Television Technology In Transition:

Technology, Television, and Competition Jeffrey A. Hart, 2004-02-05 In the late 1980s and 1990s the advanced industrial countries considered replacing the existing analogue television infrastructure with a new digital one A key common feature to the debates over digital TV DTV in the United States Western Europe and Japan was the eventual victory of the ideas of digitalism the superiority of everything digital over everything analogue and of digital convergence the merging of computing telecommunications and broadcasting infrastructures made possible by digitalization in public debates over standards Jeffrey Hart s book shows how nationalism and regionalism combined with digitalism to produce three different and incompatible DTV standards in the three regions an outcome which has led to missed opportunities in developing the new technologies Hart s book contributes to our understanding of relations between business and government and of competition between the world s great economic powers

Time, Technology and Narrative Form in Contemporary US Television Drama JP Kelly, 2017-10-09 This book examines how television has been transformed over the past twenty years by the introduction of new viewing technologies including DVDs DVRs and streaming services such as Netflix Hulu and Amazon Prime It shows that these platforms have profoundly altered the ways we access and watch television enabling viewers to pause rewind record and archive the once irreversible flow of broadcast TV JP Kelly argues that changes in the technological landscape of television has encouraged the production of narrative forms that both explore and embody new industrial temporalities Focusing on US television but also considering the role of TV within a global marketplace the author identifies three distinct narrative temporalities acceleration 24 Prison Break complexity Lost FlashForward and retrospection Mad Men Through industrial textual analysis of television shows this cross disciplinary study locates these narrative temporalities in their socio cultural contexts and examines connections between production distribution and narrative form in the contemporary television industry
