Politics and the Formation of Islamic Architecture Heba Mostafa, 2024-03-04 Structured as five microhistories c 632 705 this book offers a counternarrative for the formation of Islamic architecture and the Islamic state It adopts a novel periodization informed by moments of historical violence and anxiety around caliphal identities in flux animating histories of the minbar throne and maqsura as a principal nexus for navigating this anxiety It expands outward to reassess the mosque and palace with a focus on the Qubbat al Khadra and the Dar al Imara in Kufa It culminates in a reading of the Dome of the Rock in Jerusalem as a site where eschatological anxieties and political survival converge The Art and Architecture of

Islam 1250-1800 Sheila S. Blair, Jonathan M. Bloom, 1996-09-25 They discuss for example how the universal caliphs of the first six centuries gave way to regional rulers and how in this new world order Iranian forms techniques and motifs played a dominant role in the artistic life of most of the Muslim world the one exception was the Maghrib an area protected from the full brunt of the Mongol invasions where traditional models continued to inspire artists and patrons By the sixteenth century say the authors the eastern Mediterranean under the Ottomans and the area of northern India under the Mughals had become more powerful and the Iranian models of early Ottoman and Mughal art gradually gave way to distinct regional and imperial styles

Art and Architecture in the Islamic Tradition Mohammed Hamdouni Alami, 2013-12-20 What is art in the sense of the Islamic tradition Mohammed Hamdouni Alami argues that Islamic art has historically been excluded from Western notions of art that the Western aesthetic tradition's preoccupation with the human body and the ban on the representation of the human body in Islam has meant that Islamic and Western art have been perceived as inherently at odds However the move away from this anthropomorphic aesthetic in Western art movements such as modern abstract and constructivist painting have presented the opportunity for new ways of viewing and evaluating Islamic art and architecture This book questions the very idea of art predicated on the anthropocentric bias of classical art and the corollary exclusion of Islamic art from the status of art It addresses a central question in post classical aesthetic theory in as much as the advent of modern abstract and constructivist painting have shown that art can be other than the representation of the human body that art is not neutral aesthetic contemplation but it is fraught with power and violence and that the presupposition of classical art was not a universal truth but the assumption of a specific cultural and historical set of practices and vocabularies Based on close readings of classical Islamic literature philosophy poetry medicine and theology along with contemporary Western art theory the author uncovers a specific Islamic theoretical vision of art and architecture based on poetic practice politics cosmology and desire In particular it traces the effects of decoration and architectural planning on the human soul as well as the centrality of the gaze in this poetic view in Arabic nazar while examining its surprising similarity to modern theories of the gaze Through this double gesture moving critically between two traditions the author brings Islamic thought and aesthetics back into the realm of visibility addressing the lack of recognition in comparison with other historical periods and traditions This is an important step toward a critical analysis of the contemporary debate around the revival of Islamic architectural identity a debate intricately embedded within opposing Islamic political and social projects throughout the world to develop a brand new dialectical framework Using the examples of mosques such as the Friday Mosques in Isfahan and Yazd as well as the Imam mosque in Isfahan Khaghani presents a new way of thinking about and discussing Islamic architecture making this valuable reading for all interested in the study of the art architecture and material culture of the Islamic world
