Television The Medium And Its Manners:

Television Peter Conrad, 2016-10-04 It dominates our lives It is the twentieth century medium And yet we re all a little sheepish when it comes to television disowning it by disavowal or by inventing subtle innocuous disguises for it Why is this In this book first published in 1982 Peter Conrad argues that our unease stems from the way that the medium works it absorbs the messages it transmits it invents a reality of its own and ends by luring the world into the confines of its box Television s achievement is to have estranged us from the reality which it puports to represent but which it actually refracts This invasion of our lives is monitored and projected in programmes designed to ape the human routine Following a discussion of television as furniture Peter Conrad explores its various versions of reality the simulated conversation of the talk show the competitive consumerism of the games the messianic commercials the eventless protraction of the soap operas and the camera s incitement of happenings which the television calls news

The Memory Palace Edward Hollis, 2015-07-28 A brilliant ambitious follow up to The Secret Lives of Buildings in which Hollis turns his focus from the great architectural constructions of the past to the now vanished chambers they once contained The rooms we live in are always more than just four walls As we decorate these spaces and fill them with objects and friends they shape our lives and become the backdrop to our sense of self one day the structures will be gone but even then traces of the stories and the memories they contained will persist In this dazzling work of imaginative reconstruction edward Hollis takes us to the sites of great abodes now lost to history and piecing together the fragments that remain re creates their vanished chambers From Rome s palatine to the old palace of Westminster and the petit Trianon at Versailles from the sets of MGM studios in Hollywood to the pavilions of the Crystal palace and the author s own grandmother s sitting room The Memory Palace is a glittering treasure trove of luminous forgotten places and the alluring people who lived in them

Preaching to a TV Generation Michael Rogness, 1994 Michael Rogness has put his finger on a serious homiletical problem people accustomed to being fed a video diet are having difficulty digesting the verbal food we preachers set before them each week Readers will be relieved that Professor Rogness not only identifies problems but offers some tantalizing recipes to help us in our task William R White Author of Stories For Telling Madison Wisconsin The crisis of preaching is that we face an audience accustomed to new forms of communication The way people listen is shaped mostly by today s most dominant medium television And yet we preach about the same as preachers did before the arrival of television It isn t working very well from the foreword The gospel has always been conveyed primarily by speaking it to people The problem is that in today s world of television people listen and hear differently than they listened and heard in the past When preachers understand the dynamics of this new world then the gospel can ring with new vigor and life in our preaching writes the author Preaching To A TV Generation explores the changes brought to our society by television It suggests what preachers can do in the face of these changes in terms of language structure creativity and delivery Michael Rogness St Paul Minnesota is a professor at Luther Northwestern

Theological Seminary He is a former Fulbright Scholar and holds a doctorate in theology from Erlangen Nurnberg University Germany For 15 years he was senior pastor of First Lutheran Church Duluth Minnesota He is the author of many books and articles His sermons have appeared in a number of Augsburg Sermons Series Television Program Master Index

Chotkowski,2024-05-31 As television emerged as a major cultural and economic force many imagined that the medium would enhance civic education for topics like science And indeed television soon offered a breathtaking banquet of scientific images and ideas both factual and fictional Mr Wizard performed experiments with milk bottles Viewers watched live coverage of solar eclipses and atomic bomb blasts Television cameras followed astronauts to the moon Carl Sagan through the Cosmos and Jane Goodall into the jungle Via electrons and embryos blood testing and blasting caps fictional Frankensteins and chatty Nobel laureates television opened windows onto the world of science But what promised to be a wonderful way of presenting science to huge audiences turned out to be a disappointment argues historian Marcel Chotkowski LaFollette in Science on American Television LaFollette narrates the history of science on television from the 1940s to the turn of the twenty first century to demonstrate how disagreements between scientists and television executives inhibited the medium s potential to engage in meaningful science education In addition to examining the content of shows she also explores audience and advertiser responses the role of news in engaging the public in science and the making of scientific celebrities Lively and provocative Science on American Television establishes a new approach to grappling with the popularization of science in the television age when the medium s ubiquity and influence shaped how science was presented and the scientific community had increasingly less control over what appeared on the air Broadcast and Online Journalism Mr. Rohit

