Modernist Short Fiction by Women Claire Drewery, 2016-04-15 Taking on the neglected issue of the short story's relationship to literary Modernism Claire Drewery examines works by Katherine Mansfield Dorothy Richardson May Sinclair and Virginia Woolf Drewery argues that the short story as a genre is preoccupied with transgressing boundaries and thus offers an ideal platform from which to examine the Modernist fascination with the liminal Embodying both liberation and restriction liminal spaces on the one hand enable challenges to traditional cultural and personal identities while on the other hand they entail the inevitable negative consequences of occupying the position of the outsider marginality psychosis and death Mansfield Richardson Sinclair and Woolf all exploit this paradox in their short fiction which typically explores literal and psychological borderline states that are resistant to rational analysis Thus their short stories offered these authors an opportunity to represent the borders of unconsciousness and to articulate meaning while also conveying a sense of that which is unsayable Through their concern with liminality Drewery shows these writers contribute significantly to the Modernist aesthetic that interrogates identity the construction of the self and the relationship between the individual and society

Modern British Women Writers Vicki K. Janik, Del Ivan Janik, 2002-11-30 The 20th century witnessed several major cultural movements including modernism anti modernism and postmodernism These and other means of understanding and perceiving the world shaped the literature of that era and with the rise of feminism resulted in a particularly rich body of literature by women writers This reference includes alphabetically arranged entries on 58 British women writers of the 20th century Some of these writers were born in England while others such as Katherine Mansfield and Doris Lessing came from countries of the former Empire or Commonwealth The volume also includes entries for women of color such as Kamala Markandaya and Buchi Emecheta Each entry is written by an expert contributor and includes an overview of the writer s background an analysis of her works an assessment of her achievements and lists of primary and secondary sources The volume closes with a selected general bibliography     Subjectivities Regenia Gagnier,1991-02-14 This comparative analysis draws on working class autobiography public and boarding school memoirs and the canonical autobiographies by women and men in the United Kingdom to define subjectivity and value within social class and gender in nineteenth and early twentieth century Britain Gagnier reconsiders traditional distinctions between mind and body private desire and public good aesthetics and utility and fact and value in the context of everyday life
