is a complex cognitive achievement that may consist of one or more of the following the ability to understand why to ask the right questions categorization the application of models to specific incidents or the capacity to make connections between morally charged situations that have a common underlying meaning While the disciplines of communication psychology philosophy and film and media studies have all made significant scholarly progress on this issue they make different grounding assumptions and use different terminologies Screen Stories and Moral Understanding approaches the topic from an interdisciplinary perspective and explores the conditions under which stories we view on screens movies streamed series and television can lead to moral understanding in viewers In five sections this book explores the nature of moral understanding in relation to screen stories the means by which moving image fictions can transfer knowledge to and cultivate perspectives in viewers the role of affect in generating moral understanding the viewer's engagement with characters and what we do with screen stories after viewing them The Psychology of War and Peace Fred van Houten, 2013-06-29 Can a Baby Be an Enemy Our world is in a deep prolonged crisis The threat of global nuclear war the chronic condition of local wars the imperilled environment and mass starvation are among the major forms this crisis takes The dangers of massive overkill overexploitation of the environment and overpopulation are well known but surprisingly little has been said about their potential interactions their bearing upon each other If there were to be a nuclear confrontation between today's superpowers it might not take place in today's world but in a far less friendly habitat such as the world may be some decades hence And it need hardly be added that the era of this particular super power configuration may be waning rapidly its place to be taken by other international arrangements not necessarily less threatening To understand and cope with our situation we need correspondingly serious reflection This volume forms a welcome part of that process Unavoidably a large part of our thinking about the issues of human survival must be oriented to physical and biological aspects of the total danger But it has not escaped the authors of this book that coupled with these aspects there are profound psychological dangers such as loss of the sense of futuristic moral deterioration and a fatalistic decline in the will to struggle to protect our home the Earth Mass Media and Drug Prevention William D. Crano, Michael Burgoon, Stuart Oskamp, 2001-11-01 This book tells the story of the mass media's potential in the war against drug abuse It is based on scientific evidence on the use of media in health promotion and disease prevention Past approaches successes and failures alike are included to help enlighten future programs of research and practice Advice about the logical steps that must be taken to help alleviate the crisis of drug abuse is featured throughout The book will appeal to social scientists interested in persuasion and the media Each chapter offers information to help the conscientious practitioner maximize persuasive effects of a mass mediated presentation The Oxford Handbook of Political Communication Kate Kenski, Kathleen Hall Jamieson, 2017 The Oxford Handbook of Political Communication provides contexts for viewing the field examines political discourse media and interpersonal and small group political communication and considers political communication's evolution inside the altered
