Craft is Political D Wood, 2021-04-22 Throughout the 21st century various craft practices have drawn the attention of academics and the general public in the West In Craft is Political D Wood has gathered a collection of essays to argue that this attention is a direct response to and critique of the particular economic social and technological contexts in which we live Just as Ruskin and Morris viewed craft and its ethos in the 1800s as a kind of political opposition to the Industrial Revolution Wood and her authors contend that current craft activities are politically saturated when perspectives from the Global South

Indigenous ideology and even Western government policy are examined Craft is Political argues that a holistic perspective on craft in light of colonialism post colonialism critical race theory and globalisation is overdue A great diversity of case studies is included from craft and design in Turkey and craft markets in New Zealand to Indigenous practitioners in Taiwan and Finnish craft education Craft is Political brings together authors from a variety of disciplines and nations to consider politicised craft

Making Art With Generative AI Tools Hai-Jew, Shalin,2024-04-01 In the dynamic realm of generative artificial Intelligence AI the fusion of human creativity and machine intelligence has created a vibrant ecosystem of collaborative artmaking However this transformative process brings forth a myriad of concerns ranging from ethical considerations and the need for originality to navigating the legal complexities surrounding intellectual property As more and more online communities appear around the use of AI to aid in the creation of images there arises a pressing need for a comprehensive guide that not only dissects the intricacies of artmaking with generative AI tools but also offers practical solutions to the evolving dilemmas faced by artists researchers and technologists Making Art With Generative AI Tools emerges as an exploration of the challenges posed by this intersection of human expression and artificial intelligence Artists engaging with generative AI find themselves grappling with issues of authenticity social toxicity and the commercial viability of their creations From avoiding stereotypical visuals to ensuring proper crediting the realm of generative AI is rife with these complexities Furthermore the blurred lines between human and machine authorship necessitate a deeper exploration of how these innovative tools impact creativity representation and the very fabric of the art world
