Televisions Guardians The Fcc And The Politics Of Programming 1958 1967:

Television's Guardians James L. Baughman, 1985 Television's Guardians James L. Baughman, 1985 Radio and Television Peter K. Pringle, Helen E. Clinton, 1989 Lists almost 1 000 English language books booklets and reports on radio and TV published between 1982 and 1986 Third in a series covering the period 1920 1986 it was preceded by two volumes compiled by the late William E McCavitt Entries are organized into six parts with many subdivisions Arts & Humanities Citation Index , 1989 Television Research Ronald L. Jacobson, 1995 This directory consists of an alphabetical ordering of television related categories For each category a brief conceptual overview is presented followed by a list of relevant research or lecture topic suggestions and a bibliography of selected print sources mostly books Users should appreciate the directory as a reference tool intended solely as as guide to studying television and not as an end in itself As such the categories herein are not necessarily mutually exclusive nor are the overviews topic suggestions and bibliographies meant to be comprehensive Instead this publication is intended to inform broadly to stimulate critical thinking and to serve as a catalyst for further inquiry An Additional Sources section is included at the end of the directory General reference books relevant indexes and databases scholarly journals popular magazines newspapers and trade publications are listed Libraries and museums containing special television related collections are also noted There always seems to be new print publications and electronic databases that provide access to television related content Please consider this directory as but one entry point to television research Users are encouraged to solicit the expertise of a professional librarian in order to access the most relevant sources available on topics of interest The FCC and Regulating Indecency Paul Ruschmann, 2005 Presents varying opinions on the subject of FCC regulation of television and radio programming The FCC and the Politics of Cable TV Regulation, 1952-1980 Michael J. Zarkin, 2010 While other studies have examined the history of cable television regulation none has fully explained why the FCC struggled to develop regulations during its formative years In this study Michael Zarkin helps fill this gap by providing such an explanation through an application of organizational learning theory Zarkin argues that in order for the FCC to formulate regulations for a brand new communications medium it first needed develop and effectively utilize the capacity to gather and analyze policy relevant knowledge By the 1970s conditions were ripe for this to happen and the FCC was able to more effectively revise its cable television policies This book elaborates and applies an organizational learning framework that contributes to our understanding of how regulatory agencies operate By employing a broad range of published and unpublished primary sources the book also succeeds in providing a more detailed and penetrating study of cable television than previous endeavors Rather than simply summarizing and critiquing policy decisions the book paints a picture of the people ideas and politics that shaped cable television regulation during these formative years The FCC and the Politics of Cable TV Regulation 1952 1980 will be of interest to scholars who study regulatory agencies the policy process and communications law and policy Warriors in the Wasteland James Lewis

Baughman,1985 Warriors in the Wasteland James Lewis Baughman,1981 Regulating Broadcast Programming Thomas G. Krattenmaker,L. A. Scot Powe,L. A. Powe,1994 AEI has commissioned more than twenty five distinguished experts in law economics and engineering to write monographs on regulatory issues in telephony cable television broadcasting information services and other communications technologies
