Technology William W. Keller, Richard J. Samuels, 2003-02-03 In mid May 1997 a financial crisis erupted in Asia after an attack by private investors on the baht the Thai currency The crisis spread quickly across the region where investor confidence plummeted resulting in massive capital outflows stock market collapses high unemployment and even insurrection The Asian economic miracle that had stimulated so much awe and even dread now invoked pity and apprehension in greater measure The contributors to this volume investigated change in the innovation and production systems of Asian states in response to economic and political upheaval They conducted empirical studies of several regional industries autos semiconductors and hard disk drives and seven different national economies China Malaysia Japan Singapore South Korea Thailand and Taiwan In the face of crisis and global competition the Asian states superimposed change at the margins seeking unique technohybrid solutions to build capabilities to compete in local regional and even global markets Economic Reform Processes in South Asia Philippa Dee, 2012-07-26 While South Asia's economic reform initiatives of the last two decades were often born in crisis this alone does not account for their occurrence This book looks at the processes and institutional arrangements behind these reforms and analyses what lessons can be learnt about how South Asia can improve its policy efficiency The book develops ideas about how to overcome the political restraints to reform by drawing on recent theories of political economy and policy learning It tests these ideas against authoritative case studies of actual reform initiatives in South Asia which illustrate processes and institutional arrangements that have helped South Asian governments to sustain reform efforts even in the absence of a strong political base This offers valuable lessons for the global economy as it moves into a phase of rebalancing with the structural adjustments that this will require The book goes on to identify weaknesses that could be addressed by South Asian national governments and regional forums It is an important contribution to studies on South Asian Politics and International Political Economy

Asian Informal Workers Santosh K. Mehrotra, Mario Biggeri, 2007-01-24 This thoroughly researched volume surveys the nature and extent of informal work in Asia which is a powerful and under studied force in the region After over half a century of development even in the fast growing economies of Asia the formal sector and industrial jobs have grown rather slowly and most non agricultural employment growth has occurred in the informal economy At the same time as this there has been a feminization of informal workers and growth in subcontracted homework Drawing on detailed case studies carried out in five Asian countries two low income India and Pakistan and three middle income Indonesia Thailand and the Philippines where subcontracted production usually by women and children working out of home is now widespread this insightful book acknowledges that home based work is the source of income diversification for poor families but is also the source of exploitation of vulnerable workers and child labour as firms attempt to contain costs This wide ranging and accessible survey edited by key specialists in this field along with an impressive team of contributors examines the social protection needs of these workers arguing convincingly for public action to promote such work and protect these workers as a possible new labour intensive growth strategy in developing countries

A Basket Currency for Asia Takatoshi Ito, 2007-01-24 The failure of the dollar peg to prevent the Asian currency crisis of 1997 to 1998 has highlighted the importance of the exchange rate regime in Asia and provoked much discussion as to what the alternatives are in terms of exchange rate systems Bringing together extensive research on Asian basket currencies in one volume this new text discusses whether a currency basket system is the answer striking a balance between the theoretical and empirical With strong policy implications for East Asia the impressive team of contributors argue that for countries that have close economic relationships with several currency areas it is well worth considering a currency basket system The book also pursues the important idea of coordination failure whereby if each individual country tries to adopt an optimal exchange rate given other neighbouring countries policies they may collectively fail to reach a region's optimal exchange rate regime A Basket Currency for Asia is a topical and significant text that will appeal to students and scholars of international finance and Asian economics

Raquiza, 2013-06-17 Why do some small developing countries industrialize and others don't What factors account for different economic performance among states that are vulnerable to external shocks crony capitalism and political instability This book argues that the answer lies in the structuring of state power specifically the way different sets of governing elites political leaders and economic technocrats are embedded in political organisations and state institutions and the way these elites relate to each other in the economic development policy process Conducting a comparative historical analysis of Thailand and the Philippines the book argues that the institutional settings of governing elites influence economic outcomes In Thailand political power traditionally connects to state institutions in ways that has limited the impact of political turnovers and global downturns conducive to long term industrial activities In contrast Philippine state power derives from family networks that merge social and political power suited to fast moving short term commercial interests In focusing on this political and institutional story the author analyses the current development dilemmas of countries weighed down by historical legacies of unstable regimes dependency and social conflict and how they are likely to develop in the future Production Networks and Industrial Clusters Ikuo Kuroiwa, Toh Mun Heng, 2008-04-30 Explains how production networks and industrial clusters have played crucial roles in the industrial development of Indonesia and Malaysia electronics industry Singapore biomedical science industry and Thailand automotive industry China's Rise in the World ICT Industry Lutao Ning, 2009-06-04 One of the most striking phenomena of China's remarkable economic growth is that its huge volume of exports are becoming high tech China is now the world's largest Information and Communication Technology ICT exporter having overtaken Japan and the European Union in 2003 and the United States in 2004 China's ICT industry is also the largest manufacturing sector within the Chinese economy This book examines how China has attained this leading position and presents one of the first accounts of China's ICT development model with specific reference to the experiences of East Asian tigers It shows how the development of the industry was military driven before 1978 and how subsequently Chinese policymakers struggling with domestic market reform and challenged by trade liberalisation and globalisation managed to push through ICT development strategies Overall it discusses the debates between policymakers as to the most appropriate economic development strategy for catching up and demonstrates how China moved away from the across the board protectionist and interventionist industrial policies pursued by many developing countries but has not wholeheartedly followed the neo liberal free trade and market policies favoured by the World Bank WTO and IMF By doing so it sheds light on the limitations of China's strategies moving forward and identifies policy lessons for other developing countries Institutions for Economic Reform in Asia Philippa Dee, 2009-12-16 Consisting of theoretical chapters and six country case study chapters this book sets out some of the principles that are critical to success in regional cooperation and the ways APEC can promote structural reform efforts in APEC economies
