The Anthropological Perspective:

Global Health Merrill Singer, Pamela I. Erickson, 2013-02-12 Affordable and conceptually accessible this succinct volume captures the distinctive anthropological perspective on global health issues for undergraduates in the social and health sciences Ideal for professors who want to add an experiential human face a cultural dimension and an emic understanding of health in cross cultural contexts to interdisciplinary course content Global Health exposes the day to day health challenges people around the world face Key to its message is that despite strides in improving worldwide health human impacts on the environment violent social conflict and increasing social inequality diminish the success of global health initiatives to protect against illness disability and death Readers gripped by the impact of undeniable far reaching realities such as global warming infectious disease food insecurity water crises war and genocide and refugee crises will learn to apply a holistic anthropological framework in search of solutions to such complex biosocial conditions The Anthropological Perspective

,1975* The Anthropological Point of View Archibald Weir, 1924 Anthropological Perspectives on Care Erdmute Alber, 2015-09-01 In the course of last two decades the notion of care has become prominent in the social and cultural sciences As a result of this proliferation of care in several disciplinary fields we are observing not only the expansion of its conceptual meaning but also an increasing imprecision in its usage A growing amount of literature focuses on the intersection between work gender ethnicity affect and mobility regimes In view of this growing field of literature Anthropological Perspectives on Care looks at the notion of care from an anthropological perspective Complementing earlier approaches Alber and Drotbohm argue that an interpretation of care in relation to three different concepts namely work kinship and the life course will facilitate empirical and conceptual distinctions between the different activities that are labeled as care Culture Marc J. Swartz, David K. Jordan, 1980-02 Bioethics in a European Perspective H.A. Ten

Have, Bert Gordijn, 2013-03-09 In this book developed by a group of collaborating scholars in bioethics from different European countries an overview is given of the most salient themes in present day bioethics The themes are discussed in order to enable the reader to have an in depth overview of the state of the art in bioethics Introductory chapters will guide the reader through the relevant dimensions of a particular area while subsequent case discussions will help the reader to apply the ethical theories to specific clinical problems and health policy queries The book focuses on perspectives typical for the European context This highlights not only particular bioethical themes such as social justice choices in health care and health policy e g in post communist countries it also emphasizes specific approaches in ethical theory in relation to Continental philosophies such as phenomenology and hermeneutics Because of its articulation of what is typical for the European health care setting as well as for bioethical debate this book is unique in comparison to existing textbooks in bioethics The book is an introductory textbook acquainting the reader with the major issues in present day health care as well as the various theoretical and practical approaches to clarify these issues Perspectives on Human Sexuality Anne

Bolin, Patricia Whelehan, 1999-01-01 Presents the first book length examination of both the biological and cultural factors in human sexuality Theoretical Foundations of Learning Environments David Jonassen, David H. Jonassen, Susan

Land, 2014-04-08 Theoretical Foundations of Learning Environments describes the most contemporary psychological and pedagogical theories that are foundations for the conception and design of open ended learning environments and new applications of educational technologies In the past decade the cognitive revolution of the 60s and 70s has been replaced or restructured by constructivism and its associated theories including situated sociocultural ecological everyday and distributed conceptions of cognition These theories represent a paradigm shift for educators and instructional designers to a view of learning as necessarily more social conversational and constructive than traditional transmissive views of learning Never in the history of education have so many different theories said the same things about the nature of learning and the means for supporting it At the same time although there is a remarkable amount of consonance among these theories each also provides a distinct perspective on how learning and sense making occur This book provides students faculty and instructional designers with a clear concise introduction to these theories and their implications for the design of new learning environments for schools universities and corporations It is well suited as a required or supplementary text for courses in instructional design and theory educational psychology learning theory curriculum theory and design and related areas Through the Lens of Anthropology Robert J. Muckle, Laura Tubelle de González, 2018-11-23 Through the Lens of

