First Postindependence Wave Maryna Romanets, 2019-04-25 Ukrainian Erotomaniac Fictions explores the aggressive sexualization of the Ukrainian cultural mainstream after the collapse of the USSR as a counter reaction to the Soviet state's totalitarian repressive politics of the body. While the book's introduction includes concise sections on such pornified cultural forms as advertising, mass media, visual art, and film, its major focus is on textual production that has contributed significantly to the literary explosion in Ukraine which began in the 1990s. Drawing on cultural postcolonial feminist and gender theories, the book examines transgressive potentials of the erotic under postcolonial postcommunist and post-totalitarian conditions. It offers insight into the convoluted dialectics between the imported conventions of Western porno chic and the received oppressive Soviet gender and sexual ideologies. Within a broad historical and cultural framework, the study considers writers' engagements in dialogues with their own tradition and colonial legacy as well as with a variety of transcultural flows. By bringing together diverse erotomaniac fictions, Maryna Romanets charts the ways in which they are embedded in the processes of Ukraine's cultural decolonization.

Critical Perspectives on Language Education Katie Dunworth, Grace Zhang, 2014-07-24 The studies in this volume investigate how multilingual education involves a critical engagement with questions of identity and culture and a movement towards new ways of being and belonging. It addresses previously under-explored issues in particular the integration of theories like thirdness and practices of language education and maintenance with relevance to the Asia Pacific region. The analyses reveal the delicate balance of interests of all stakeholders and offer detailed insights into the reality of multilingual education with specific examples of Chinese, English, Japanese, and Tamil. In a globalised world, effective language education has become increasingly important, and the studies presented here have the potential to inform and advance evidence-based multilingual education through adding important dimensions of theoretical exploration and refreshing empirical resources.

African Youth Languages Ellen Hurst-Harosh, Fridah Kanana Erastus, 2018-03-06 This book showcases current research on language in new media, the performing arts, and music in Africa, emphasising the role that youth play in language change and development. The authors demonstrate how the efforts of young people to throw off old colonial languages and create new local ones has become a site of language creativity. Analysing the language of new media, including social media, print media, and new media technologies, and of creative arts such as performance, poetry, hip hop, and rap, they use empirical research from such diverse countries as Cameroon, Nigeria, Kenya, the Ivory Coast, and South Africa. This original edited collection will appeal to students and scholars of African sociolinguistics, particularly in the light of the rapidly changing globalized context in which we live.
