Hollywood:

Cultural dimensions: ideology, identity and cultural industry studies Thomas Schatz, 2004 Hollywood as a concept applies variously to a particular film style a factory based mode of film production a cartel of powerful media institutions and a national and increasingly global way of seeing It is a complex social cultural and industrial phenomenon and is arguably the single most important site of cultural production over the past century This collection brings together journal articles published essays book chapters and excerpts which explore Hollywood as a social economic industrial aesthetic and political force and as a complex historical entity Film Theory Philip Simpson, Andrew Utterson, Karen J. Shepherdson, 2004 This major new collection identifies the critical and theoretical concepts which have been most significant in the study of film and presents a historical and intellectual context for the material examined Television and the Modernization Ideal in

1980s China Huike Wen, 2013-11-22 Television and the Modernization Ideal in 1980s China Dazzling the Eyes explores Chinese television history in the pivotal decade of the 1980s and explains the intellectual reception of television in China during this time While the Chinese media has often been a topic within studies of globalization and the global political economy scholarly attention to the history of Chinese television requires a more extensive and critical view of the interaction between television and culture Using theories of media technology globalization and gender studies supplemented by Chinese periodicals including Life Out of 8 Hours Popular TV Popular Cinema Modern Family and Chinese Advertising as well as oral history interviews this book re examines how Western technology was introduced to and embedded into Chinese culture Wen compares and analyzes television dramas produced in China and imported from other nations while examining the interaction between various ideologies of Chinese society and those of the international media Moreover she explores how the hybridity between Western television culture and Chinese traditions were represented in popular Chinese visual media specifically the confusions and ambitions of modernization and the negotiation between tradition and modernity nationalism and internationalism in the intellectual reception of television in China The SAGE Handbook of Cultural

Appreciating the Art of Television Ted Nannicelli, 2016-09-13 Contemporary television has been marked by such exceptional programming that it is now common to hear claims that TV has finally become an art In Appreciating the Art of Television Nannicelli contends that televisual art is not a recent development but has in fact existed for a long time Yet despite the flourishing of two relevant academic subfields the philosophy of film and television aesthetics there is little scholarship on television in general as an art form This book aims to provide scholars active in television aesthetics with a critical overview of the relevant philosophical literature while also giving philosophers of film a particular account of the art of television that will hopefully spur further interest and debate It offers the first sustained theoretical examination of what is involved in appreciating television as an art and how this bears on the practical business of television scholars critics students and fans namely the comprehension interpretation and evaluation of specific televisual artworks

Independent Television Production in the UK David Lee, 2018-03-07 This book is the first authoritative account of the UK's independent television production sector following the creation of Channel 4 in 1982 It examines the rise of a global industry increasingly interconnected through format development distribution ancillary sales and rights Drawing on case studies interviews and policy analysis the author considers the cultural politics behind the growth of the indies the labour conditions for workers in this sector and some of the key television programmes that have been created within it Filling an important gap in our understanding this book constitutes a comprehensive account of this vital cultural industry for students academics and researchers working in the areas of the cultural and creative industries media and cultural policy and television studies

Halegoua, Brendan Kredell, 2022-07-29 Bringing together leading scholars from around the world and across scholarly disciplines this collection of 32 original chapters provides a comprehensive exploration of the relationships between cities and media The volume showcases diverse methods for studying media and the city and posits media urbanism as an approach to the co construction and interactions among media texts and technologies media users media industries media histories and urban space Chapters serve as a guide to humanities based ways of studying urban imaginaries infrastructures and architectures development and redevelopment and strategies and tactics as well as a provocation toward new lines of inquiry that further explore the dense interconnectedness of media and cities Structured thematically the chapters are organized into four distinct sections introduced with editorial commentary that places the chapters into conversation with each other and frames them in relation to an overarching question problem or method Part I Imaginaries and cityscapes focuses on screen representations and mediated experiences of urban space produced and consumed by various actors Part II Architectures and infrastructures highlights the different ways in which built environments and socio technical substrates that sustain differential mobilities urban rhythms and systems of circulation and exchange are intertwined with various forms of media and mediation Part III Development and redevelopment examines efforts by urban planners and designers municipal governments and community organizers to utilize media forms to imagine and shape the construction of the space and meaning of the city finally Part IV Strategies and tactics uses categories for practices of control and resistance to investigate media and struggles for power within urban environments from surveillance and place branding to activist media and the right to the city The Routledge Companion to Media and the City provides a definitive reference for both scholars and students of urban cultures and media within the humanities

Broadway in the Box Kelly Kessler, 2020 It was as if American television audiences discovered the musical in the early 21st century In 2009 Glee took the Fox Network and American television by storm with the unexpected unification of primetime programming awkward teens and powerful voices spontaneously bursting into song After raking in the highest rating for a new show in the 2009 2010 season Glee would continue to cultivate rabid fans tie in soundtracks and merchandising and a spinoff reality competition show until its conclusion in 2015 Alongside Glee NBC and Fox would crank up musical visibility with the nighttime drama Smash and a string of live musical productions Then came ABC's comedic fantasy musical series Galavant and the CW's surprise Golden Globe darling My Crazy Ex Girlfriend Television and the musical appeared to be a perfect match But as author Kelly Kessler illustrates television had at that point been carrying on a sixty year symbiotic love affair with the musical From Rodgers and Hammerstein's appearance on the first Toast of the Town telecast and Mary Martin's iconic Peter Pan airings to Barbra

Streisand's 1960s CBS specials The Carol Burnett Show, Cop Rock, Great Performances and a string of one-off musical episodes of sitcoms, nighttime soaps, fantasy shows and soap operas, television has always embraced the musical. Kessler shows how the form is written across the history of American television and how its various incarnations tell the stories of shifting American culture and changing television, film and theatrical landscapes. She recounts and explores this rich decades-long history by traversing musicals, stars and sounds from film, Broadway and Las Vegas to the small screen. MLA International Bibliography of Books and Articles on the Modern Languages and Literatures, 2006 Documentary Film Ian Aitken, 2012