Manglik,2022-12-22 Practices and standards for producing content in radio TV and digital platforms Daytime Television Game Shows and the Celebration of Merchandise Morris B. Holbrook,1993 Insights into the nature of the consumer society and its ethos of consumption can often emerge from interpreting even the most lowly specimens of popular culture In this spirit a neglected genre that promises to shed light on the culture of consumption appears in the form of the daytime television game shows whose hegemonic message seems to convey and to justify a widespread obeisance to the mandate of materialism These game shows often present a text that demands a readerly monosemic dominant interpretation as an unabashed celebration of merchandise In particular a close analysis of the longest running game show The Price Is Right suggests that all facets of this program combine to reinforce its central meaning as a ritualistic validation of consumption oriented greed An alternative resistant reading is explored but rejected in part because it rests on an assumption that violates the empirical data and in part because it provides a more convincing analysis of a program like Supermarket Sweep In short the present study concludes that TV game shows in general and The Price Is Right in particular reflect and reinforce the obsession that many modern consumers feel with merchandise valued almost for its own sake beyond any need or even capacity to use it as a kind of disembodied target of misdirected desire

The Vanishing Vision James Day, 2021-01-08

This spirited history of public television offers an insider's account of its topsy turvy forty year odyssey James Day a founder of San Francisco's KQED and a past president of New York's WNET provides a vivid and often amusing behind the screens history Day tells how a program producer desperate to locate a family willing to live with television cameras for seven months borrowed a dime and a suggestion from a blind date and telephoned the Louds of Santa Barbara The result was the mesmerizing twelve hour documentary An American Family Day relates how Big Bird and his friends were created to spice up Sesame Street when test runs showed a flagging interest in the program's live action segments And he describes how Frieda Hennock the first woman appointed to the FCC overpowered the resistance of her male colleagues to lay the foundation for public television Day identifies the particular forces that have shaped public television and produced a Byzantine bureaucracy kept on a leash by an untrusting Congress with a fragmented leadership that lacks a clearly defined mission in today's multimedia environment Day calls for a bold rethinking of public television's mission advocating a system that is adequately funded independent of government and capable of countering commercial television's lowest common denominator approach with a full range of substantive programs comedy as well as culture entertainment as well as information This title is part of UC Press's Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press's mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1995

The Sound Bite Society Jeffrey Scheuer, 2013-11-05

It was once said that all politics is local But today all politics is televisual Candidates spend millions on TV ads Most people get their news from TV's sound bites Television doesn't just affect politics it is politics But how does that mega medium shape our political ideas and values In THE SOUND BITE SOCIETY Jeffrey Scheuer argues that the rise of television is directly linked to the decline of the American left and the ascent of the Electronic Right Political argument has been simplified to quick telegraphic TV sound bites which he argues inherently favor the right wing Television's visual and rhetorical conventions are biased toward simplicity Scheuer argues making it the perfect vehicle for conservative messages advocating a simpler society and smaller government Web site www.thesoundbitesociety.com Channels of Discourse, Reassembled Robert Clyde Allen, 1992 Since its original publication in 1987 Channels of Discourse has provided the most comprehensive consideration of commercial television drawing on insights provided by the major strands of contemporary criticism semiotics narrative theory reception