Anthropology is a concise introduction to anthropology that uses the twin themes of food and sustainability to illustrate the connected nature of the discipline s many subfields Beautifully illustrated throughout with over 150 full color images figures feature boxes and maps this is an anthropology book with a fresh perspective a lively narrative and plenty of popular topics The new edition enhances the food and sustainability focus and builds a stronger narrative voice with extended examples and case studies An entirely new section on decolonization more Indigenous content and updated material on biological anthropology make the second edition even more relevant for those interested in learning more about the discipline of anthropology Anthropology and Sexual Morality Carles Salazar, 2006-01-01 The history of sexual morality in Ireland has been traditionally associated with repression In the last two decades however repression seems to have given way to its exact opposite But where did this repression originate And how can we account for this sudden and sweeping transformation in sexual mores Based on solid ethnographic and historical analysis of sexual morality in rural Ireland augmented by comparative data from Papua New Guinea and being informed by from Freud s emblematic concept of repression the author draws new conclusions that not only apply to the specific case of his Irish material but shed new light on the specific nature of an anthropological approach to the study of human societies The Production of Managerial Knowledge and Organizational Theory Tammar B. Zilber, John M. Amis, Johanna Mair, 2019-04-11 This book applies a reflective and critical gaze on the production of knowledge within management and organization studies Seasoned scholars reflect on how we carry out research to provide insights into the assumptions and practices we employ and how they affect the production and consumption of managerial knowledge and organization theory

Indigenous Peoples of North America Robert James Muckle, 2012-01-01 In this thoughtful book Robert J Muckle provides a brief thematic overview of the key issues facing Indigenous peoples in North America from prehistory to the present

Slavery, Smallholding and Tourism Michael E. O'Neal, 2012-02-21 SLAVERY SMALLHOLDING AND TOURISM explores the political economy of development in the British Virgin Islands from plantations through the evolution of a smallholding economy to the rise of tourism The study argues that the demise of plantation economy in the BVI ushered in a century of imperial disinterest persisting until recently when a new monocrop tourism became ascendant Using an historical and anthropological approach O Neal reveals that the trend toward reliance on tourism and other dependent industries echoes for many BVI Islanders the Belongers their heritage Part of the Classic Dissertation Series from Quid Pro Books the book adds a new Foreword by Vassar's Colleen Ballerino Cohen and additional commentary by UC Irvine's Bill Maurer who shows how even the emergence of a financial services industry may be understood through the insights that O Neal presents in his study

Patterns of Inter-ethnic Relations with the Roma in the Carpathian Basin József Kotics, 2023-10-30 Almost three decades of anthropological fieldwork on ethnic coexistence situations completed by the author of the present volume have revealed that in the multi ethnic local communities of the Carpathian Basin Roma non Roma coexistence practices are always based on opposition regardless of whether the latter are Romanians Saxons Slovaks Ukrainians or Hungarians After presenting the theoretical methodological framework and historical processes this book presents patterns of Roma non Roma coexistence that emerge through case studies which can be directly applied in the fight against the exclusion and stigmatisation of the Roma today Thus the book discusses two applied anthropology projects where research results have been used in urban regeneration and development projects It interprets cannibalism charges against Gypsies as a typical type of chimerical prejudice Through the case studies it contributes to existing research by interpreting the coexistence of different ethnicities in the local socio historical context in the local embeddedness of inter ethnic relations as a constantly evolving and changing phenomenon focusing on the performativity dynamic interaction and functional role of relations

