Industrial Innovation, Networks, and Economic Development Anant Kamath, 2014-11-27 This book offers an innovative examination of how low technology industries operate Based on extensive fieldwork in India the book fuses economic and sociological perspectives on information sharing by means of informal interaction in a low technology cluster in a developing country In doing so the book sheds new light on settings where economic relations arise as emergent properties of social relations This book examines industrial innovation and microeconomic network behaviour among producers and clusters perceiving knowledge diffusion to be a socially spatial as much as a geographically spatial phenomenon This is achieved by employing two methods simulation modelling and quantitative qualitative and historical social network analysis The simulation model based on its findings motivates two empirical studies one descriptive case and one network study of low tech rural and semi urban traditional technology clusters in Kerala state in southern India These cases demonstrate two contrasting stories of how social cohesion either supports or thwarts informal information sharing and learning This book pushes towards an economic sociology approach to understanding knowledge diffusion and technological learning which perceives innovation and learning as being more social processes than the mainstream view perceives them to be In doing so it makes a significant contribution to the literature on defensive innovation and the role of networks in technological innovation and knowledge diffusion as well as to policy studies of Indian small firm and traditional technology

Evolutionary Economic Geography in China Canfei He, Shengjun Zhu, 2019-03-25 The book provides the first detailed account of the complex geographical dynamics restructuring China's manufacturing industries from the evolutionary economic geography perspective These geographical and industrial shifts have enormous implications in and beyond China for what is possible in the post crisis global economy The book demonstrates that the interface between evolutionary economic geography approaches and other approaches e.g. global value chain global production network institutional economic geography could be a fertile area for further consideration The two main audiences that this book appeals to are economic geography and regional science The topics covered in the book are also relevant to development studies economics economic sociology and international studies offering academics international researchers post graduate and advanced undergraduate students in these fields an accessible grounded yet theoretically sophisticated account of the evolutionary economic geography in China and its interaction with firm performance and regional economic development The book is also attractive to national policy makers since it engages directly with economic and industrial policy issues such as industrial competitiveness regional and national development industrial and employment restructuring and trade regulation

The Political Economy of Trust Henry Farrell, 2009-08-24 Trust and cooperation are at the heart of the two most important approaches to comparative politics rational choice and political culture Yet we know little about trust's relationship to political institutions This book sets out a rationalist theory of how institutions and in particular informal institutions can affect trust without reducing it to fully determine expectations It then shows how this theory can be applied to comparative political economy and in particular to explaining inter firm cooperation in industrial districts geographical areas of intense small firm collaboration The book compares trust and cooperation in two prominent districts in the literature one in Emilia Romagna Italy and the other in Baden Württemberg Germany It also sets out and applies a theory of how national informal institutions may change as a result of changes in global markets and shows how similar mechanisms may explain persistent distrust too among Sicilian Mafiosi