Television, a Guide to the Literature Mary B. Cassata, Thomas Skill, 1985 Quiz Show Su Holmes, 2008-10-14 Despite its enduring popularity with both broadcasters and audiences the quiz show has found itself marginalised in studies of popular television This book offers a unique introduction to the study of the quiz show while also revisiting updating and expanding on existing quiz show scholarship Ranging across programmes such as Double Your Money The 64 000 Dollar Question Twenty One The Price is Right Who Wants to be a Millionaire and The Weakest Link to the controversial Quiz TV Call phenomenon the book explores programmes with a focus on question and answer Topics covered include the relationship between quiz shows and television genre the early broadcast history of the quiz show questions of institutional regulation quiz show aesthetics the social significance of games ordinary people as television performers and questions of quiz show reception from interactivity to on line fandom Key Features Represents one of few book length studies of the quiz show Offers an accessible introduction to the genre for undergraduate students Draws upon new archival research in order to contribute to knowledge about the early history of the quiz show Demonstrates why the quiz show matters to Television Studies Brings together key approaches in the field with new interventions and areas of study such as the quiz show in the multi platform age and the study of ordinary people as performers Queuing for Beginners Joe Moran, 2010-08-06 Why do so many people go on about queuing Have we always been obsessed with traffic And why do so many of us now eat lunch at our computers at desk We spend our days catching buses and trains writing emails shopping queuing But we know almost nothing about these activities Exploring the history of these subjects as they come up during a typical day starting with eating breakfast and ending with sleeping Joe Moran tells a story about hidden social and cultural changes in Britain since the Second World War Drawing on his academic research on everyday life but writing with wit and lucidity for a popular audience he shows that we know less about ourselves than we think The New American Studies John Carlos Rowe, 2002 A clarion call for a more theoretically and politically informed approach to American Studies John Carlos Rowe a leading American Studies scholar has examined his field of study and declared it not ready for the twenty first century In The New American Studies Rowe demands a reinvention of the discipline that includes a commitment to making it more theoretically informed and he draws on the work of cultural critics postmodernist theorists and scholars in ethnic gender gay and media studies Rowe asserts that with American Studies's strong history of social criticism and practical pedagogy it is an easy leap to the type of progressive commitments characteristic of these areas of scholarship The New American Studies is a compelling combination of theory and application synthesis and polemic Rowe traces the evolution of American Studies over the last quarter century and looks to the future placing the field in a postnationalist context that encompasses all of the Americas and the disparate cultural zones within He then demonstrates the kind of literary and cultural interpretation he calls for examining subjects ranging from Hawthorne s and James s responses to nineteenth century sexual mores to the ways television legitimated itself in its first few decades to the Eli n Gonz lez custody case In the Eye of the Beholder Gary Richard Edgerton, Michael T. Marsden, John G. Nachbar, 1997 Scholars from communication studies as well as film and television studies address a variety of texts from Ken Burns s The Civil War to the midnight cult film The Rocky Horror Picture Show Part one focuses on perennial subject areas related to authorship and reception Part two addresses an assortment of postmodern and multicultural screen representations paying closest attention to matters of gender race ethnicity and the disabled Paper edition unseen 24 95 Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Channels of Communications , 1982 Sport in Contemporary Society D. Stanley Eitzen, 2000-07-15 This classic anthology analyzes the sociological implications of sports in modern society through a series of interesting and informative essays Sport in Contemporary Society can be used in a variety of ways as a primary text for courses in the sociology of sport as a supplementary text for a sociology course or even for general readers who wish to deepen their understanding and appreciation of sport 35 articles 21 new to this edition are included Constructing the Self in a Mediated World Debra Grodin, Thomas R. Lindlof, 1996-01-18 In today s media saturated world identities are no longer built solely within the close knit communities of family neighborhood school and work Today media are part of our world and therefore play an important role in the formulations of our identities or constructions of self In a truly postmodern mode Constructing the Self in a Mediated World not only brings together the usually segregated areas of interpersonal and mass communication but also incorporates works from scholars in sociology psychology and women s studies as well Each essay examines our understanding of self in a different context of mediated culture within a specific framework of interpretive theories such as critical theory social constructionist theory and feminism This volume provides insights into issues of self and identity in contemporary mediated culture Designed for advanced students and experienced researchers in communication both media and interpersonal sociology psychology and women s studies Constructing the Self in a Mediated World raises important questions and contributes greatly to its field News, Public Relations and Power Simon Cottle, 2003-04-10 Introducing theoretical ideas and the latest empirical findings in this fast developing field of media communication scholarship and study News Public Relations and Power has contributions from leading international researchers who address issues such as the rapid growth of public relations and its impact on news production state information management strategies in times of internal political dissent political parties and mediated spin conducted at national and local levels the historically changing nature of war journalism and tabloid television and forms of cultural representation The book begins with Simon Cottle s introduction which sets out the key ideas and approaches in the field Entertaining television Su Holmes, 2015-11-01

Entertaining television challenges the idea that the BBC in the 1950s was elitist and staid upholding Reithian values in a paternalistic even patronising way By focusing on a number of often controversial programme case studies such as the soap opera the quiz game show the problem show and programmes dealing with celebrity culture Su Holmes demonstrates how BBC television surprisingly explored popular interests and desires She also uncovers a number of remarkable connections with programmes and topics at the forefront of television today ranging from talk shows Reality TV even to our contemporary obsession with celebrity The book is iconoclastic percipient and grounded in archival research and will be of use to anyone studying television history
