches to the major policy and structural issues and describes developments in Latin America Asia and the Pacific and Europe The study also examines issues related to investment regulation and implementation While each of the eight parts centers on a particular aspect of telecommunications sector reform the study highlights several recurring themes and looks at a number of country experiences from the perspective of policymakers regulators investors operators the international development community and other industry specialists This volume provides valuable information on how to implement telecommunications reforms offers insights into the effectiveness of these reforms and identifies critical areas in which further discussion of related policy and implementation issues in this increasingly important economic sector

Telecommunications Update , The Telecom Mosaic Robert R. Bruce, Jeffrey P. Cunard, Mark D. Director, 1988

Restructuring and Managing the Telecommunications Sector Bjorn Wellenius, 1989-01-01 Fifth printing May 1997

Global Telecommunications Raymond Akwule, 2023-12-22 Global Telecommunications 1992 clarifies the complex politically charged arena of international telecommunications By understanding both the demands created by dynamic Western countries in the grips of deregulation and the needs of developing nations readers acquire an appreciation for the challenges facing global telecommunications users developers and policymakers This book stresses the growing need for sophisticated management of satellite and communication resources The emerging global information society is propelled by technological innovations and these developments are shaping the way the world's population receives information

Telecommunications Research Resources James K. Bracken, Christopher H. Sterling, 2021-12-16 As the telecommunication and information field expands and becomes more varied so do publications about these technologies and industries This book is a first attempt to provide a general guide to that wealth of English language publications both books and periodicals on all aspects of telecommunication It is a comprehensive evaluative sourcebook for telecommunications research in the United States that brings together a topically arranged cross referenced and indexed volume in one place The information provided is only available by consulting a succession of different directories guides bibliographies yearbooks and other resources On the one hand it is a directory that describes in detail the major entities that comprise the American telecommunication research infrastructure including federal and state government offices and agencies and private public and corporate research institutions On the other hand it is a bibliography that identifies and assesses the most important and useful reference and critical resources about U S telecommunication history technology industry and economics social applications and impacts plus policy law and regulations and role in the global telecommunication marketplace No existing guide covers all of these aspects in the depth and detail of this volume Global Competitiveness of U.S.

Advanced-technology Manufacturing Industries ,1991 The Political Economy of Communications Kenneth Dyson,Peter Humphreys,2023-10-20 First published in 1990 The Political Economy of Communications explores the central theme of the relationship between politics and markets in policy development The contributors show how governments have been drawn into increasing interdependency by technological and market developments with international institutions like the European Community becoming more important in these policy areas They argue that neither government ideologies nor market and technological forces offer an adequate account of the processes of change in communications policy These conclusions lead to a critique of central theories of international political economy notably neo liberalism and the authors advocate instead a neo pluralist perspective for the study of political economy of communications an approach that takes institutions much more seriously as a central unit of analysis The book will be of interest to students of international relations European studies and media and telecommunication studies as well as to political scientists and economists concerned with public policy Electronic Technology, Corporate Strategy, and World Transformation Maurice

Estabrooks,1995-05-23 How are the new electronic technologies transforming business here and abroad indeed the entire world economy and what new strategies must business develop to meet the challenges of this transformation Economist writer and communications executive Maurice Estabrooks provides a readable comprehensive survey of how businesses are using microchips computers and telecommunications to reshape the entire world of work its cultures organization and economic systems With insight and impeccable scholarship he provides concrete evidence of the emergence of artificially intelligent cybernetic network based entities that are creating new linkages between businesses markets and technology itself linkages that will profoundly affect the way businesses create and implement their corporate survival and growth strategies in the future Drawing on the work of economic theorist Joseph Schumpeter Estabrooks shows how Schumpeterian dynamics have played a key role in the breakup of AT T and the Bell System and in the deregulation of telecommunications broadcasting banking finance and other economically critical industries What has emerged he maintains is an increasingly integrated global information and software based services economy Optical fibers satellites and wireless communications systems have already made possible the development of electronic superhighways but in doing so they have also initiated a massive redistribution of economic power and wealth throughout the world the implications of which are only now being understood Historical analytical descriptive Estabrooks book will speak not only to academics and others who observe world transformations from relatively theoretical perspectives but also to corporate and other executives whose organizations and certainly their personal work lives will be changed dramatically by the developments he describes in practical day to day
