Tell Me Some More:

Tell Me a Story Robert J. Hater, 2006 Father Robert Hater strongly believes that story without basic belief lacks direction and basic belief without story is lifeless. He illustrates this relationship between story and Catholic belief with sensitive and powerful narratives including the account of his own mother's death and its impact on him. This is an invaluable resource for anyone involved in conveying the story of Jesus and the church: pastors, homilists, catechetical leaders, catechists, and teachers; parish ministers and families as well as all who wish to find God in their own stories. Revisiting the Nomadic Subject Maria Tamboukou, 2021-10-27 This book follows the stories of forcefully displaced women and raises the question of whether we can still use the figuration of the nomadic subject in feminist theories and politics. This question is examined in the light of the ongoing global crises of mobility and severe border practices. In recounting their stories, migrant and refugee women appear in the world as who they are: unique and unrepeatable human beings and not as what they are: objectified, refugees, victims, or stateless subjects. Women's stories leave traces of their will to rewrite their exclusion from oppressive regimes, defend their choice of civil and patriarchal disobedience, grasp their passage, claim their right to have rights, and affirm their determination for new beginnings. What emerges from the encounter between theoretical abstractions and women's lived experiences is the need to decolonize feminist theories and make cartographies of mobility assemblages wherein nomadism is a component of entangled relations and not a category or a figuration of a subject position. These stories that have now been collected, transcribed, and analysed, they have created a rich archive of uprooted women's experiences and have brought forward a wide range of new ideas that will be presented and discussed in the book Decolonizing feminist theory: Mobility assemblages and geographies of nomadism. The art of listening to fragmented narratives and the labour of translation, crossing borders and inhabiting borderlands, radical solitude and radical hope, feminist genealogies of labour under conditions of forced displacement, the force of political narratives through the figure of Antigone, education for hope, imagining the non-nomad. 4 narrated stories will also be presented in full, interwoven in the theoretical discussions of the book, thus opening up a dialogic space between theoretical reflections and diffractions and narratives of lived experiences.

Living to Tell about it James Phelan, 2005 Phelan's compelling readings cover important theoretical ground by introducing a valuable distinction between disclosure functions and narrator functions. Criminal Profiling Brent E. Turvey, 2022-10-10 Criminal Profiling: An Introduction to Behavioral Evidence Analysis, Fifth Edition, maintains the same core foundation that made previous editions best sellers in the professional and academic community worldwide. Written for practicing behavioral analysts and aspiring students alike, this work emphasizes an honest understanding of crime and criminals. Newly updated mechanisms for the examination and classification of both victim and offender behavior have been improved. In addition to refined approaches toward international perspectives, chapters on psychological autopsies, scene investigation, reconstruction, court issues, and racial profiling have also been added.
