America and of the Whole Western Civilization Angelo Bertolo,2012-09-25 In the 5000 years of the history that we know great empires grew and fell according to certain patterns that repeat themselves like laws of nature The USA rose and grew to prominence in the world reached its zenith in 1945 with the military victory and with the atom bomb but is not destined to stay there forever The book tries to draw the attention to the signs of decadence that match the patterns of the decadence of previous empires in history and the patterns of growth of progress in other cultural milieus very few pundits in America and in the western media in general seem to be aware of this fact The birth rates keep diminishing in America and are very low in Europe In other civilisations the birth rates have been high and those countries count more in the world today politically and economically than a few generations ago In addition the irrational and passionate attitude of those peoples including the aggressive suicidal attitude with religious and political connotations is a sign of progress for them Those people who are in favour of family planning programs and of a more relaxed morality are acting against the general interests of their countries

A Heritage of Ruins William R. Chapman,2013-07-31 The ancient ruins of Southeast Asia have long sparked curiosity and romance in the world s imagination They appear in accounts of nineteenth century French explorers as props for Indiana

Jones adventures and more recently as the scene of Lady Lara Croft's fantastical battle with the forces of evil. They have been featured in National Geographic magazine and serve as backdrops for popular television travel and reality shows. Now William Chapman's expansive new study explores the varied roles these monumental remains have played in the histories of Southeast Asia's modern nations. Based on more than fifteen years of travel research and visits to hundreds of ancient sites, A Heritage of Ruins shows the close connection between ruins conservation and both colonialism and nation building. It also demonstrates the profound impact of European-derived ideas of historic and aesthetic significance on ancient ruins and how these continue to color the management and presentation of sites in Southeast Asia today. Angkor, Pagan, Bagan, Borobudur, and Ayutthaya lie at the center of this cultural and architectural tour, but less-visited sites including Laos's stunning Vat Phou, the small temple platforms of Malaysia's Lembah Bujang Valley, the candi of the Dieng Plateau in Java, and the ruins of Mingun in Burma and Wiang Kum Kam near Chiang Mai in northern Thailand are also discussed. All share a relative isolation from modern urban centers of population, sitting in park-like settings serving as objects of tourism and as lynchpins for local and even national economies. Chapman argues that these sites also remain important to surrounding residents both as a means of income and as continuing sources of spiritual meaning. He examines the complexities of heritage efforts in the context of present-day expectations by focusing on the roles of both outside and indigenous experts in conservation and management and on attempts by local populations to reclaim their patrimony and play a larger role in protection and interpretation. Tracing the history of interventions aimed at halting time's decay, Chapman provides a chronicle of conservation efforts over a century and a half, highlighting the significant part foreign expertise has played in the region and the ways that national programs have in recent years begun to break from earlier models. The book ends with suggestions for how Southeast Asian managers and officials might best protect their incomparable heritage of art and architecture and how this legacy might be preserved for future generations.

Water Civilization Yoshinori Yasuda, 2012-10-23

Water Civilization: From Yangtze to Khmer Civilizations comprises three major topics:

1. Discovery of the origin of rice agriculture and the Yangtze River civilization in southern China was mainly based on investigation of the Chengtoushan archaeological site, the earliest urban settlement in East Asia. The origin of rice cultivation can be traced back to 10,000 BC, with urban settlement starting at about 6,000 BP.
2. The Yangtze River civilization collapsed around 4,200 BP. Palaeoenvironmental studies, including analyses of annually laminated sediments in East and Southeast Asia, indicate a close relationship between climate change and the rise and fall of the rice cultivating and fishing civilization.
3. Migrations from southern China to Southeast Asia occurred after about 4,200 BP. Archaeological investigation of the Phum Snay site in Cambodia, including analyses of DNA and human skeletal remains, reveals a close relationship to southern China, indicating the migration of people from southern China to Southeast Asia.

This publication is an important contribution to understanding the environmental history of China and Cambodia in relation to the rise and fall of the rice cultivating and fishing civilization, which we call water civilization.