Policing in America Larry K. Gaines, Victor E. Kappeler, 2014-07-21 In the field of law enforcement in the United States it is essential to know the contemporary problems being faced and combine that knowledge with empirical research and theoretical reasoning to arrive at best practices and an understanding of policing Policing in America Eighth Edition provides a thorough analysis of the key issues in policing today and offers an issues oriented discussion focusing on critical concerns such as personnel systems organization and management operations discretion use of force culture and behavior ethics and deviance civil liability and police community relations A critical assessment of police history and the role politics played in the development of American police institutions is also addressed as well as globalization terrorism and homeland security This new edition not only offers updated research and examples it also incorporates more ways for the reader to connect to the content through learning objectives discussion questions and Myths and Realities of Policing boxes Video and Internet links provide additional coverage of important issues With completely revised and updated chapters Policing in America Eighth Edition provides an up to date examination of what to expect as a police officer in America Changing Families Irving E. Sigel, 2012-12-06 In a previous volume Families as Learning Environments for Children we presented a series of chapters that dealt with research programs on the role of families as learning environments for children Those studies were based on empirical data and sought answers to basic research questions with no explicit concern for the application of the results to practical problems Rather their purpose was to contribute primarily to conceptualization research methodology and psychological theory Now in this volume we turn our attention to intervention efforts to modify the way a family develops As in our previous conference the participants of the working conference on which the present volume is based are research scientists and scholars interested in application This group is distinct from practitioners however whose primary focus is service participants in this conference have as their primary interest research into the problems of processes of application Applied professional issues concerning the lives of families come from many varied sources from some that are distant and impersonal e g the law to direct face to face efforts educators therapists The variety of sources and types of applications are eloquent testimony to the degree to which families are subject to a host of societal forces whose implicit or explicit aim is to modify family functioning For example some educators may wish to alter family child rearing patterns to enhance child development the clinician seeks to help families come to terms and to cope with a schizophrenic child The list can be extended Cultural Anthropology Jack David Eller, 2016-01-08 Cultural Anthropology Global Forces Local Lives presents all the key areas of cultural anthropology as well as providing original and nuanced coverage of current and cutting edge topics An exceptionally clear and readable introduction it helps students understand the application of anthropological concepts to the contemporary world and everyday life Thorough treatment is given throughout the text to issues such as globalization colonialism ethnicity nationalism neoliberalism and the state Changes for the third edition include a brand new chapter on medical anthropology and an updated range of cases studies with a fresh thematic focus on China The book contains a number of features to support student learning including A wealth of color images Definitions of key terms and further reading suggestions in the margins Summaries at the end of every chapter An extensive glossary bibliography and index A Systematic Theory of Argumentation Robert Grootendorst, Frans H. van Eemeren, Rob Grootendorst, 2004 In this book two of the leading figures in argumentation theory present a view of argumentation as a means of resolving differences of opinion by testing the acceptability of the disputed positions Their model of a critical discussion serves as a theoretical tool for analyzing evaluating and producing argumentative discourse This is a major contribution to the study of argumentation and will be of particular value to professionals and graduate students in speech communication informal logic rhetoric critical thinking linguistics and philosophy Women and the Gift Morny Joy, 2013-09-17 Recent inquiries into the concept of the gift have been largely male dominated and thus have ignored important aspects of the gift from a woman's point of view In the light of philosophical work by Mauss L vi Strauss Derrida and Bataille Women and the Gift reflects how women respond to the notion of the gift and relationships of giving This collection evaluates and critiques previous work on the gift and also responds to how women view care fidelity generosity trust and independence in light of the gift Restorative Justice in a Prison Community Cheryl Swanson, 2009-03-16 Americans are frustrated with prisons They recognize the need for these institutions but at the same time they worry about whether the money used to build and maintain them is well spent Older prisons are dirty disgusting and dangerous but even newer facilities come up lacking in terms of offering inmates opportunities to take responsibility for their crimes support their loved ones further their education learn job skills and develop positive relationships in healthy safe respectful communities This book provides insight into the philosophy of restorative justice which aims to develop ways we can manage our prisons differently to achieve more positive outcomes Using the case study of an honor dorm in a maximum security prison the book posits that most of the inmates never learned the basic tools for living life productively and responsibly They never thought much about their victims or how their actions affected others They never learned how to get along with others pick up after themselves or how to be of service to their fellow man Swanson uses the writings and reflections of inmates participating in a restorative justice program to demonstrate the challenges and transformative possibilities of this alternative approach to rehabilitation
