Rethinking Technology in Schools Primer Vanessa Elaine Domine,2009 Among the many challenges facing public schooling in the United States is the often irrelevant usage of technology in the classroom in ways that support the textbook and computer industries more than student learning and achievement This primer reframes the longstanding debate about instructional technology in school classrooms and challenges the reader to think more critically and conscientiously about the fundamental communication and technological processes that mediate learning and ultimately define education The primer offers educators at all levels a three dimensional map for exploring the philosophical pedagogical and practical uses of technology to serve rather than subvert the public purposes of education in a democracy

The Archive Incarnate Joseph Hurtgen, 2018-10-10 We live in an information economy a vast archive of data ever at our fingertips In the pages of science fiction powerful entities governments and corporations attempt to use this archive to control society enforce conformity or turn citizens into passive consumers Opposing them are protagonists fighting to liberate the collective mind from those who would enforce top down control Archival technology and its depictions in science fiction have developed dramatically since the 1950s Ray Bradbury discusses archives in terms of books and television media and Margaret Atwood in terms of magazines and journaling William Gibson focused on technofuturistic cyberspace and brain to computer prosthetics Bruce Sterling on genetics and society as an archive of social practices Neal Stephenson has imagined post cyberpunk matrix space and interactive primers As the archive is altered so are the humans that interact with ever advancing technology
