Eocene Biodiversity Gregg F. Gunnell, 2012-12-06 Initially this work was designed to document and study the diversification of modern mammalian groups and was quite successful and satisfying However as field and laboratory work continued there began to develop a suspicion that not all of the Eocene story was being told It became apparent that most fossil samples especially those from the American West were derived from similar preservational circumstances and similar depositional settings A program was initiated to look for other potential sources of fossil samples either from non traditional lithologies or from geographic areas that were not typically sampled As this program of research grew it began to demonstrate that different lithologies and different geographic areas told different stories from those that had been developed based on more typical faunal assemblages This book is conceived as an introduction to non traditional Eocene fossils samples and as a place to document and discuss features of these fossil assemblages that are rare or that come from rarely represented habitats

while decolonizing pedagogies advance the role of education in communicating and understanding the lethality of nuclear complexes Collectively the essays develop a robust critical discourse across fields of nuclear knowledge and integrate the work of the nuclear humanities with environmental justice and Indigenous rights activism This reach across ways of knowing extends artistically the poetry and photography included in this volume offer visions of past and present nuclear legacies Conceived as a critical reflection on the potential of nuclear humanities Toxic Immanence offers intellectual strategies for resisting and abolishing the global nuclear regime

Invasion Biology and Ecological Theory Herbert H. T. Prins, Iain J. Gordon, 2014-01-23 Many conservationists argue that invasive species form one of the most important threats to ecosystems the world over often spreading quickly through their new environments and jeopardising the conservation of native species As such it is important that reliable predictions can be made regarding the effects of new species on particular habitats This book provides a critical appraisal of ecosystem theory using case studies of biological invasions in Australasia Each chapter is built around a set of eleven central hypotheses from community ecology which were mainly developed in North American or European contexts The authors examine the hypotheses in the light of evidence from their particular species testing their power in explaining the success or failure of invasion and accepting or rejecting each hypothesis as appropriate The conclusions have far reaching consequences for the utility of community ecology suggesting a rejection of its predictive powers and a positive reappraisal of natural history

Antipodean America Paul Giles, 2013-12-11 Although North America and Australasia occupy opposite ends of the earth they have never been that far from each other conceptually The United States and Australia both began as British colonies and mutual entanglements continue today when contemporary cultures of globalization have brought them more closely into juxtaposition Taking this transpacific kinship as his focus Paul Giles presents a sweeping study that spans two continents and over three hundred years of literary history to consider the impact of Australia and New Zealand on the formation of U S literature Early American writers such as Benjamin Franklin Thomas Jefferson Joel Barlow and Charles Brockden Brown found the idea of antipodes to be a creative resource but also an alarming reminder of Great Britain's increasing sway in the Pacific The southern seas served as inspiration for narratives by Washington Irving Edgar Allan Poe and Herman Melville For African Americans such as Harriet Jacobs Australia represented a haven from slavery during the gold rush era while for E D E N Southworth its convict legacy offered an alternative perspective on the British class system In the 1890s Henry Adams and Mark Twain both came to Australasia to address questions of imperial rivalry and aesthetic topsy turvyness The second half of this study considers how Australia's political unification through Federation in 1901 significantly altered its relationship to the United States New modes of transport and communication drew American visitors including novelist Jack London At the same time Americans associated Australia and New Zealand with various kinds of utopian social reform particularly in relation to gender politics a theme Giles explores in William Dean Howells Charlotte Perkins Gilman and Miles Franklin He also considers how American modernism in New York was inflected by the Australasian perspectives of Lola Ridge and Christina Stead and how Australian modernism was in turn shaped by American styles of iconoclasm After World War II Giles examines how the poetry of Karl Shapiro Louis Simpson Yusef Komunyakaa and others was influenced by their direct experience of Australia He then shifts to post 1945 fiction where the focus extends from Irish American cultural politics Raymond Chandler Thomas Keneally to the paradoxes of exile Shirley Hazzard Peter Carey and the structural inversions of postmodernism and posthumanism Salman Rushdie Donna Haraway Ranging from figures like John Ledyard to John Ashbery from Emily Dickinson to Patricia Piccinini and J M Coetzee

Antipodean America is a truly epic work of transnational literary history Reading Guide to The Tattooist of Auschwitz by Heather Morris (Unauthorized) Kevin Mahoney,2019 This is an illustrated reading guide to Heather Morris s bestselling novel The Tattooist of Auschwitz Although presented as a novel Lale Sokolov s story contains important eyewitness testimony that has previously not been documented in other histories of Auschwitz There have been criticisms about the novel s historical accuracy and Kevin Mahoney does indeed point out the factual errors in the book Kevin argues that such errors are inevitable in a narrative of this length derived from an oral testimony that related events that occurred many decades previously Lale delayed telling his story for fear of being accused of being a Nazi collaborator during Gita s lifetime However there is no dispute that Lale was a tattooist of Auschwitz for there is documentary evidence of this Kevin Mahoney explores the various controversies surrounding the novel and explains the historical context around Heather Morris s depiction of Lale and Gita s tumultuous bid to survive the horrors of Auschwitz Australian Mammal Society ,1990-06
