THE SLEEP OF BABY FILBERTSON

The book cover features a stylized illustration. In the foreground, a woman is depicted lying down, her head resting on a pillow, appearing to be asleep. She is wearing a light-colored, possibly white, dress or nightgown. Behind her, a crowd of people, mostly women, are shown in profile or three-quarter view, looking towards the left. The illustration is rendered in a high-contrast, almost woodcut style, with black outlines and a limited color palette of white, black, and a muted teal or blue for the crowd. The background is solid black.

expensive Panavision adaptation of Far from the Madding Crowd Expectations were huge making the movie's complete critical and commercial failure even more devastating and Schlesinger suddenly found himself persona non grata in the Hollywood circles he had hoped to conquer Given his recent travails Schlesinger's next project seemed doubly daring bordering on foolish James Leo Herlihy's novel Midnight Cowboy about a Texas hustler trying to survive on the mean streets of 1960's New York was dark and transgressive Perhaps something about the book's unsparing portrait of cultural alienation resonated with him His decision to film it began one of the unlikelier convergences in cinematic history centered around a city that seemed at first glance as unwelcoming as Herlihy's novel itself Glenn Frankel's Shooting Midnight Cowboy tells the story of a modern classic that by all accounts should never have become one in the first place The film's boundary pushing subject matter homosexuality prostitution sexual assault earned it an X rating when it first appeared in cinemas in 1969 For Midnight Cowboy Schlesinger who had never made a film in the United States enlisted Jerome Hellman a producer coming off his own recent flop and smarting from a failed marriage and Waldo Salt a formerly blacklisted screenwriter with a tortured past The decision to shoot on location in New York at a time when the city was approaching its gritty nadir backfired when a sanitation strike filled Manhattan with garbage fires and fears of dysentery Much more than a history of Schlesinger's film Shooting Midnight Cowboy is an arresting glimpse into the world from which it emerged a troubled city that nurtured the talents and ambitions of the pioneering Polish cinematographer Adam Holender and legendary casting director Marion Dougherty who discovered both Dustin Hoffman and Jon Voight and supported them for the roles of Ratso Rizzo and Joe Buck leading to one of the most intensely moving joint performances ever to appear on screen We follow Herlihy himself as he moves from the experimental confines of Black Mountain College to the theatres of Broadway influenced by close relationships with Tennessee Williams and Ana's Nin and yet unable to find lasting literary success By turns madcap and serious and enriched by interviews with Hoffman Voight and others Shooting Midnight Cowboy Art Sex Loneliness Liberation and the Making of a Dark Classic is not only the definitive account of the film that unleashed a new wave of innovation in American cinema but also the story of a country and an industry beginning to break free from decades of cultural and sexual repression
